Concerns raised about airliner dumping fuel

Northwest Airlines says no emergency landing was made

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

Area residents are concerned about environmental contamination after a Northwest Airlines commercial airliner released jet fuel over portions of north-central Washtenaw County.

The Washtenaw County Emergency Management and Environmental Health reported last week that the fuel was released as part of an emergency landing procedure involving the airliner at about 5 p.m. May 17.

But Kurt Ebenhoch, spokesman for Northwest Airlines, said reports that the airplane made an emergency landing are false.

"There was never an emergency declared," Ebenhoch said.

The airliner, a Boeing 747-400, left from Detroit bound for Tokyo with 401 passengers and a crew of 19.

Ebenhoch said after takeoff, the crew noticed that one of the rear sets of landing gear would not retract. The aircraft has five sets of landing gear.

"We could not fly it all the way to Tokyo with the landing gear down," Ebenhoch said.

But the airliner had enough fuel to get to Tokyo, causing it to exceed its maximum landing weight.

"The flight plan is taking into account that most of that fuel is going to be used during the flight," Ebenhoch said.

He added that it's a "normal process" for an airliner to dump the fuel before attempting to land when the

Memorial Day events slated

Annual parade to begin at 10 a.m. to proceed along Main Street

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

Memorial Day has come to mark the beginning of summer, but its true purpose is much more important.

On Monday, veterans and residents throughout the Chelsea area will gather downtown to honor those who have served their country with the ultimate sacrifice — their lives.

Craig Maier, co-chairman of the Chelsea Memorial Day parade, said the streets are typically lined with supporters during the annual parade.

"We get a lot of community participation, along with the local veterans," he said.

The Chelsea American Legion Herbert J. McKune Post 31 traditionally leads the local parade, and this year is no exception.

Parade participants will line up starting 9 a.m. Monday in the municipal parking lot behind Cleary's Pub on Main Street.

The parade begins at 10 a.m. and follows a route west on Middle Street, south on Main Street to Park Street, east on Park Street to East Street, north on East Street to Middle Street, and east on Middle Street to the Oak Grove Cemetery.

The parade includes a number of area veterans, the Chelsea High School and Beach Middle School marching bands, and local Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops.

Mary Gunnis, an organizer of the parade, said the Budget reporting sparks debate at library

Library Board wants to change format of reporting budget progress

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

Budget reports for the library expansion project sparked debate last week when the Chelsea District Library Board questioned certain budget items presented during its regular meeting.

And after discussing the issue at length May 16, the Library Board agreed that library staff needs to change its format of reporting budget progress on the project.

Board Vice President Greg DeGraff made a motion for the reports to include the Aug. 16, 2005, budget approved by the Library Board, as well as monthly and year-to-date figures. His motion gained support from board member Kate McAuliffe.

"It has been very frustrating for several months now to look at these and not be able to reconcile our budget and where we're at," DeGraff said.

The budget reports presented to the Library Board each month do not show the original budgeted amount in comparison with the current amount spent.

DeGraff and other members of the Library Board want to see the budget for the renovation project presented in the same format as the library's operating budget reports, which show the current month's expenditures, the budgeted amount, and the percentage of the budget that has been used to date.

DeGraff said four items from the budget apparently disappeared because he was unable to track them, stating that the figures provided were not good reporting.

"We don't know where we've saved, but it's obvious that we have," he said, going so far as to accuse Library Director Metta Lansdale of "under reporting."

Lansdale said it would take time to change the format of the project reports, but all of the information is being presented to the board.

"We are reporting everything completely to the board. All the numbers add up. There's nothing being hidden," Lansdale said.

Board Trustee Colleen Verge agreed that there is a need for the board to be presented with reports showing the year-to-date expenditures that include the percentage of the budget that already has been spent. She said without those figures, the board does not know where the library stands on the project.

"We need to have a report that clearly shows it," Verge said.

And the format of budget reporting on the library expansion project isn't the only issue that has come up. An unapproved change in the renovation budget was also a matter of contention last week.

The August 2005 budget approved by the library board included anticipated expenditures of $62,008 for art. But the renovation project encountered unexpected costs, including $102,727 associated with soil remediation, as well as related work that is pending in the amount of $17,273. To maintain an owner's contingency fund, the art budget was cut entirely from the most recent budget figures for the project.

DeGraff expressed concern last week that the art budget was cut even though the board did not give approval for the art budget to be removed.

Lansdale brought the issue to the Library Board during a special meeting May 1, when she notified the board of a problem with the footings for the columns that support the portico on the west side of the building. The cost to stabilize the footings was estimated at

Benchmark of Great Lakes

"Making your dreams a reality"

Cash in on Benchmark's Blow-Out Sale and Save $10,000 on your new Benchmark home with this article!

"Simply a Better Way to Build for Under $90 per Square Foot"

There's "simply a better way to build" when it comes to building your dream home and Benchmark of the Great Lakes is the answer!

Benchmark has been in the Industrialized Housing business since 1969, and was one of the first companies to build system-built homes in the Midwest.

As a manufacturer who has exclusively built system-built homes for nearly 35 years, we know what it takes to create a successful partnership with builders and developers, who want the advantages of speed and simplicity, but require higher curb appeal and the ability to market in subdivisions.

This Ohio-based company has built more than 30,000 single-family dwellings in the Midwest and has developed 15 multi-family communities.

Builders can utilize Benchmark's building system to compete with site-built housing in a subdivision as well as scattered lots.

The company's cutting edge technology in construction, exterior design, interior finishes and curb appeal make Benchmark homes indistinguishable from traditionally "stick-built" homes.

All Benchmark homes are constructed in a 90,000 square foot production facility in Brookville, Ohio where it has been in business since 1946.

The facility, workforce and product design is state-of-art. The factory has the capacity of producing up to 400 homes per year.

It is equipped with such improvements as overhead bridge cranes, air and electrical systems, scaffolds and a track system to build homes on an efficient and automated manner.

Benchmark also builds all its roof and floor trusses in house, which provides higher quality and a lower cost.

The company has been building two-story homes for more than 35 years and has mastered the design and execution of these products in the factory and the field. There are more than 50 plans to choose from.

Benchmark's traditional single-family series of ranch and two-story homes range in size from 1400 to 3600 sq. ft. These homes are designed for subdivision lots with front-loading garages or scattered lots with side loading garages.

New homeowners can rest assure their new abode meets inspection, since every Benchmark home receives state-certified inspection before ever leaving the factory.

Each home includes a panelized garage and porch. All of the internal mechanical systems are installed in the factory and reconnected in the field including forced air heating, reducing field time and cost.

The products offer many upscale features including open entries, 9-foot ceilings, laminate and ceramic flooring, 42-inch cabinets, wide profile trim, and attractive elevations with multiple gables.

Standard features include granite counter tops in kitchen and baths, fireplace, hard wood floors, custom cabinetry, floor trusses, lever hardware, designer trim, designer shingles, 90+ furnace and air conditioning, French doors, 9 ft. walls (1900+sq. ft.), bigger energy-efficient windows, and Kohler and Moen brand products.

Most of Benchmark's homes are custom built and the price is determined by the specifications and the work to be done on site. From start to finish, your dream home can be constructed in just 12 weeks!

Benchmark products can be delivered from the construction facility and have 90 percent of its construction complete in three days on site.

The company offers a turn key operation for your entire job, or you can be your own general contractor.

Some homeowners opt to do the later because the home is 85 to 90 percent complete once Benchmark's craftsmen leave the site.

All Benchmark homes are built to the Energy Star Standard, which has been certified to provide economic benefits.

Energy Star Homes qualify for Energy Efficient Mortgage loans. Which means savings from lower energy costs allows homeowners to purchase a larger dream home or add more options.

Besides lower maintenance costs and higher resale and equity potential, Energy Star qualified homes are independently verified to be at LEAST 30 percent more energy efficient than your standard "stick-built" on-site homes. These savings are based on heating, cooling, and hot water energy use.

Energy Star comfort benefits mean no drafts around windows, doors and electrical receptacles, warm walls and floors, balanced room temperatures and less noise from outside.

The advantage to owning a Benchmark home is a factory completed product instead of a time-consuming building service.

Best of all, Benchmark will work with you to determine the services that will best suit your needs, then offer a quotation accordingly, as well as a great financing package.

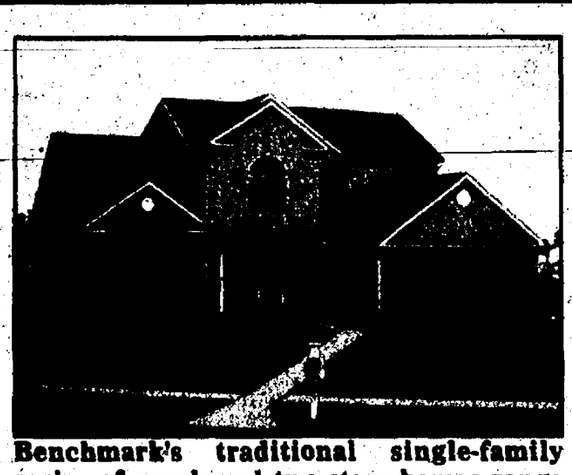

Mortgage lending institutions treat a Benchmark home the same way they treat a traditional site-built home and offer the same mortgage options.

With fast and easy setup, you'll bask in the benefits of owning your new Benchmark home faster than you ever dreamed possible.

Why not take a look for yourself and see what's fresh from the factory!

Make owning your own dream home a reality - It's only a click away!

Benchmark's traditional single-family series of ranch and two-story homes range in size from 1400 to 3600 sq. ft.

Benchmark's Neo-Traditional Homes are a trendsetter in design and engineering.

The entry and living room feature 9' ceilings and two-story foyer.

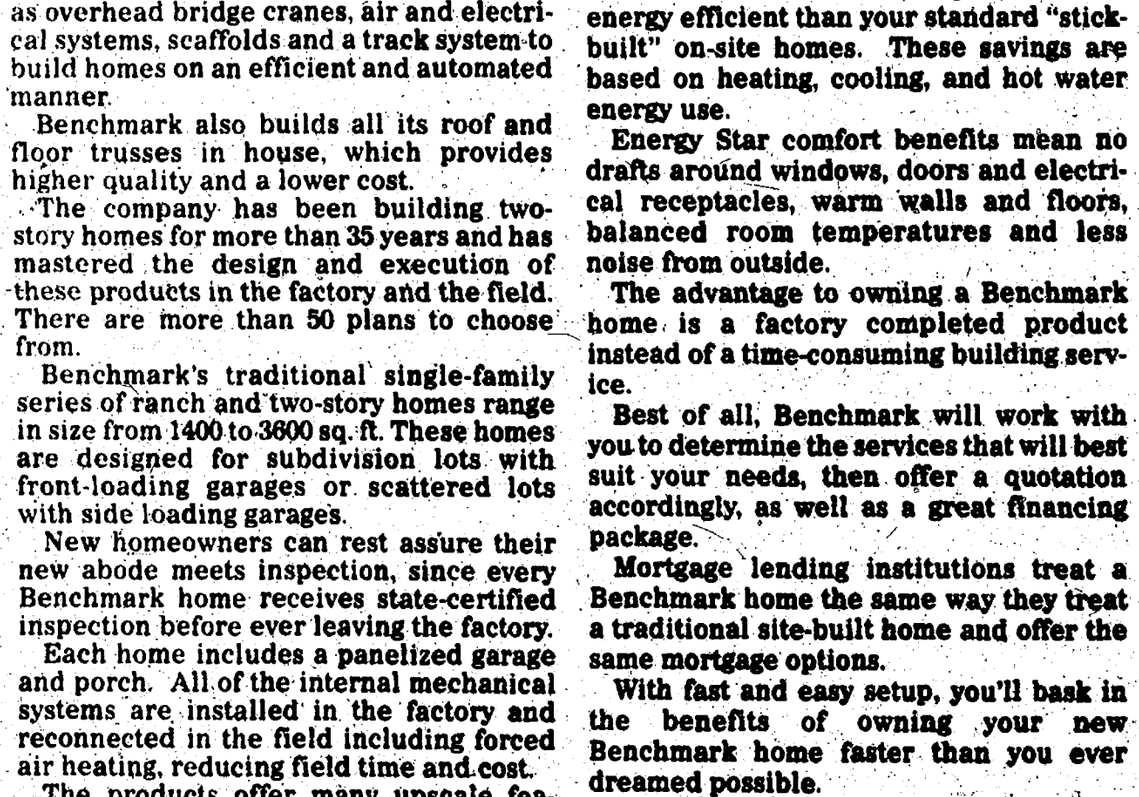

The dining room features tray ceilings and spacious comfort.

Renowned Michigan author to make local visit

Thomas Lynch to speak as part of Michigan Notable Authors Tour

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

St. Patrick's Day may be a distant memory, but Irish-Americans — and anyone with a love of the Emerald Isle — are excited about the upcoming visit of poet and writer Thomas Lynch to Chelsea.

Lynch, whose "Booking Passage: We Irish and Americans" was named a 2006 Michigan Notable Book by the Library of Michigan, will be in town 7 p.m. Wednesday for an event at the Chelsea District Library, 500 Washington St. His visit is part of the Library of Michigan's 2006 Michigan Notable Authors Tour.

Lynch's latest book recounts his connection to Ireland, observes the buoyancy of Ireland's emerging place in the world, and reflects on the role of the Catholic Church on the history of the Irish and Ireland.

The author will read from "Booking Passage," answer questions and then autograph books. Books also will be available for purchase.

"I'm going to bring all four of my Lynch books, and I hope he will sign them all. He's a marvelous writer," said Chelsea resident Daphne Hodder.

Hodder, who has been a Lynch fan for some time, says she bought "Booking Passage" as soon as it hit bookstore shelves.

"It's all about his Irish roots, and his family and their migration to this country," she said. "I love the fact that he inherited a cottage in Ireland from his cousin.

"I've been to Ireland twice and could go back any time. I am only a quarter Irish, but have many Irish relatives and my great-grandparents came to Michigan after the potato famine."

Chelsea resident Mary Green, whose maternal and paternal grandparents bore the fine Irish names of McCarthy and Keenan, says her Irish heritage leads her to look into things Irish. She first got hooked on Lynch's writing in the 1980s, when she read one of his essays in Harper's Magazine.

"I loved the simple, direct style of the essay, and began to look for more poems and essays written by him," Green said. "I found some in the New Yorker Magazine and two poetry collections through the Chelsea Library's inter-loan. I thought the poem 'Skating with Heather Grace,' which must be about one of his children, was beautiful."

When Green heard Lynch, who also is a funeral director in Milford, had received a National Book Award nomination for his work, "The Undertaking: Life Studies from the Dismal Trade," she couldn't get her hands on the book fast enough, she said.

"Mr. Lynch writes straight talk about death and dying, but he also writes with great wit and understanding about the loyalty and compassion of small-town life," she said.

"I think it's very special that our library staff has arranged for an internationally known, award-winning author to speak at the Chelsea District Library."

Like Green, Hodder has read every one of Lynch's books, becoming "hooked" after reading "The Undertaking." She then saw Lynch on television, in a PBS Bill Moyers special about death.

Lynch went on to write "Bodies in Motion and at Rest," more essays and stories about his life and his trade as a funeral director in Milford.

"After that, he wrote a marvelous book of poetry called 'Still Life in Milford.' There is a poem in there that is my particular favorite — Art History-Chicago — and a poem about his father, called 'No Prisoners,'" Hodder said. "I don't loan these books out as they are too precious to me.

"His essays and stories demystified death for me. I cannot quite explain it, but he is comforting to read."

Lynch is among more than a dozen authors whose works were chosen as 2006 Michigan Notable Books selections and who will visit 51 libraries throughout the state.

Michigan Notable Books, which originated as Read Michigan, part of the Michigan Week program in 1991, is designed to promote reading and raise awareness of Michigan's literary heritage. The program annually selects 20 of the most outstanding books published the previous year, titles that are reflective of Michigan's diverse ethnic, historical, literary and cultural experience.

Lynch's visit is free and open to the public.

For more information about the event, call the Chelsea District Library at 475-8732.

$25,000 to $35,000, which would be paid out of the contingency fund. At that time, Lansdale suggested that the art budget be cut to maintain the contingency fund, but the budget change was never voted on.

"The board did not take official action, and I think therein is the issue," Verge said.

Although the board did not vote to approve the elimination of the art budget, Board President Gary Zenz said the cut is necessary.

"I don't see that we have any alternative to zeroing the art budget right now to make our $130,000 contingency," he said.

On the plus side, the library had budgeted $145,795 for costs associated with city water connection and other fees. According to a budget report dated April 13, those costs will be substantially less, at $59,813.

WASHTENAW COUNTY

Ouimet to run for second term as commissioner

County commissioner represents Chelsea area on board

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

Washtenaw County Commissioner Mark Ouimet, R-District 1, will put his hat in the political ring for a second time.

"I look forward to continuing my work on the commission," Ouimet said in a prepared statement announcing his re-election campaign. "My proven record of accomplishment shows that I take my position on the commission very seriously.

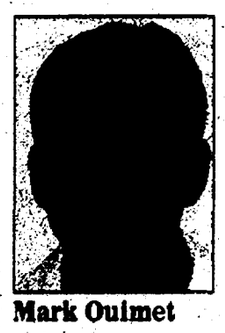

"I have knocked on every residence in the district, I have talked with thousands of people and, if nobody was home, I left questionnaires. I know what is important to the people I serve."

Ouimet, who serves the townships of Lyndon, Dexter, Webster, Sylvan, Scio and Lima, as well as the village of Dexter and the city of Chelsea, continues to be concerned about public safety, specifically Washtenaw County Sheriff's road patrol.

"Of all the services that the county provides, public safety should be first and foremost. I have been the solitary voice in the out-county area supporting road patrol and look forward to continuing the fight for the residents of the district," Ouimet said.

He is proud of his efforts to help save the road patrol, make it more affordable, and to keep core services such as the Special Weapons and Tactics team, the dive team and K-9 unit.

"I feel good about my first two years — what we've been able to accomplish with road patrol," he said, noting his biggest challenge as a commissioner has been the issue of road patrol, which he said was all but gone two years ago. He now speaks of the road patrol with pride.

Mark Ouimet

"Our sheriff's deputies are and have been very professional in serving the community," Ouimet said. "I think our first-responders should be congratulated for the great effort they've put forth."

Ouimet has a varied history of civic involvement. He has served as an Ann Arbor City Council trustee, president of Northwood University, chairman of the Washtenaw Development Council and as chairman of the Ann Arbor Area Chamber of Commerce.

He has also volunteered with the United Way, the University of Michigan, the U of M Hospital, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, the American Red Cross, Washtenaw Workforce Development and the Ann Arbor Hands On Museum.

Ouimet said he hopes to see the units of local government work closer together to ensure the integrity of the townships and villages in the county.

"Going forward, I would like to see the townships and the cities be more proactive in letting county government know what they need so we can work closer together," he said.

Ouimet, a fourth-generation Washtenaw County resident, is satisfied with the job he has done as a county commissioner.

"I feel that I've really been able to demonstrate what I promised to do when I ran," he said.

Although Ouimet is looking forward to continuing as a county commissioner, he also may be faced with an opportunity to run for lieutenant governor alongside GOP gubernatorial candidate Dick DeVos. Ouimet has been rumored as a potential candidate since late last fall and he said he is interested in the position.

"I've been very flattered that a group has felt that they could think of me as being on the ticket for lieutenant governor, but I'm really focused on what I can do here in Washtenaw County," Ouimet said.

"I guess I'll just take a wait-and-see attitude."

DeVos, who has not chosen a running mate, visited Washtenaw County recently for the Lincoln Day Dinner hosted by the Washtenaw County Republican Party. Ouimet, who lives in Scio Township with his wife, Donna, served as emcee of the event.

Staff Writer Jennifer McArdle can be reached at 475-1371 or jmcardle@heritage.com.

Local man announces candidacy for Congress

Fred Strack campaigns for Democratic Party's 7th District nomination

By Sandi Kasha
Staff Writer

Fred Strack is used to moving around. Growing up as a military child can make a kid adaptable, making Strack's transition from an eight-year stint in the Navy to a college student at the University of Florida to living in Dexter very easy.

"My wife grew up on a farm," he said. "I grew up everywhere because my dad was in the Air Force, but I like this town and the intimate feel of it."

Strack said that his campaign for the Democratic Party nomination in Michigan's 7th Congressional District, which includes the Chelsea-Dexter area, is based on his passion for politics and staying involved in the community. Even though he's never run for office, he believes in his ideas for strengthening the family, adjusting healthcare costs and working on the stagnant job market.

"Michigan's job climate is terrible," he said. "With the declining economy and the layoffs that are bound to continue, the family unit is hurting and so are businesses."

Fred Strack

Strack maintains that part of the blame lies in manufacturing being taken overseas.

He's worked for Ford Motor Co. for six years and has knowledge of how the auto industry works.

With the Big Three in limbo and many losing jobs, people are moving out of state to look for better opportunities.

"Moving doesn't always provide stability," Strack said. "Sure, it's easy to say that the grass is greener on the other side, but you don't contemplate the road blocks you'll get to on your way."

One of the disappointments is not being able to find work that paid as much as the previous position, he said.

Strack believes that education can open many doors in the competitive job market.

"People need marketable skills, especially now," he said. "Skills are very important and should a top priority."

Strack has issues with the war in Iraq, as well, and believes it's a waste of energy and resources.

"Our troops are dying for no apparent reason," he said. "They don't even understand why they're in that country for that long. The real problem is here with a shaky economy and financial future."

Strack, who's clearly not a Bush fan, said the Republican Party chooses to turn a blind eye to Michigan's economic situation.

With a wave of layoffs in the auto industry that started last July, the silver lining seems to be tarnishing.

"The people in the White House can't relate to people working up to two jobs to make ends meet," he said. "Then you have health care's high costs that many working class people can't afford."

Strack would like to see a universal healthcare program with decent coverage that can afford anybody efficient health care with a reasonable price tag.

"You can't put a price tag on your health and taking care of yourself," he said. "But when you're up all night worrying about how you're going to make ends meet for that month, you don't have a choice."

Strack understands hard work and has sympathy for those who work twice as hard to make a living.

"I'm just a regular guy who feels that we're heading in the wrong direction," he said. "I think it's time for a change."

The Democratic primary will be held on Aug. 8.

SCIO TOWNSHIP

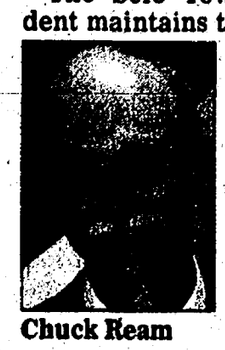

Chuck Ream wants a piece of Congress

Scio Township Board trustee to seek Rep. Joe Schwarz's post

By Sandi Kasha
Staff Writer

Chuck Ream, who is running for the 7th Congressional District in the U.S. House, likens politics to the movie "Star Wars," with the United States moving toward becoming an empire.

The Scio Township resident maintains that he won't be any of the main characters, but instead a new personality ready to shake up old routines.

Chuck Ream

A member of the Scio Township Board who led a grassroots effort to defeat a countywide jail proposal last year, Ream truly enjoys politics. He said he thinks politics was created to make a difference and protect citizens from, in his words, "corrupt, greedy warmongers" who don't have Americans' best interests at heart.

Ream worked as a kindergarten teacher for 33 years, but says he walked away from it to do something that would make a lasting impression.

"I needed to do something else so there could be a decent future for all my children," he said. "I could've been the longest running male kindergarten teacher in the United States, but I thought the political game would be where I would make the most difference."

Although Ream has been elected five times to the Scio Township Board, this is his first run for a seat in the U.S. Congress.

"I want to influence politics at the top because it's the center of the wrong direction," he said.

Ream is anti-war and said the war in Iraq is destroying the basic structure of the American government.

"The war is succeeding in destroying our Bill of Rights," he said. "The military industrial complex is trying to control society by saying they've built a war on terror. They are supposedly protecting us."

Ream says too much money is being spent on war and not enough invested in education and a universal, affordable healthcare plan.

"Our government right now is trying to gain power by instilling fear," he said. "This has been a bullying tactic for thousands of years. Think Julius Caesar."

Ream said he has a strategy for ending the war in Iraq. He proposes a "three nation solution" that would allow the Sunnis, Kurds and Shites to have their own area with their own sets of rules, religious beliefs, police and so forth. Peace could be restored and troops can go home, he said.

Ream describes himself as a passionate crusader of health care. He said Americans deserve affordable health care and bureaucracy should be removed in the health insurance system.

"Americans should not worry about losing their homes or going bankrupt to take care of their health," he said. "We are the only people in the world being cheated out of any affordable health care. Now, that's terrorism!"

What concerns Ream is a stagnant economy, which has been a point of contention for the past five years.

"Republicans have made it clear that they will do nothing to protect the American auto industry," he said. "Manufacturing is in trouble thanks to international competition. Bush says that the economy is sound when our economy is anything but."

Ream said many Americans have sacrificed their jobs because competitors are playing dirty.

"They've fixed their currencies and doing unfair trade practices," he said. "With a deficit budget of $2 billion a day, the goal should be to fix our weak economy, especially in Michigan, where the auto industry is important."

Michigan needs to be the center of transportation and manufacturing, he said.

"This state needs leaders to transform themselves," Ream said, "not followers who come in late and miss opportunities."

An environmentalist at heart, he feels society needs to look at alternative energy sources such as ethanol-based fuel to protect the country's land and water resources.

Ream is also an advocate of legalizing marijuana for medical purposes.

"Where is the justice when you go to jail for using a plant that grows out of the ground?" he said.

He said marijuana should be taxed and regulated like alcohol.

"You could ask any doctor and they'll tell you it's a lot safer than alcohol when smoked in moderation," he said. "Now, I don't think you should smoke it before a test or before you go to work. If you do, you're pretty stupid."

Ream said that it would be ideal to smoke cannabis after work when one wants to relax and relieve stress and, if marketed legally, it could replace 10 to 20 percent of ineffective pharmaceutical drugs.

"Marijuana has been made expensive and labeled as forbidden fruit," he said. "Intense enforcement of drugs equals more drug use. Nobody wins."

Ream said he got into politics to make a difference and "to do things that will last for hundreds of years."

parade will include a fly-over by the 107th Fire Squadron of the Michigan Air National Guard.

"They're all scheduled, weather permitting," Gunnis said, noting that the fly-over is set for 10:02 a.m. "Hopefully, the fly-over will happen when the veterans and the high school band are on Main Street. That's what time it's scheduled."

As the annual Memorial Day parade comes to a close at the entrance to Oak Grove Cemetery, residents will follow the parade line-up into the cemetery, where a memorial ceremony is held in honor of those who have served in the military.

The ceremony will include an invocation by the Rev. Joy Barrett of the First United Methodist Church.

Guest speaker is Bill Schrader, a local veteran who served 30 years in the military. Schrader left high school as a sophomore to join the U.S. Army, serving in the 101st Airborne Division. He spent time in Korea and Vietnam, earning the Silver Star for his bravery.

"He is retired as the rank of a Sergeant Major, which is the highest rank of any enlisted man in the Army," Gunnis said.

Following Schraeder's speech, the ceremony will feature a 21-gun salute.

The Chelsea High School band will perform a number, followed by the national anthem, and the minister will give the closing prayer.

Class helps spark memories for seniors

Adult Learners Institute brings course to CRC's Towsley Village

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

A look back at women's clothing from the early 20th century brought smiles to the faces of residents at Chelsea Retirement Community's Towsley Village, along with memories of what the residents used to wear back in the day.

Those memories are precious to the Alzheimer's patients who live at Towsley Village and recently saw a presentation by instructor Helen Wellford on "The History of Women's Dress." Wellford offered the course last week through the Adult Learners Institute in Chelsea.

"Alzheimer's residents live in the present moment, for the most part. This course provides the opportunity to stimulate memories of the past through observing the beautiful gowns, feeling the materials, wearing the fur stoles," said Maggie Roberts, public relations coordinator at the institute.

"Helen Wolford, the instructor, gives a delightful commentary on the historical events that correspond to each era of clothing," Roberts said.

Helen Wellford showed off original dresses and replicas of early 20th century clothing with help from Mandy Otto, program coordinator at Towsley Village.

Wellford, who has been collecting vintage and antique dresses for the past 15 years, made several visits to Towsley Village to teach residents about the history of women's dresses. The May 15 presentation started with dresses from the 1920s and went through the World War II era. Wellford showed original dresses from the 20th century and some reproductions that she made.

"I got into this stuff because of vintage dance," Wellford said. "People keep giving me stuff and I end up collecting stuff whether I want to or not."

In the past 15 years, it has grown to quite a collection, including one item that was on display last week, a wedding dress circa the early 1940s that was given to Wellford by a friend. The dress has a matching velvet and satin coat with a fur collar that awed some of the residents at Towsley Village.

Residents also were given the opportunity to try on some of the more interesting pieces, including a fur coat and wrap.

Based in Chelsea, the Adult Learners Institute provides community-based learning experiences for adults in western Washtenaw County.

"The Adult Learners Institute is dedicated to lifelong learning for all members of our society. When the Towsley center contacted us about a special presentation of this four-part course for their residents, it made perfect sense," Roberts said. "ALI is proud to offer this course as a service to the community."

The Adult Learners Institute, which is affiliated with the Elderhostel Institute Network, has just marked its first year in Chelsea. Approximately 270 students were enrolled in 24 different courses in the past year.

"This response from our community has been gratifying," Roberts said.

The institute is planning its fall line-up, which will be unveiled at its Aug. 15 open house at the Chelsea Senior Center.

The Adult Learners Institute is a collaborative project hosted by the Chelsea Senior Center and sponsored by Washtenaw Community College and Siena Heights University.

CHELSEA SCHOOLS

Community forum set on graduation requirements

A community forum presented by the Chelsea School District Community Forums is expected to answer some questions about the new high school graduation requirements in the state of Michigan.

The forum, slated from 7 to 8:30 p.m. June 1 at Beach Middle School's media center, is titled "The New Michigan High School Graduation Requirements — What Will They Mean for Students in Chelsea."

The requirements, signed by Gov. Jennifer Granholm April 20, set more stringent curriculum requirements for graduating seniors in Michigan.

The legislation requires four credits of math and English language arts; three credits of science and social studies; two credits of foreign language; one credit of physical education and health; one credit of visual, performing, or applied arts; and one online learning experience.

Many school districts throughout Michigan already require a varied number of credits in each area for graduation, but until now the state has only required a civics course for graduation.

The requirements go into effect for incoming eighth-graders in the fall of 2006. The foreign language requirement, which can be completed prior to high school, will be in place for students entering third grade in the fall of 2006.

Pre-registration for the forum is not required.

More information about state graduation requirements is available at www.michigan.gov.

POLICE BLOTTER

Chelsea

Controlled Substance

A 19-year-old Chelsea man was arrested following a traffic stop shortly after midnight May 20 near the intersection of South Street and M-52 in Chelsea.

During the traffic stop, police determined that the driver had a suspended license. A search of the vehicle also turned up marijuana and alcohol, according to a police report.

Larceny

A drive-off was reported at a Chelsea gas station in the 900 block of Main Street at about 12:45 p.m. May 15. A witness told police a man approximately 50 years old pulled up to the gas station in a dark blue Ford Ranger, pumped $54 worth of gas into the truck, and drove off without paying.

The truck had a broken taillight and is believed to be a 1980s model.

A Chelsea School District administrator reported that someone had entered an administrative office area and rummaged through several unlocked desks between 5:30 p.m. May 9 and 8 a.m. May 10. The suspect took $80 from one of the desks used by the Chelsea Recreation Department and approximately $100 from another desk used by the school district.

A 39-year-old man reported May 1 that his daughter's bicycle had been stolen. The bicycle, a yellow Diamondback mountain bike, was believed to have been stolen between 6 and 6:30 p.m. April 17 at the Chelsea District Library.

The bicycle was recovered May 3 after a Trinkle Road resident contacted the police department about a bicycle that had been in her front yard for several weeks.

Controlled Substance

Police were dispatched at about 11:40 a.m. May 10 to Beach Middle School to investigate a student's possession of marijuana seeds.

The student was detained by the principal after allegedly showing a baggie of marijuana seeds to other students. The baggie contained approximately 25 marijuana seeds.

The 13-year-old boy said he found the baggie of seeds at his home and did not know what they were.

When officers interviewed the boy's father, he admitted to using marijuana on a recreational basis four or five years ago. Police searched the home and did not find signs of any current use of the drug.

Property Damage

A 16-year-old Chelsea High School student reported May 8 that someone had pushed over his moped in the high school parking lot. The incident is believed to have occurred between 2:50 and 4 p.m. The moped sustained damage to the dash and handlebars estimated at $200.

Webster Township

Larceny

Police were called to a home on Merkel Court when a 51-year-old man complained that his trees were stolen from his yard between May 5 and 16. The man was in California. The property is valued at $95.

A 19-year-old man told police CDs and a radar detector were stolen May 6 from his 1997 Jeep station wagon parked outside his home on Scully Road. The property is valued at $200.

Breaking and Entering

A 61-year-old man called police May 12 to report a breaking and entering. He said someone pried open the door to his Scully Road home and took his stereo. The man wrote down a license plate number of a suspicious vehicle leaving the area and gave it to police.

A 47-year-old woman told police May 10 that someone entered her unlocked shed, unlocked garage and unlocked car on West Huron River Drive, stealing electric tools valued at $500.

Arrests

Police stopped two 26-year-old men at Gregory and Mast roads for not wearing their seatbelts May 3. The men could not produce proper identification, so they were arrested. In addition, police reported finding a small amount of marijuana in the pocket of one of the suspects.

Dexter Township

Drunken Driving

Police were dispatched to Hankerd Road for a traffic crash May 16. A 2004 Mercury Monterey mini van was found in a ditch. The 72-year-old driver was wearing his pajamas and told police he was heading to the hospital for detoxification. He also told police he had consumed a fifth of vodka two hours before the crash.

According to a Breathalyzer test, his blood-alcohol level was 0.21 percent. A level of 0.08 percent or higher is considered legally drunk under state law. The driver was arrested and his vehicle was impounded.

Domestic Assault

Police responded to a report of domestic violence May 13 on Island Lake Road. A man involved in the incident said his girlfriend threw a telephone at him when he was leaving the house and going toward his car. She then proceeded to kick his legs, according to a police report.

There is a history of domestic violence between the couple, according to the report.

Home Invasion

A 50-year-old man told police May 8 that someone damaged the front door to his Scully Road home. Nothing was taken from the residence.

Dexter Village

Vehicles Stolen

Police responded to a call at LaFontaine Chevrolet, where two vehicles were reported stolen from the front lot May 1. The vehicles, both 2007 Chevrolet Tahoes, are valued at $96,675.

A 53-year-old woman told police that someone spray-painted "H20" on her 1999 Saturn's front passenger-side door May 10 while it was parked on Baker Road.

Bush is inadvertently helping Granholm

TIM SKUBICK

Even though she supported him, Gov. Jennifer Granholm can thank her lucky stars that John Kerry is not in the White House, because as long as President George W. Bush is alive and well, Granholm's re-election campaign is, too.

Bush is the best thing she has going for her as she struggles to defeat Mr. Money Bags, aka Dick DeVos, in this neck-and-neck race for governor.

DeVos is making Michigan's economy, or lack of it, the touchstone of his effort to unseat her. He claims he can do better. His surrogates are more blunt. They blame her for screwing up the economy and then not being able to figure out how to unscrew it.

But alas, there is one problem with the strategy. The residents don't blame the governor for this jobless mess. Much to the chagrin of Republicans everywhere, they blame "W."

It's not even a close call. The governor dodges the economic bullet in the latest EPIC-MRA statewide findings, again.

North, south, east and west, 44 percent hold the president accountable for the economy, while half as many — 23 percent — blame Granholm.

In fact, the only Michigan folks who tag her are voters between the ages of 30 and 40 and Republicans. There is no big surprise there.

Independent voters give Granholm a pass. Those with or without a college degree give Granholm a pass.

Every income group, except those earning more than $100,000, blame the Bushman and not the blond woman for the poor Michigan economy.

Of course, the governor seeks to exploit this by taking on the president at every turn on the campaign trail. No dummy, she knows if those numbers flip, she could flop.

Meanwhile, the GOP keeps hammering her for presiding over this "single-state recession."

Former Gov. James Blanchard checks in on this, as he gleefully joins the Democratic chorus to vilify Bush. Blanchard thinks the president's low standing in the polls will produce a "Democratic tsunami" this fall and sweep his pal, the governor, into office by a four- to five-point margin.

He figures Republicans are "demoralized" by Bush's sag and will stay home, while Democrats will be "energized" to show up at the polls.

It's a dandy spin, but even the ex-governor concedes this race for governor is not a referendum on the president, to which the DeVos folks say, "Amen."

But those same folks have to be worried that despite the millions they have spent to build DeVos up and the party's efforts to tear Granholm down, she remains in a dead heat with him.

Which is why she said the other day, "I'm thrilled" over the polling results showing a tie.

What?

Thrilled?

Come on. But that's what she said.

And while others in the Democratic camp are worried sick that she is going to lose this thing, and that they have the internal polling data to prove it, she remains sanguine that when she begins to fight, her numbers will rebound.

That's why you are going to see something we have never seen before. The lead in this race is going to bounce back and forth, and it won't be over until the last vote is counted. And don't rule out a recount.

But as long as the governor lets George do it, she will remain in the hunt.

Tim Skubick hosts the TV show "Off the Record" and provides regular commentary for WWJ-AM 950.

"But alas, there is one problem with the strategy. The residents don't blame the governor for this jobless mess. Much to the chargin of Republicans everywhere, they blame "W." it's not even a close call. The governor dodges the economic bullet in the latest EPIC-MRA statewide findings, again.

Trip an eye-opener

TERRY JACOBY

When terrorists attacked the United States in September 2001, Hushmi Hameed was as shocked and appalled as any other American.

As one of Muslim faith, Hushmi never thought for a second that Muslims were behind this — because they weren't. Terrorists did this, not Muslims.

Hushmi soon discovered that this distinction wasn't always made, and this caused the young man to be a little disappointed in a country he loved.

"I appreciate being here and I love this country, and I am also proud to be a Muslim," said Hushmi, a 15-year-old high school junior.

Notice that he didn't say, I love this country, but I am also proud to be a Muslim. He used the word "and," because you can be both. In fact, most Muslims in the United States are both.

This was one of the messages Hushmi's fellow classmates learned during a field trip in December to the Plymouth Canton Sunni Mosque and Crescent Academy.

"I do love it here in America because there are so many more opportunities and freedom here," Hushmi said. "But I am a little surprised that some people aren't as open to other religions and other cultures as you would think we would be."

And the reason one would think "we" would be is because this country is built on other religions and other cultures coming together as one and living together while respecting others and what they believe. That's not the American dream; it's the American blueprint.

But it doesn't always work that way. Unfortunately, prejudice is alive and well in this country.

"People come here for a better life, and sometimes it doesn't work out that way," said Hushmi, who raised the idea of the field trip to his teacher, John Maunu.

"I thought it was a wonderful idea," Maunu said.

Diversity is a big part of life after you leave the womb of the high school, and Hushmi's idea was a great way to show students another way of life.

And what they learned was that it wasn't all that different from how they live.

"My views of the Muslim faith came from textbooks and the media," said Hank Goldsmith, a high school senior and Hushmi's classmate in Groose Ile. "I got to see what the Muslim faith really is and what it's all about on that field trip. I have a new appreciation and new respect for it."

While Hushmi didn't learn much from the trip, he did gain perspective into seeing how people's views can easily be swayed by the truth.

"It's unfortunate that most people don't know a lot about the Muslim faith because all they hear is the

Residents should support downtown businesses

Dexter and Chelsea are unique in that they are fortunate to have a number of small stores conveniently located for purchasing almost anything you might need.

You probably could save some money by shopping the larger stores in the Ann Arbor area, but with the price of gas being what it is today, you can do reasonably well by supporting these local businesses. This will assure that they remain solvent in the years to come.

If they don't survive, we will be the losers.

In Chelsea, two such businesses worthy of mention are Heydlauff's Inc., a family-owned appliance store for as long as most of us can remember, and Chelsea Village Hardware, a long-standing Chelsea fixture now owned by Tom Clemons. The best part of both businesses is that they are run by honest, high-integrity people.

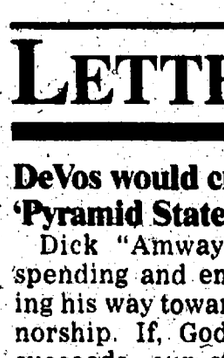

In addition, they not only merchandise products, but offer excellent after-sale service and advice that makes you feel like they actually care about the satisfaction of the customer. Try to get that from the bigger companies.

Western perspective," said Hushmi, who moved to the United States from Pakistan when he was 2 years old.

"A lot of people don't understand what the basic beliefs really are all about. I think (my classmates) got to hear about Islamic history and what some of the real messages of the Koran are, instead of the misguided interpretations."

Hushmi said several times that he appreciates America and all it has to offer. And with field trips like the one taken by Maunu's class in December, more people will appreciate and respect other cultures and religions for what they really are.

The truth doesn't hurt. It's just the opposite.

Brooks retires from preschool after 18 years

Retirement party to be held for preschool teacher 2 p.m. June 3 at Chelsea Depot

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

Janie Brooks started working at the Chelsea Children's Cooperative Preschool in September 1987. After 18 years, she retired May 19.

"I want to leave when it's still fun," she said on her last day. "I don't want to wait until I'm burned out. And it's still fun."

It's so much fun for Brooks that it doesn't necessarily feel like a job.

"Once a young girl pulled me aside and asked if I worked like her mommy and daddy. I patiently explained to her that my job was coming to school each day," Brooks said. "She shook her finger at me and insisted that that couldn't be a job because all I ever did at school was play."

Work or play, the Eastern Michigan University graduate said she has enjoyed spending her time with children.

"I love watching them and I love learning from them. I revel in their enthusiasm, creativity and persistence, as they build the skills that are necessary to better understand their world," she said.

Brooks is proud to have worked with hundreds of families through the years.

"I am grateful to have had the opportunity to get to know so many families and be a part of their lives," she said. "I'm honored and humbled that parents entrusted me with their most precious possession — their children."

Brooks and her husband, Tom, who were married in 1972, moved to Chelsea in 1986. Tom retired last July from Ford Motor Co. and the couple plans to spend more time at their cottage up north. They also hope to travel this summer to the only states in the Union that they have never seen — Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

They have a son, Howie, a daughter, Jenna, and two grandchildren, Ella and Melanie.

Those who would like to wish Brooks well in her retirement are invited to a retirement party from 2 to 5 p.m. June 3 at the Chelsea Depot. All past and present co-op families are welcome.

Staff Writer Jennifer McArdle can be reached at 475-1371 or jmcardle@heritage.com.

WASHTENAW COUNTY

Grant helps protect Waterloo

The Washtenaw Land Trust's Waterloo-area land protection program is gaining momentum thanks to a $10,000 grant from the Jackson County Community Foundation.

The grant was awarded through the Unrestricted Fund, a component fund of the foundation.

The money will be used to support the Waterloo Land Protection project of the Washtenaw Land Trust. One of the land trust's top land protection priorities is to reduce the rate of fragmentation of the Waterloo-Pinckney region, according to a press statement from the trust.

"This region makes up the largest block of public recreation land in Michigan's Lower Peninsula. However, this important recreational and natural resource is increasingly threatened by incompatible residential development," the release stated.

Charity Steere, chairwoman of the land trust's Land Protection Committee, said the grant will allow the trust to jumpstart its land protection work in the Waterloo area. The project includes identifying and prioritizing buffer lands and inholdings, identifying appropriate protection techniques, developing a landowner outreach plan, and educating landowners on land protection options.

The Washtenaw Land Trust is Michigan's oldest land trust and has protected more than 2,000 acres of farmland and natural areas since 1971.

Goat's coat resembles U.S.

White family calling him Uncle Sam, U.S. and Mr. Map

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

A baby goat born last month at White House Stables in Lima Township has markings that resemble a map of the United States.

Leslie White, co-owner of White House Stables, said in her three years of raising goats, she has never come across anything like it.

"That was the first interesting pattern I've had," she said.

The goat, which was born April 14, already has been sold, but will remain at White House Stables for a couple more weeks until it is old enough to leave its mother.

Since the goat is being sold, White did not name him, but it seems that everyone has a name for him based on those interesting markings.

A baby goat born at White House Stables last month has markings that resemble the map of the United States. Leslie White, co-owner of White House Stables, calls him "Uncle Sam."

"Everybody calls him something different. We'll kind of go with Uncle Sam. My daughter calls him U.S. I just call him Mr. Map," she said.

White House Stables has four breeding does, two bucks, and seven baby goats this year. "Uncle Sam" is a Mini LaMancha.

AIRLINER

airliner's weight exceeds the maximum landing weight.

Ebenhoch said fuel was jettisoned from the Flight 11 airliner and the flight was redirected back to Detroit Metropolitan Airport, where it landed without incident. Passengers were able to continue their trip on another 747-400 aircraft.

Ebenhoch said Northwest Airlines is not releasing information regarding the airliner's altitude at the time of the fuel release or the amount of fuel that was released.

But according to a prepared statement by the Washtenaw County Emergency Management and Environmental Health, local officials confirmed that nearly 200,000 pounds of jet fuel was released over portions of north-central Washtenaw County. The fuel was also released over Livingston County.

Tom Gish of Manchester witnessed the dumping of fuel while at a driving range near DaimlerChrysler's Chelsea Proving Grounds.

"We didn't see it come down to the ground, but you could definitely see it come out the back," he said.

And the environmental impact of the fuel dumping is still largely unknown.

The County Department of Planning and Environment has contacted the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality concerning environmental issues related to the release. According to a statement from the Washtenaw County Emergency Management, the MDEQ has indicated that the fuel was reported to be released at an altitude that would result in minimal, if any, environmental consequence.

Although it's believed that the fuel evaporated in the air, there have been reports of the fuel reaching the ground. The Washtenaw County Department of Planning and Environment has received several reports. Environmental health officials, who will seek help from the MDEQ on any confirmed environmental contamination, are investigating.

He said the fuel was released at an altitude of approximately 7,000 feet and according to Federal Administration reports the fuel would have vaporized if released at an altitude higher than 6,000 feet.

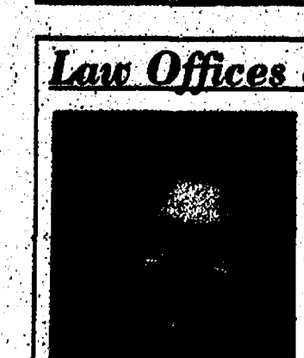

Leon Moore, supervisor at Washtenaw County Environmental Health, said officials have visited two farms in the area, and in both locations did not find evidence that the fuel had reached the ground.

For some, that may not be enough. Roland Heim lives in the 1400 block of North Lima Center Road and is concerned that the fuel reached his wheat field. Heim said last week that he tried contacting Northwest Airlines to get answers, but was unsuccessful.

Anyone who believes their property has been affected should call 222-3800.

Chelsea Painters' Web site is the creation of one of its members, Teresa Freed.

Chelsea painter lends her talent to Web sites

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

Teresa Freed has two creative channels—one requires a paintbrush and easel, while the other a monitor and mouse.

For the past several years, the local artist and member of the Chelsea Painters group has been dividing her time between painting pastel landscapes and building professional Web sites.

This unlikely combination works well for Freed because she loves the challenge of putting visual and text elements together into striking and functional Web sites.

"It's a way to combine my artistic inclinations with my writing skills and organizer mind to produce something of value for people who need an online presence for themselves and their art," she said.

What began as a personal interest for Freed has evolved into a side business with the emphasis on creating Web sites for her fellow artists. She also updated the Chelsea Painters' Web site at www.chelseapainters.com, which she designed and built for the group.

"Building and maintaining a group Web site is an interesting and educational experience," Freed said. "We actually have three Web sites — our public site that showcases our members and their artwork, a private-member site that archives group information such as our member contact list, and a private blog where members can post information of interest to other members.

"The group's Web sites are invaluable for keeping everyone in the group up to date and on the same page, and saves a lot of time distributing information to members."

The Chelsea Painters site also is a useful tool for publicizing exhibits and other group events such as the annual Chelsea Painters Art Fair, which this year is set for June 3 and 4 on the grounds of Chelsea Community Hospital.

"Our new Web site can be used as a tool to meet us, Chelsea Painters, and to get a sense of what each of us can do," said Manchester artist Nancy Feldkamp.

The Chelsea Painters' site has brought the group into a new arena of communication, not only to a new presence with the public, but for distributing information in a more efficient way to our members, said Manchester artist Sandy Knapp.

"It's been a boost for some of us who decide to have a personal site as well," Knapp said. "They will all be linked to our public Chelsea Painters' Web site."

"Having a professional-looking Web site had become a necessity for procuring teaching assignments," Zagotta said. "Teresa put together a Web site for me that I feel perfectly expresses who I am as an artist and as a teacher."

Freed says she enjoys designing sites for artists and other creative people because she fully understands the process of creating and showcasing fine art, as well as the nuances of the Internet economy.

"Just about anyone can put together a Web site, but creating an elegant, professional Web site that ideally suits the needs of the owner and their target audience is an art in itself," she said. "First impressions are everything, as Web site visitors leave quickly if the site does not grab and hold their attention."

Freed strives to create sites that are visually compelling, as well as highly functional.

Her artistic eye is a big asset, she says, allowing her to approach Web site design as if she were creating a painting. Her custom sites may take weeks to complete but, once they've gone live, basic maintenance is minimal, with just occasional updating required.

Freed is developing a system where, once the Web site is built, the site owner can do minimal updating on his or her own without help.

"Web sites for artists require special technical considerations in order to optimally showcase the art," Freed said. "Images need to be sized properly so they are clear and load quickly, the overall design and background should showcase the art and not the Web site itself, and the Web site needs to be structured to allow easy updating of frequently changing information, such as exhibit schedules."

Web site design is a collaborative process, requiring a great deal of input from the Web site owner. For those artists who more comfortable with a paintbrush than pixels, Freed can coach them through every step.

"Something as seemingly simple as choosing a domain name can have a big impact on the success and usefulness of your Web site," she said.

Every professional artist, regardless of his or her chosen medium, needs a Web site to showcase his or her work, Freed said.

"Selling art online is often a tricky proposition, but less expensive items like prints, craft items and note cards can sell very well online, especially to an already-established client base," she said. "Artists with those types of products might want to consider a Web site that also serves as their own online store."

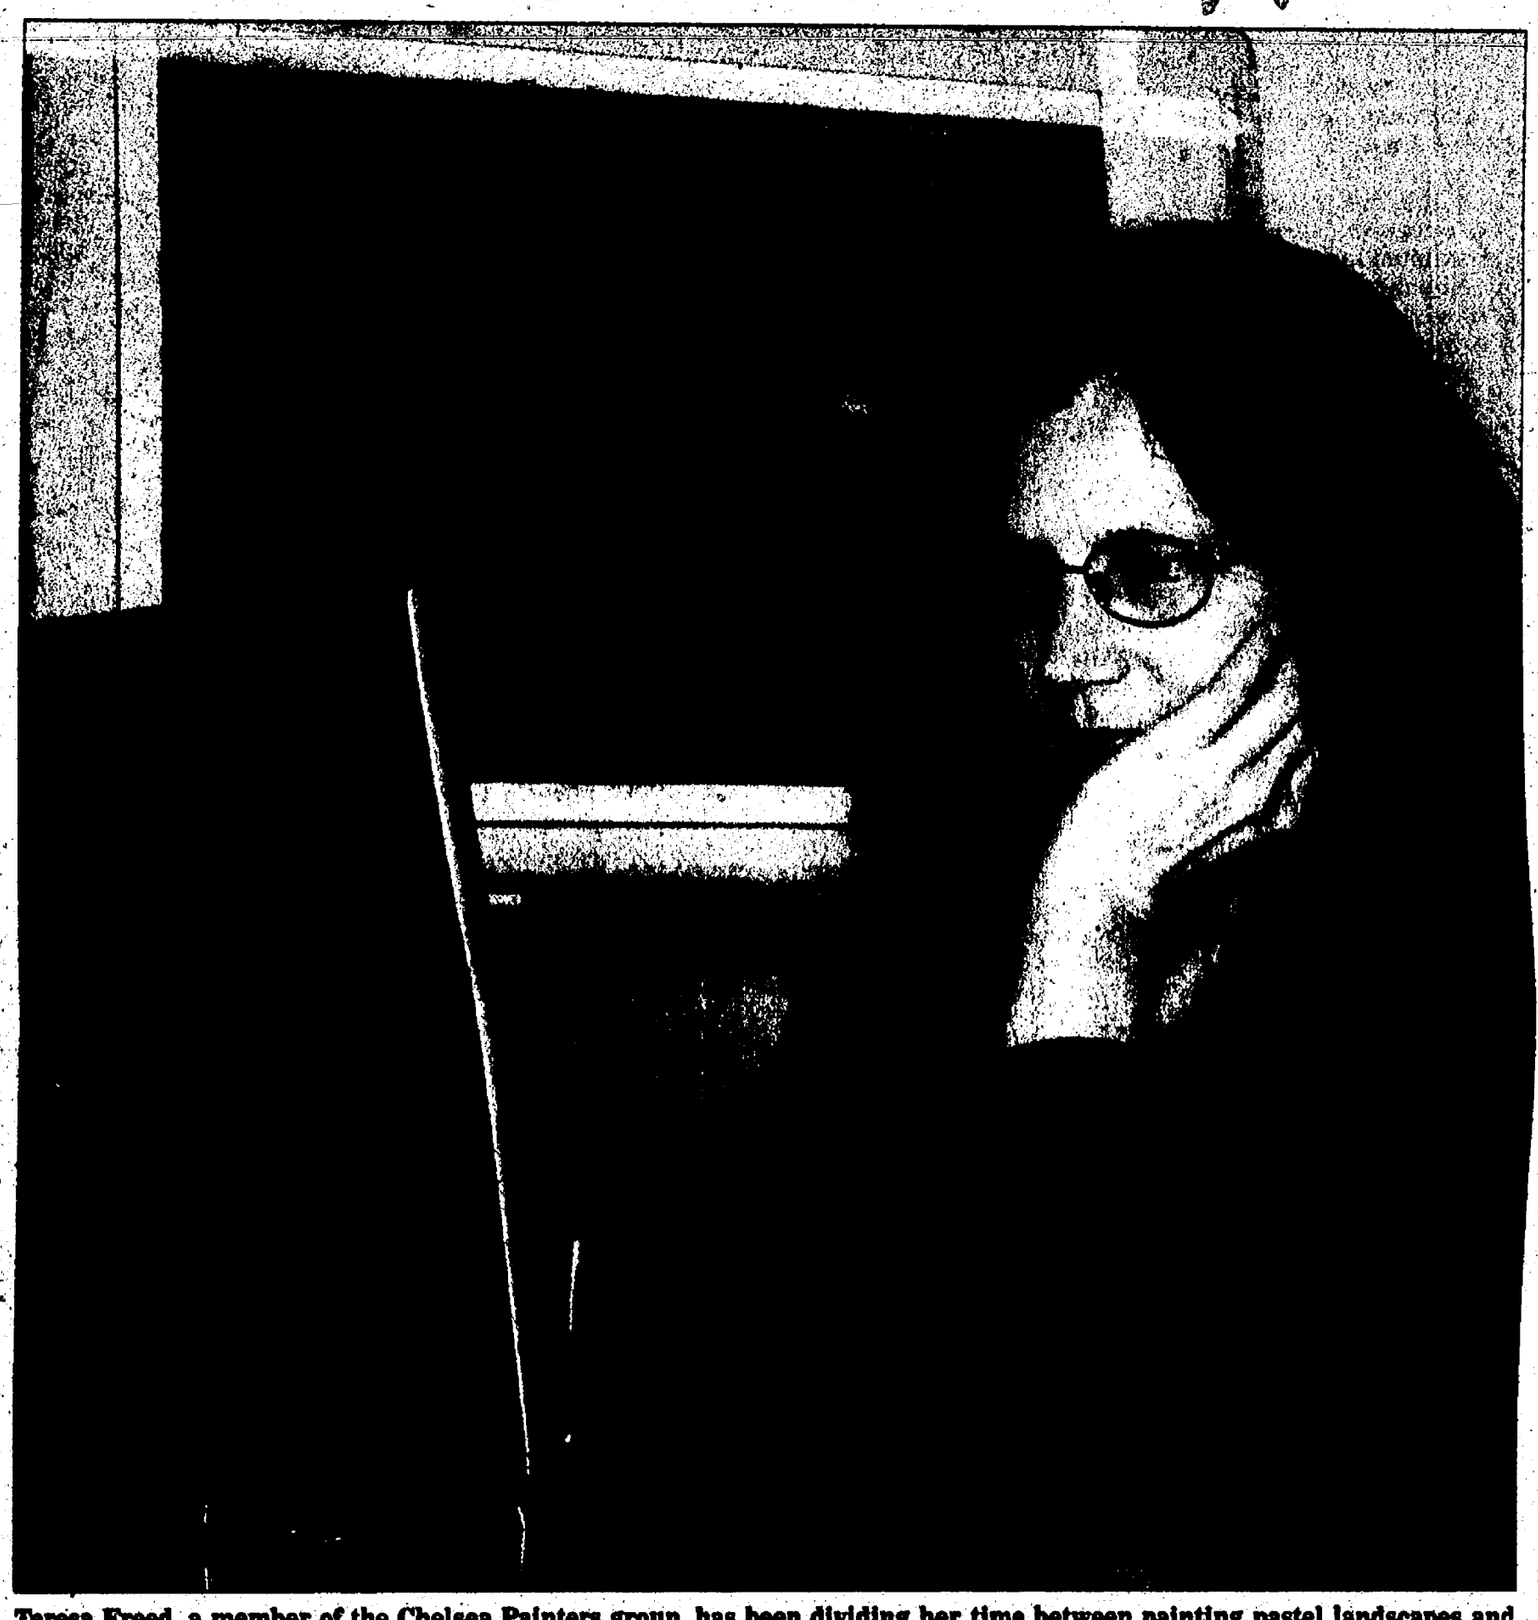

For most artists, the value of a Web site lies in the exposure it can bring and the time it can save the owner by serving as an online portfolio, biography, exhibit schedule and list-builder — in short, an online promotional brochure.

"Web sites are available 24/7," Freed said. "In today's hurry-up world, people love being able to go to a Web site for more information about you and your work, rather than having to wait for you to mail them a brochure or artist statement and bio.

"And artists will no longer find themselves scrambling to take advantage of unexpected opportunities that require pulling together basic information. The marketing advantages of a good Web site can't be over-estimated," she said.

A well-designed Web site is just as important to the creative professional as business cards and a portfolio, Freed said. But she feels an art-related site must have a

Young artists earn recognition in contest

Artemis and Harold Eyster were among the winners honored in the Junior Duck Stamp Contest during a ceremony May 6 at the Green Point Environmental Learning Center in Saginaw.

A total of 378 students in kindergarten through 12th grades entered artwork in the contest. Entries came from across the state, and included students from public and private schools, Scout troops and home schools.

"Ducks Unlimited is proud to be a partner in this year's Junior Duck Stamp Contest," Russ Terry, regional biologist for Ducks Unlimited and one of the five judges who selected the winning artwork, said in a prepared statement. "It's so important to foster an appreciation for habitat conservation in our youth, and the Junior Duck Stamp Program is a great way to do it."

Proceeds from the sale of the stamp support conservation education.

Twenty-five winners were selected in each of the four age groups. Artemis Eyster, 9, of Lima Township was a first-place award winner in the First Age Group, while her brother, Harold, won second-place recognition in the Third Age Group.

The Federal Junior Duck Stamp Program is sponsored by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. In Michigan, the program is coordinated by the Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge in Saginaw.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is the principal federal agency responsible for conserving, protecting and enhancing fish, wildlife and plants and their habitats for the continuing benefit of the American people.

Artemis and Harold Eyster of Lima Township received certificates from Becky Goche, a park ranger at the Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge, as part of the Junior Duck Stamp Contest May 6 at the Green Point Environmental Learning Center in Saginaw.

— Essay Contest Winners —

Diana Bach, Joseph Gunden and Kelly Schmidt, students at Beach Middle School in Chelsea, won first through third place, respectively, in the 37th annual America & Me Essay Contest sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance. They are pictured with agent Tim Eder. The trio received award certificates for their achievement. As the school's first-place winner, Diana's name will be engraved on a plaque for permanent display at the school. Her essay advanced to the state competition.

Donations to feed needy

The Dexter Rotary Club will join clubs in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti in collecting food for needy residents in Washtenaw County.

The clubs are partnering with Food Gatherers of Washtenaw County in the local fight against hunger.

Food will be collected June 5 through 17 at 47 area businesses and organizations, and distributed to the 150 nonprofit programs Food Gatherers works with to alleviate hunger.

The faces of hunger include the elderly, the homeless, individuals who have incomes below the federal poverty level and the working poor, according to a press release from the Ann Arbor Rotary Club. About 35 percent of those receiving food from the area's nonprofit programs are children.

Of particular need are high-protein items such as peanut butter, tuna, canned meats, beans, hearty soups and stews, chili, baby food and formula, and nutritional supplement drinks.

Collection bins are located at Dexter businesses, including AAA Insurance, Busch's ValuLand, the Copeland Administration Building at Dexter schools, Dexter Flowers, Peace Lutheran Church and United Bank & Trust.

For more information, call 761-2796.

professional-quality look and functionality, otherwise it can be a detriment instead of an asset.

"Image is everything to the art professional. An amateurish Web site is often worse than no Web site at all because it instantly conveys a less-than-complimentary impression of your level of expertise in your chosen medium," Freed said. "Sadly, I've seen a lot of excellent art devalued on amateurish Web sites because of the setting and how it's displayed."

Freed recommends that artists unwilling to learn the nuances of creating a high-quality Web site from scratch hire a professional instead of relying on a Web site built on one of the many do-it-yourself programs available on the Internet.

"Instant Web site programs can be great for many purposes, but they seldom are adequate for an art Web site that needs to showcase a lot of high-quality images," she said.

Like the shoemaker whose family needs new shoes, one of these days Freed will find time to sit down and add her most recent work to her personal Web site, www.teresafreed.com, she said.

"Even so, I can hardly believe how many wonderful opportunities have come my way from people who have contacted me and said, 'I saw your paintings on your Web site.'

"Every artist wants more exposure for their work, and a good Web site can make a big difference."

Helping the Needy

After learning the Bible story of Dorcas, a woman who helped the needy, students from Lambs of Our Savior Christian Preschool delivered the results of their yearlong penny collection to Doug Smith, assistant director of Faith In Action, a human services agency in Chelsea. Smith took the children on a tour of the facility so they would see the opportunities available to families in need. The students are in Ginger Watson's pre-kindergarten class. Scholarships help women in technology

The Association for Women in Computing Ann Arbor has launched a new scholarship program for women pursuing certifications in a computer or technology-related field.

"AWC Ann Arbor is dedicated to supporting and mentoring women in computing throughout Michigan," Audrey Neuvirth, the group's president, said in a prepared statement.

"In addition to offering scholarships for women pursuing a degree, we recognize that working with technology requires on-going training, which does not always lead to a degree. We are proud to offer an additional scholarship this year for women seeking training through certification programs."

Applications for scholarships will be accepted through June 30.

Each degree program scholarship is valued at $1,500 and each certification scholarship is valued at $500.

To qualify, students must be female, attend an accredited Michigan institution of higher learning or be pursuing certification in a computer or technology-related field.

Also, applicants must submit an essay and references.

For more information and the application, visit the Web site www.awc-aa.org.

LOVING HOMES NEEDED
GLORIA Gloria's story is sad, but it is also a story of survival... She and her 5 brothers were born in the shelter to Shera. Shortly after, the entire family came down with an Upper respiratory infection. They were put in foster care to recover and until they could be adopted. The boys, sadly, did not survive. But Gloria and her Mom (Shera) did survive. Her foster Mom thought "I Will Survive" would be a fitting mantra for her. That is how she came to be named Gloria (Gloria Gaynor). Gloria (and Shera) are now healthy, happy and ready for a permanent, loving home.
SUNNY Say hello to Sunny! This 11 month old, 44 lb. sweetie came to the shelter because the kind soul who found him as a stray wasn't able to keep him. Sunny doesn't seem to mind though, because his name matches his disposition perfectly! He is already house trained and loves other dogs. Given his breed and young age, it is no surprise that this pup has a lot of energy, so if you want a running partner or a pal to play with, Sunny is the dog for you! And boy is he cute-check out his happy relaxed face as he gets lots of belly rubs-puppy nirvana!
HUMMER Talk about a bit of a misnomer-with a name like "Hummer" you'd think big massive dog, not a little Jack Russell! But this cute 3-year old, 10 lb pup is quite petite! She and another great dog, Rusty, came to HSHV as a transfer from another shelter so they are happy to be livin' it large(rl) here in Washtenaw county! However, Hummer's not the biggest fan of her kennel and can be a little bratty inside with all the other dogs yapping. Get her outside, though, and she is 100% sweet! Check out her happy mug as she gets her belly rubbed-puppy heaven! Hummer already has an avid chip, too, so this will hopefully be her last time ever being lost! Come meet Hummer, take her out for a walk/belly rub, and see if she's the perfect petite dog for you (and don't worry, you can change her name)!
IF YOU'RE INTERESTED IN ADOPTING A PET, PLEASE CONTACT THE SHELTER AT 662-5585 OR COME VISIT US AT 3100 CHERRY HILL, ANN ARBOR.

Daniels to be inducted into Michigan Walk of Fame

Chelsea native among 12 to earn honor

Jeff Daniels is among 12 Michigan residents, past and present, who will be inducted Thursday into the Michigan Walk of Fame.

The Lansing Principal Shopping District and the Michigan Historical Museum announced the names of the 12 inaugural inductees to the Michigan Walk of Fame, which include Daniels, Herbert Henry Dow, Thomas Edison, President Gerald Ford, Henry Ford, E. Genevieve Gillette, Ernie Harwell, W.K. Kellogg, Rosa Parks, Fannie Richards, Helen Thomas and Stevie Wonder.

Representing the state's civic and talent-rich heritage, these Michiganders will be inducted at the Michigan Historical Center.

Each inductee will be honored with a bronze plaque embedded in the sidewalks of downtown Lansing. Each plaque will feature a star containing the inductee's name and a description of his or her achievements.

"The Michigan Walk of Fame was created to honor state residents, past and present who have made significant contributions to the state, nation or the world," Kevin Green, executive director of Lansing Principal Shopping District, said in a press statement. "The Michigan Walk of Fame is the nation's first statewide walk honoring citizen achievements."

The Michigan Walk of Fame inductees were selected from more than 450 nominees submitted by residents of all 83 Michigan counties throughout fall 2005. Nominations were also received from 15 other states. The judging process was conducted statewide via the Internet utilizing the talent and expertise of historians, business, civic and community leaders in the respective Michigan Walk of Fame categories.

"It's no secret that Michigan has produced some of the world's most industrious thinkers, inspiring entertainers and compassionate leaders," Gov. Jennifer Granholm said in a prepared statement. "This first group of inductees is a fine start to our Michigan Walk of Fame, and the perfect way to showcase our best and brightest."

Daniels is honored in the arts and entertainment category. The Chelsea resident has received national critical acclaim for both his comedic and dramatic acting in film and theater. He launched his career by winning a 1982 OBIE Award for his performance in the one-man, off-Broadway play "Johnny Got His Gun." Daniels is also a director, playwright and entrepreneur.

Remaining Michigan-based, in 1991 Daniels created the Purple Rose Theatre Company in Chelsea, his hometown. His mission is to "serve the Mid-western culture by producing plays about people from the Midwest." Daniels accomplishes this by seeking and developing new and emerging plays, playwrights, actors, designers, directors and administrators.

The Michigan Walk of Fame is a strategic partnership between the Lansing Principal Shopping District, the Michigan Historical Museum and the City of Lansing. The walk will be funded through individual and corporate sponsorships.

Nominations can be submitted for consideration in 2007 on the Internet at www.michiganwalkoffame.com.

— CAPTURING HONORS —

Chauntay Ann Hutting, an eighth-grader in Jackson with Chelsea roots, is the first recipient of the Norma Agnew Memorial Horse Judging Award. She was recognized in 4-H as "best overall" in the junior division for the state of Michigan. To achieve the honor, she had to judge eight classes and provide verbal reasons on two of the classes. The award was presented during the Michigan State University Jamboree held at the end of April. A plaque inscribed with her name will be placed at MSU Anthony Hall later this year. Chauntay is the daughter of Shana Burke of Munith, formerly of Chelsea, and the granddaughter of W. Dave and Mary Hutting of Chelsea, and the late Sue van der Waard and Gordon Burke, formerly of Chelsea.

Allen earns Eagle Scout Award

Jason Allen, a senior at Chelsea High School, received the Eagle Scout Award April 30 at St. Mary Catholic Church in Chelsea. The award is Boy Scouting's top rank, awarded to only about 2 percent of all Scouts.

To obtain the rank, a Scout must advance through six other ranks, earn 21 merit badges and complete a community service project that typically involves 100 to 200 volunteer hours. Allen's project involved rehabilitating outbuildings at Dewey School, which is part of the Waterloo Farm Museum.

The Eagle Award was presented by Troop 476 Committee Chairman Tom Girard. Other participants in the ceremony included Troop 476 Scoutmaster Tom Turek, former Scoutmasters Doug Worthington and Steve Gentz, Assistant Scoutmaster Dave Everhard, Senior Patrol Leader Derek Heumann, the Rev. William Turner and Mary Schoonover, one of Allen's former teachers.

Allen is the son of Bob and Barb Allen of Sylvan Township. Bob Allen and the Scout's brother, Ryan, a 2004 Chelsea High School graduate, are also Eagle Scouts.

Troop 476 meets at the Chelsea Fairgrounds and is sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

Jason Allen, a senior at Chelsea High School, recently earned the Eagle Scout Award, Boy Scouting's top rank.

Dawgs battle Greenhills, Dexter

Stewart scores two goals in win over Tecumseh last week

The Chelsea girls' soccer team defeated Division IV No. 1-ranked Ann Arbor Greenhills 2-1 last Friday.

"It wasn't the greatest win of all time, but it was a good win against a quality team," said Chelsea coach Chris Orlandi.

Junior Leah Morrison opened the scoring for the visiting Bulldogs (13-3) hitting the back of the Gryphons' net off an assist from sophomore Eleanor Stewart six minutes into the game.

"The goal was strange, to say the least," Orlandi said. "Stewart sent a cross (pass) into the middle. A Greenhills player attempted to clear the ball and blasted it off of Leah. The rebound went into the net.

"Yes, it was a bit lucky, but Leah is the kind of hustling player that creates opportunities such as these."

Greenhills tied the contest at 1-1 10 minutes later, scoring on a penalty kick.

In the second half, junior Sarah Reinhardt scored the game-winner at the 61-minute mark for Chelsea. Picking up an assist on the play for the Bulldogs was senior Kellyn Pagliarini.

Late in the game, sophomore defender Colleen Cottrell made a strong play for Chelsea, helping secure the win.

Bulldog junior Liz Gunden battles Dreadnaught sophomore Celia Kuzon for the ball in last week's game against Dexter.

"Colleen ran down a Greenhills attacker on what looked to be a breakaway," Orlandi said. "Cottrell caught her from behind and stopped her on a game-saving play."

Junior co-captain keeper Maggie Manville earned the win in net for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs out-shot the Gryphons 12-6 for the game.

Chelsea vs. Tecumseh

Last Thursday, Chelsea defeated visiting Tecumseh 6-2.

The Bulldogs scored four first half goals, taking control of the contest early.

"We were unbelievable in the first half," Orlandi said. "I don't know if our offense ever looked better. It's so important to come out strong and take your opponent out of the game. The defense played a little sloppy late in the game, but played well when it mattered."

Chelsea began the scoring nine minutes into the first half as senior Angela Koich scored unassisted off a corner kick.

Two minutes later, Stewart scored off an assist from junior co-captain Kaitlin Ehman, giving the Bulldogs a 2-0 advantage.

At the 26-minute mark, Stewart notched her second goal of the day, increasing Chelsea's lead to 3-0. Junior Mackenzie Lake recorded an assist on the play for the Bulldogs.

Chelsea travels to St. Joseph tourney

Bulldogs also sweep county rival Dexter in doubleheader

By Don Richter

Chelsea softball traveled west to participate in the always-tough St. Joseph Tournament last Saturday.

"The St. Joseph Tournament is our most challenging event of the season, next to the state tournament," said Chelsea coach Jenni Linde.

The Bulldogs (15-12) lost to the host Bears 5-3.

Leading Chelsea offensively was Annie Hollandsworth, who finished 2-for-2, with two RBIs.

The Bulldogs closed out the tournament falling to Stevensville Lakeshore and Coloma.

Also last week, Chelsea swept a doubleheader from county rival Dexter, winning 11-1, 12-1.

In the opener, Tawny McSweeney led the Bulldogs' attack, going 3-for-3.

Katie Lynn finished 2-for-2 for Chelsea.

Brogan Darwin, Kelly Jo Milliken and Hannah Guenther each finished 2-for-3 for the Bulldogs.

Bulldog Megan Nadolny rounds third base during action last week.

Hollandsworth ended up with a double and three RBIs.

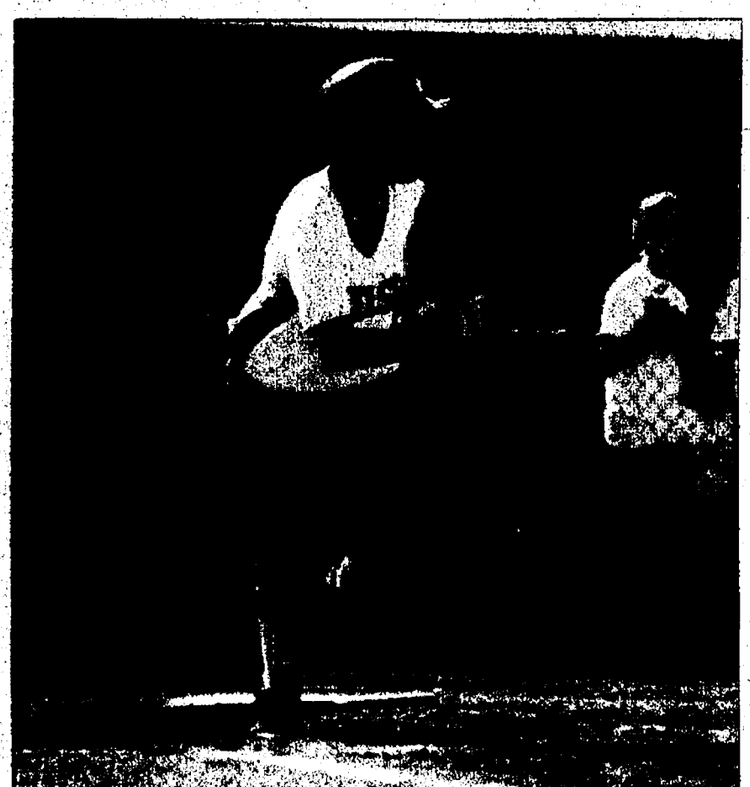

In the nightcap, Hannah Myers sparked Chelsea, going 3-for-4 with two doubles and two RBIs.

Milliken, Darwin and Guenther each ended up 2-for-3 for the Dawgs.

Hollandsworth went 2-for-2 at the plate, while Whitney Brien had a team-high three RBIs for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs next host their own quad Friday at 4 p.m. Chelsea will celebrate

BASEBALL

Chelsea splits doubleheader with Brighton

Bulldogs also win seventh straight league championship

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea baseball split a doubleheader with host Brighton last Monday, losing 5-4 and winning 9-8.

In the extra inning opener, Brighton (20-4) scored the game-tying run in the seventh inning on a passed ball.

The Bulldogs (19-8) led 4-3 entering the seventh stanza.

"We had our chances to win," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton. "We came up a little short."

Chad Nielsen pitched well for Chelsea in defeat.

With the bat, Adam Connell paced the Bulldogs with three hits.

Joe Welton and Robbie Moffett each had two hits. Moffett added one RBI.

C.J. Boyer had an RBI double for Chelsea.

In the second game, the Bulldogs scored twice in the seventh inning to rally for the victory.

Connell connected for a two-out RBI single to center field for the game-winning hit. Connell's hit scored Todd Elliott, who earlier in the seventh inning had brought home Jeff Adams with the tying run, stroking a two-strike single.

Brighton scored six runs in the fifth inning, taking an 8-5 lead.

The Bulldogs, however, responded with two runs in the sixth inning and two runs in the seventh frame for the win.

"That was a good, comeback win for us," Welton said.

Elliott earned the win from the mound for Chelsea, tossing two scoreless innings to close out the game.

Welton finished 3-for-3 at the plate with two doubles and one RBI to lead the Bulldogs.

Dan Augustine had two doubles with four RBIs, while Connell had two hits for Chelsea.

Chelsea vs. Dexter

Last Saturday, the Bulldogs defeated county rival Dexter 8-1, clinching the Southeastern Conference White Division championship. The title is Chelsea's seventh consecutive SEC White crown.

"It's pretty special to win a championship, but to win seven in a row is pretty remarkable," Welton said. "We've had a lot of good players over the years, but this one is as gratifying as any of them."

Augustine was masterful from the mound for the Bulldogs, earning the victory. He threw all seven innings, allowing four hits, striking out nine and walking one.

"That's the best I've ever seen him pitch," Welton said of his 6-foot-5, 215-pound junior hurler. "He was dominating on the mound. He had great command of all of his pitches."

Augustine was also proficient with the bat, slugging a three-run home run to lead Chelsea offensively.

Danny Rhodes, Moffett and Welton each recorded two hits.

Chelsea vs. Pioneer

Last Friday, the Bulldogs split a doubleheader with Ann Arbor Pioneer, winning 12-2 and losing 12-1.

In Game 1, Rhodes picked up the win, throwing a complete game.

"He was very efficient," Welton said.

Connell led Chelsea's attack with two hits, including a double and three RBIs.

Travis Amburgey had two hits and two RBIs, while Augustine and Boyer each had two hits.

Welton added two RBIs, while Cam Hawkins had a double for the Bulldogs.

In the second game, Pioneer ace Derek Mosher allowed only four hits to recorded the victory.

Getting hits for Chelsea in the game were Connell, Hawkins, Welton and Nielsen.

The Bulldogs next travel to St. Joseph to participate in its tournament 10 a.m. Saturday. In addition to the host Bears, other teams competing in the tourney will be Stevensville Lakeshore and Niles.

On Wednesday, Chelsea hosts Pinckney in a make-up game at 4 p.m.

JV Baseball

Chelsea's JV baseball team swept a doubleheader from host Ann Arbor Pioneer last Friday, winning 5-2, 9-5.

In the opener, Rodney Ostrowski went the distance, pitching seven innings, allowing five hits, striking out nine and walking one for the victory.

Donny Riedel finished 2-for-4 from the plate with one RBI, while Chris Schmelz went 1-for-2 with two walks for the Bulldogs.

"That was our best game of the year," said Chelsea coach Jim Ticknor. "Ostrowski pitched very well."

Chelsea (7-12) scored three runs in the seventh inning, breaking a 2-2 tie to pull out the win.

In Game 2, the Bulldogs scored four runs in the eighth inning, breaking a 5-5 tie to win in extra innings.

Schmelz ended up 4-for-5 with the stick with three RBIs to lead Chelsea.

Matt Schwarze pitched five innings, while Taylor Hopkins threw three innings for the Bulldogs.

"It was a great sweep," Ticknor said. "We played very well today. Schwarze and Hopkins pitched outstanding."

Chelsea vs. Tecumseh

Last Thursday, visiting Chelsea dropped a doubleheader to Tecumseh, losing 5-4, 10-1.

In the first game, Andy Korc pitched six strong innings for the Bulldogs, yielding four hits, fanning four and walking six.

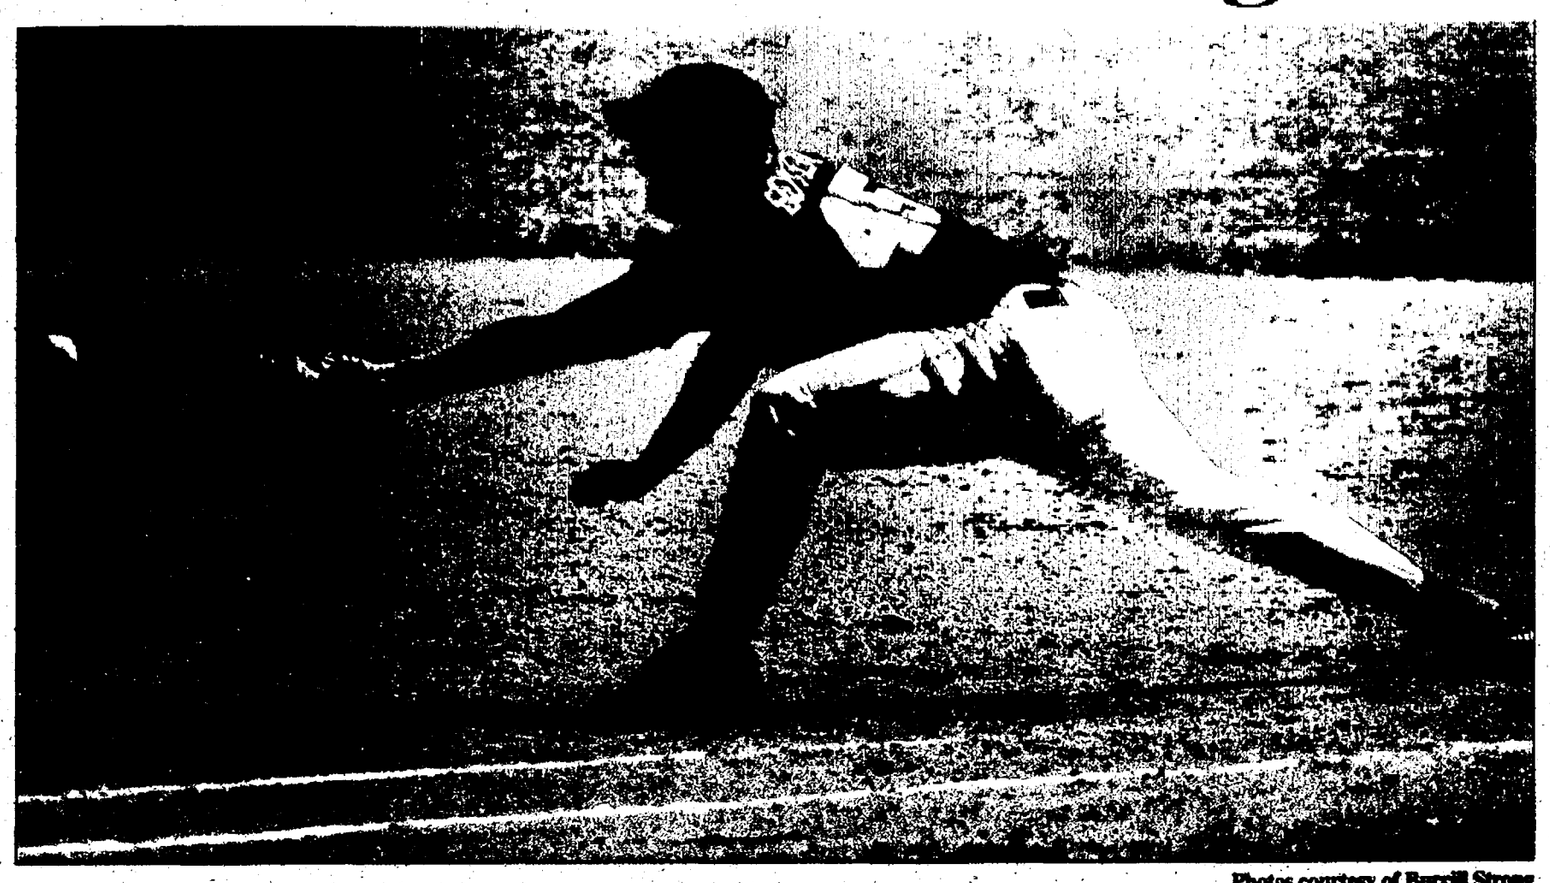

"Andy pitched very well," Ticknor said. "We had some chances (to win), but Tecumseh made the plays."

Greg Van Orman paced Chelsea offensively, going 2-for-3 with two RBIs.

In the nightcap, the Indians scored six first inning runs, taking control of the contest early.

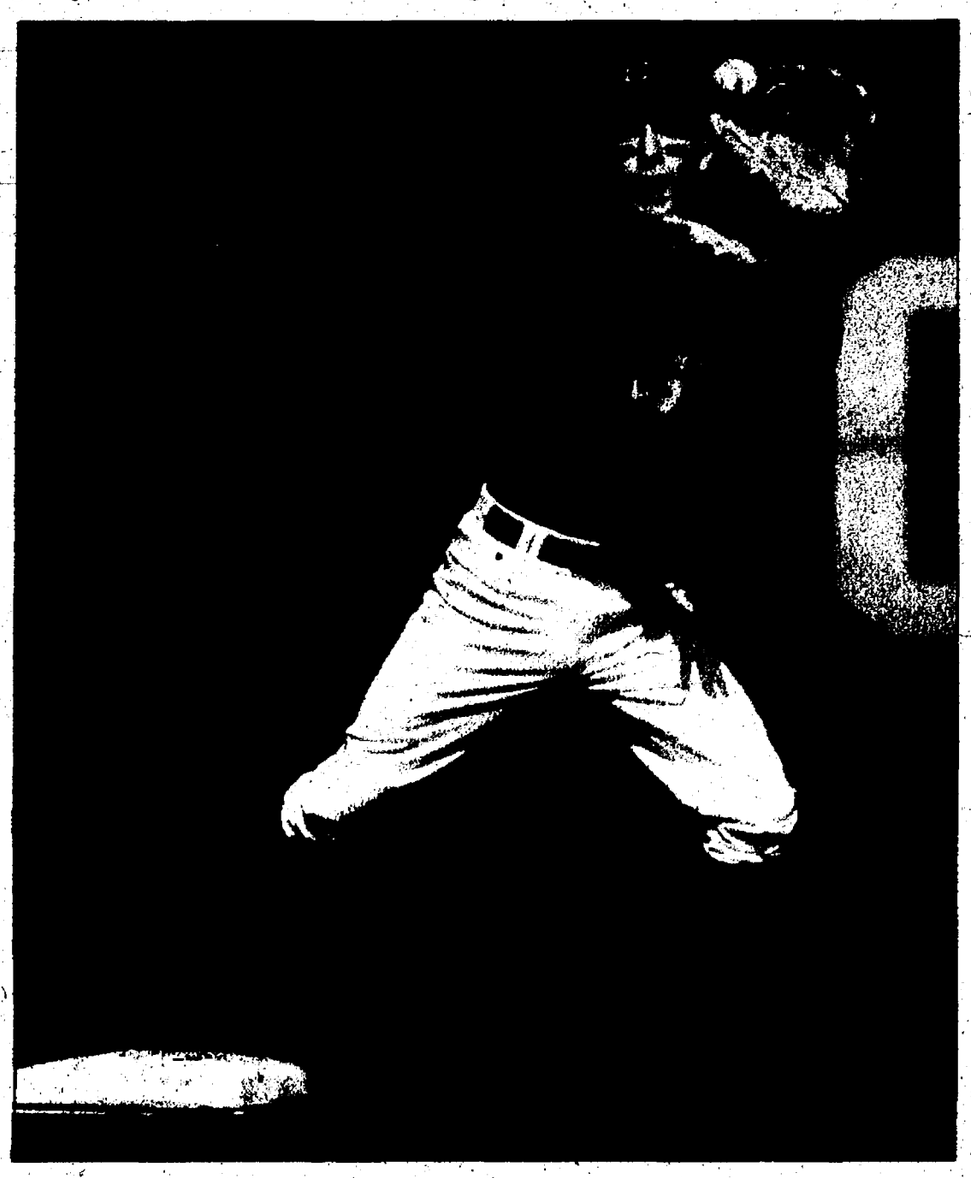

Offensively, David Boyle, Kevin Regnier, Riedel, Ostrowski and Van Orman each had one hit for the Bulldogs. Van Orman had Chelsea's lone RBI.

BATTLE

made it 4-0 Chelsea, scoring off an assist from Stewart.

In the second half, Morrison scored at the 51-minute mark, giving the Bulldogs a 5-0 advantage. Stewart picked up an assist on the goal.

The Indians scored back-to-back goals at the 52- and 59-minute mark of the second half, trimming Chelsea's lead to 5-2.

With five minutes remaining Pagliarini scored for the game's final margin. Reinhardt assisted on the play for the Bulldogs.

Manville chalked up the win in net for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs out-shot Tecumseh 26-6.

Orlandi said Stewart played a fine game.

"Ellen Stewart had a career night with two goals and two assists," he said. "It's nice to know she's only a sophomore and will be doing these kinds of things for the next couple of years."

Chelsea vs. Dexter

On May 17, in a battle of two area titans, host Dexter, ranked No. 4 in Division II, defeated county rival Chelsea 2-0.

After a hard-fought, tightly contested scoreless first half, the Dreadnaughts (14-1) scored consecutive goals at the 68- and 73-minute mark for the contest's ending tally.

Dexter out-shot the Bulldogs 8-4.

"This was a great game," Orlandi said. "The much-anticipated battle between the two premier Division II teams in the area lived up to its billing.

"Both teams had decent scoring opportunities (in first half), but the defenses of both squads were very strong. Dexter had more shots on target, but Manville was perfectly positioned throughout the half."

In the second half, Chelsea cranked up the offensive pressure.

"Midway through the second half, Leah Morrison had made a great play off of a centering pass to get by a defender deep inside the box," Orlandi said. "She was forced to hurry a left-footed shot that trickled just wide of the right post."

Showing the intensity of the rivalry, Dreadnaught head coach Scott Forrester was ejected from the game with 23 minutes remaining on the clock.

With its coach out of the contest, Dexter shifted into another gear as sophomore Caitlin Henderson crossed a ball to junior teammate Katie Daratony, who toed the ball into the open net, giving the Dreads a 1-0 lead, with 12 minutes left in the game.

"We immediately hit desperation mode by putting on another forward and playing with only three defenders," Orlandi said. "The ploy didn't work."

Henderson was able to get through the Bulldog defense and score with seven minutes left for the game's final margin.

"There's a reason why Dexter has only lost two games in two seasons," Orlandi said. "They make very few mistakes, but they're beatable. We had a few chances to score earlier in the game. We couldn't finish. If we get that first goal, I think we win the game.

"We played very hard and very well. We've got nothing to be ashamed of."

Chelsea gets a chance to avenge its loss to Dexter, hosting the Dreadnaughts 5:30 p.m. Thursday. The Bulldogs will celebrate Soccer Night. All Chelsea Soccer Club players wearing their jerseys get into the game free of charge.

On Tuesday, the Bulldogs begin Division II state playoff district competition traveling to Carleton Airport for a game at 5 p.m. If successful against the Jets, Chelsea would take on the winner of Dexter-Ypsilanti 3:30 p.m. June 1 at Chelsea.

The district final is 4 p.m. June 3 at Chelsea.

The other teams participating in the district include Tecumseh, Adrian and Monroe Jefferson.

JV Soccer

Chelsea's JV girls' soccer team defeated county rival Dexter 2-1 May 16.

"This was a huge win for us," said Chelsea coach Carly Groves. "Dexter is our biggest rival and we really wanted to win. They are an outstanding team."

The host Dreadnaughts scored first, taking a 1-0 first half lead.

"We then got completely pumped and stepped it up during the second half for the win," Groves said.

Carolyn Olsen scored unassisted early in the second half for the Bulldogs, tying the game at 1-1.

With one minute left on the clock, Brooke Ehman scored the game-winner off an assist from Emily Rabbitt.

Earning the victory in net for Chelsea was keeper Jenna Jarvis.

"She played amazing in goal, stopping shot after shot," Groves said. "And defenders Codie Barron, Emily Harris, Alexa Petoskey, Trish Hash, Corey Block, Leah Cooperider and Grace Biller kept the win for us and shut down the Dexter offense."

The Bulldogs conclude their season hosting the Dreadnaughts 4 p.m. Thursday.

Groves said Chelsea is preparing for a tough outing.

"Dexter is ready for us in our last game of the season," she said. "We know they want another chance at us, and we really want another win (over) them. It will be a fantastic match-up for the last game of the season."

Chelsea finishes seventh at regional

Four Bulldogs qualify for state meet in Grand Rapids

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

The Chelsea boys' track and field team finished seventh at last Saturday's Division II regional meet at Linden.

The Bulldogs ended up with 39 points.

To qualify for the Division II state meet, an athlete must finish in the top two, or achieve a time or distance standard in their respective event.

Senior Ian Girard led Chelsea, qualifying for the state meet in three events. He placed first in the 1,600-meter run with a time of 4:25.5. He also was first in the 800-meter run in 1:59.1.

In the 3,200-meter relay, Girard combined with senior Al Stewart, freshman Riley Feeney and junior Brendan Smith to finish third with a state-qualifying clocking of 8:13.5.

Smith also qualified for the state meet in the 1,600-meter run with a lifetime best time of 4:30.3.

Stewart qualified for the state meet in the 800-meter run, crossing the line fifth in a lifetime best 1:59.9.

"I am proud of their continuing improvement and competitiveness," Chelsea coach Eric Swager said of his state qualifiers.

Though not qualifying for the state meet, the Bulldogs received fine performances from multiple athletes.

In the discus, senior Austin Rodgers placed third with a lifetime best toss of 140-feet.

"He missed the (state meet) standard by a mere 1 inch," Swager said.

Rodgers also paced Chelsea in the shot put with a throw of 44-7.

Sophomore Tyler Ball also competed at the regional meet for the Bulldogs, ending up with a mark of 123-4 in the discus and 41-4 in the shot put.

Junior Jason Ratliff placed fifth in the 100 meters in 11.17 for Chelsea.

"He missed the state cut by a miniscule 0.07 seconds," Swager said.

Senior Zach Gregory also participated in the 100 meters for the Bulldogs, crossing the line in 11.9.

Sophomore Evan Carpenter finished sixth in the 110-meter hurdles for Chelsea with a clocking of 15.5.

"Evan did a fine job placing in this tough regional hurdle field," Swager said.

Senior Drew Wint had a 15.8 time, while sophomore Justin McGrath had a 16.3 for the Bulldogs in the 110-meter hurdles.

In the 300-meter hurdles, Carpenter was tops for Chelsea with a time of 42.2. Wint was close behind with a 42.7.

In sprints, senior Sam Boyce finished the 200 meters in 24.4 for the Bulldogs.

In the 400-meter run, freshman Kevin Rosentreter stopped the clock in 53.6, while Boyce had a time of 54.5.

Girard had a 10:08, while Smith a 10:09 in the 3,200-meter run for Chelsea.

Junior Danny Ngo led the Bulldogs in the long jump with a leap of 18-10, while teammate junior Antwan McClendon recorded a length of 18-9.

In the 1,600-meter relay, the Chelsea group of Stewart, McClendon, Rosentreter and Wint finished with a time of 3:38.5.

Ngo, Ratliff, Gregory and McClendon combined for a 1:34.5 in the 800-meter relay.

Ngo, Ratliff, Rosentreter and Gregory stopped the clock in 45.3 in the 400-meter relay.

"Our sprint relays had their best times of the season, and several other runners continue to improve, which is quite encouraging," Swager said. "We now focus on the SEC (Southeastern Conference) meet on Wednesday (May 24), where we still have an outside shot at the league title."

The Bulldogs next travel to Jackson to participate in the Selby Invitational Tuesday.

On June 3, Chelsea's state qualifiers will compete in the Division II state meet in Grand Rapids at noon.

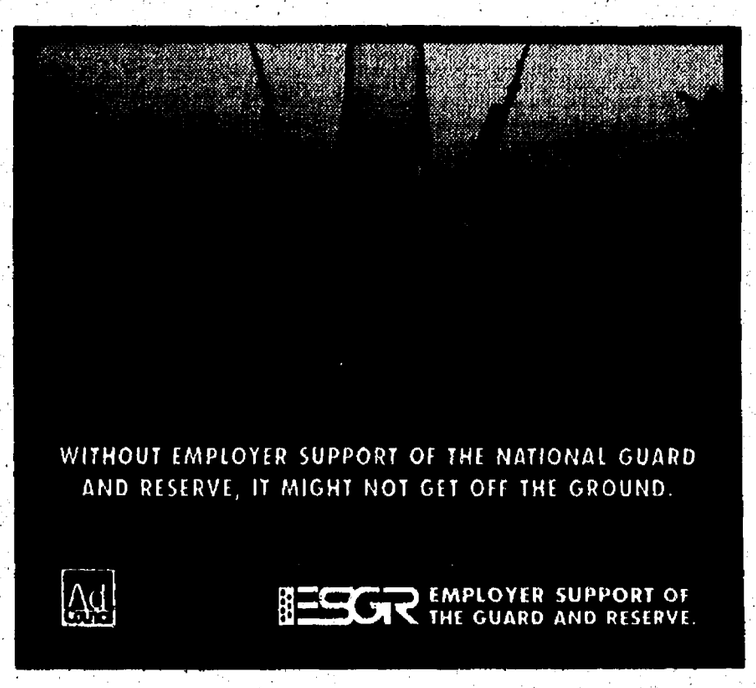

"I look forward to celebrating the season's successes at the state meet," Swager said.

The Chelsea boys' tennis team captured the state Division III regional at Riverview last Saturday.

The Bulldogs, who won the regional crown for the fourth consecutive year, dominated the competition last Saturday, winning seven of eight flights and finishing with 31 out of a possible 32 points.

"It was a good day for the program, even though we battled rain most of the morning," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter. "This is the fifth year in a row we are going to states."

With its victory, Chelsea qualified for the Division III state match June 2 through 3 at Kalamazoo College.

Last season, the Bulldogs placed 16th at the Division II state final match with three points. Okemos won the state championship with 32 points.

In singles play, Chelsea's Josh Stiles defeated Carleton Airport's Clemens Engelhard 6-2, 6-2 in the No. 1 flight title match. Engelhard entered the match undefeated.

"That was the best match of the day," Rosentreter said.

At No. 2 singles, Bulldog Reece Hammer prevailed 6-3, 5-7 (10-5) earning the regional championship.

At No. 3 singles, Chris Tapping finished first for Chelsea, while Steve Tapping won the No. 4 singles crown for the Dawgs.

In doubles play, the Chelsea No. 1 duo of George Merkel and Mike Deis lost in the final 6-2, 6-1.

Eric Dudek and Chris LaDuke won 6-3, 6-2 in the championship of the No. 2 flight for the Bulldogs. Dudek and LaDuke lost only 10 games the entire tournament en route to the title.

Chelsea's Sean Dzobel and Dolan Personke captured a regional title at No. 3 doubles, winning 6-3, 6-3.

The Bulldog twosome of Kyrt Olejniczak and Wesley Fritzemeier prevailed 6-2, 7-5 in the No. 4 doubles final.

Chelsea Teddy Bear Co. opens new factory

Bear Hug Benefit to be held June 2, grand opening set June 3

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

If you want to see what 100,000 teddy bears looks like, you might want to stop by the Chelsea Teddy Bear Co. for a tour of its new 30,000-square-foot facility.

The business moved its operations within the historic Clock Tower Complex in downtown Chelsea several weeks ago.

"We quietly opened. We didn't tell anybody, you know — just kind of opened the doors and we've been setting it up as we go," said company owner Bob Turner. "There's a lot of work that still has to be done."

But next week, the Chelsea Teddy Bear Co. will be making a little more noise with its grand-opening celebration. The company is planning an invitation-only Bear Hug Benefit for Children June 2 and will celebrate its grand opening with the public June 3. The June 3 event will include free food and soft drinks, entertainment for kids, door prizes, and a behind-the-scenes tour of the factory.

Anyone who takes the tour will be able to see just what 100,000 teddy bears looks like. From the new 3,500-square-foot retail store, visitors can look through a window into the warehouse floor, where literally 100,000 teddy bears are boxed and ready for shipment.

"It's bears, floor to ceiling, all the way back. It's 30,000 square feet full of bears," Turner said.

The new retail store, open every day of the week, is stocked with teddy bears and clothing that visitors can pick out. Turner said no teddy bear leaves the Chelsea Teddy Bear Co. unclothed.

The retail store also features a 7-foot tall grizzly bear, panels offering the history of teddy bears and facts about real bears, and a display of bears created by artists.

"There's a whole culture of people who are bear artists and they design unique, one-of-a-kind bears," Turner said.

One artist creates Founding Fathers bears, designing teddy bears dressed up as Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin. Turner said the bears are a great way to teach children a little bit of history.

And for those who want to get a behind-the-scenes look, the company offers factory tours at 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Saturdays, and for groups by appointment during the week. But residents could soon see tours offered throughout the week, as well.

"Depending on the success and how quickly the word gets out, we may have (tours) every day of the week during the summer, at least," Turner said.

Those taking the tour may be surprised to learn that the Chelsea Teddy Bear Co.'s single largest customer is the U.S. Navy. The local company actually sells teddy bears to all branches of the U.S. military. The bears are sold wearing military outfits, such as sailor suits, and shipped to military bases around the world, where they are typically purchased by soldiers at the base store and sent back to a loved one in the United States.

"Our bears are really well traveled, better than most people," Turner said, explaining that the bears are manufactured in China, shipped to Chelsea where they are clothed and then shipped overseas to military bases.

Turner is hoping the tours will become a regional attraction. He noted that one of Vermont's top tourist attractions is the Vermont Teddy Bear Factory tour.

"People love this stuff. They love to learn while they're vacationing. They love to check things like that out," Turner said. "We think this is going to be a huge draw, regionally. We think in the whole Midwest, people will be coming here to see this because it's cool."

Turner said the larger facility has changed operations at the Chelsea Teddy Bear Co.

"It really allows us to bring our factory tour to a new level," Turner said. "You never saw this in our old facility. You saw our office, but our warehouse and production facility was over in the Chelsea Industrial Park.

"Before when you took the tour, you'd learn about bears, you'd learn something about the business, but here you get to really see it."

One attraction visitors may really enjoy is the opportunity to design their own teddy bear.

"One of the contests we're going to run this year is to give people a chance to design their own bear," Turner said. "We'll pick the winner. It could be a kid's drawing, it could be an adult's design — something that grabs us in some way."

Whoever's design is chosen, they'll have the opportunity to sit down with teddy bear artists at the Chelsea Teddy Bear Co. to finalize the design before the new bear becomes part of the company's line of teddy bears.

"We wanted to do that beeause it emphasizes to visitors through the contest that design is an important part of bear manufacturing — the most important part — and all that's done here in Chelsea. So, people can be part of that," Turner said.

The Chelsea Teddy Bear Co., 400 N. Main St., is open weekdays and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sundays from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Pizza place moves

Ollie's changes name, moves to Main Street in Chelsea

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

Ollie's Main Street Pizza has moved to a new location and is now called Main Street Pizza and Grinders.

The popular pizza place, formerly located at the Arctic Arena, 501 Coliseum Drive, opened this week at 1250 S. Main St.

The name and the location may have changed, but diners can expect the same menu, but with a handful of additions.

Chris Moyle, owner of Main Street Pizza and Grinders, said ribs are being added to the menu, which includes pizza, grinders, and a variety of appetizers and salads.

An all-you-can-eat buffet will feature pizza, salads, pastas, breadsticks and pizza desserts for $4.99.

"It's quick, it's convenient and filling," said Moyle, whose goal is to exceed expectations.

"I've always just wanted to have a pizza store where everything's better, cheaper, and higher than people's expectations," he said.

The restaurant opened Monday and now features pizza cooked in an old-fashioned stone oven.

"It'll give it that texture and taste that people used to remember," Moyle said.

Anticipation of the restaurant's opening has been growing, according to Moyle, who said area residents have been anxiously awaiting it.

"People have been stopping in, asking if we're open yet. It's unreal," he said.

Patrick Conlin of the law firm of Keusch, Flintoft and Conlin, a multi-service, general-practice firm based out of Chelsea, now oversees a new office in Dexter at 3238 Broad St.

DEXTER VILLAGE

New law office opens in Dexter

The law firm of Keusch, Flintoft and Conlin, a multi-service, general-practice firm, has expanded its service in western Washtenaw County by opening an office in Dexter.

The firm's new office is located at 3238 Broad St. The office services clients in areas of municipal law; commercial transactions and litigation; estate planning and settlement; probate and tax matters; family law; commercial and residential Real estate transactions and litigation; and criminal defense and civil litigation.

The firm's attorneys are John Keusch, Peter Flintoft and Patrick Conlin Jr.

Conlin serves as the firm's liaison in Dexter. He has a family connection to the community as his father, Judge Patrick Conlin Sr., shared an office with long-time Dexter attorney Jerry Grohnert in the 1960s.

"This is an exciting expansion for our firm," Conlin said in a prepared statement. "And, the fact that my father established his early roots in Dexter make this a special move for me personally. We'll be able to service our existent clientele better and in time, expand our presence in our neighboring community."

The law firm has served Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester and the surrounding communities since 1905. It was founded by John Kalmbach, who began his practice in 1910, after serving in the Michigan Legislature. Kalmbach represented a variety of clients and commercial interests in Chelsea, including banking, milling, manufacture and trade.

Keusch, a native of Chelsea and graduate of the 1933 Michigan Law School, initially served as an assistant attorney general to the U.S. Department of Interior. In 1937, Keusch returned to Chelsea to take over the practice, and he continues to this date with the firm and is the longest practicing attorney in the state of Michigan.

In December 1968, Flintoft, also a Chelsea native and a graduate of Northwestern University and the Michigan Law School, joined the firm as the name changed to firm of Keusch & Flintoft.

Conlin of Ann Arbor and Chelsea, a graduate of Notre Dame and Wayne State universities, joined in 1998.

CHELSEA

Chelsea bank staying put

Chelsea State Bank plans to keep its presence in downtown Chelsea at its current location of 305 S. Main St.

The announcement was made by Bank President and CEO John Mann, who said he was putting to rest rumors that the bank was consolidating its offices in Chelsea to its 1010 S. Main St. headquarters.

"When the story broke about the city of Chelsea and the bank discussing the possibility of the city either taking more space in our downtown branch, or buying the building from us, many of our customers called with concern that we were going to close that office," Mann said in a prepared statement.

"We want to assure our customers, including our downtown merchant base and those who have safe deposit boxes at that location, that we plan to maintain an office there, even if the city offices expand."

The story, "City considers building purchase" in the May 11 Chelsea Standard, reported that the city had expressed interest in buying the downtown bank branch and the former office building of Edward Surovell at the corner of Summit and Main streets, which borders the bank's parking lot. Chelsea State Bank purchased the Surovell office site last month.

"After purchasing the Surovell property, we approached the City Council to inform them that we owned it, and that we were open to exploring how the entire property might fit with their plans," Mann said. "Nine years ago, the village expressed an interest in buying the property and we said no. In that time frame, use of our electronic services like Internet banking, direct deposit, ACH, bill pay and debit cards has increased dramatically, reducing foot traffic in all of our branches.

> "We want to assure our customers ... that we plan to maintain an office there, even if the city offices expand."
> John Mann
> Chelsea State Bank

"I told City Council that we might be able to give up some space, but I also said that we were committed to staying downtown, and that relocation of our vault and drive through would likely be cost prohibitive."

Chelsea State Bank built the downtown office in 1968 and donated its former site at the corner of South and Main streets to Washtenaw County, which in turn converted the building into the 14th District Court House, according to a press release from the bank.

The new location served as the bank's headquarters and provided a more modern space and accessibility for drive-through banking. In 1980, the bank built a second location at the corner of Old US-12 and Main Street, and moved its headquarters to that site in 1993.

The downtown branch was extensively renovated in period style in 1997, and the city began leasing space in 1998.

"I just want to make it clear that we have no intention to close our downtown office in the foreseeable future," Mann said. "If we are able to reach agreement with the city, and talk of this is really premature, then we would lease back branch space. Our goal is to continue to serve our customers at our downtown location for another 100 years."

CITY OF CHELSEA, MICHIGAN
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the City of Chelsea will hold a public hearing on the proposed wastewater treatment system improvements project, for the purpose of receiving comments from interested persons. The hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. on June 20, 2006 at the Washington Street Education Center, 500 Washington Street, Chelsea, Michigan.

The purpose of the proposed project is to receive comments and views of interested persons on the Draft Project Plan and the environmental impacts of the proposed wastewater system alternatives. The hearing is a requirement of the Michigan State Revolving Fund (SRF) loan program, from which the City of Chelsea is pursuing project funding.

The proposed project includes: increasing the waste water treatment plant capacity to 1.8 million gallons per day, improvements to the Vet's Park Pump Station, a Sanitary Sewer Evaluation Survey (SSES), and improvements to the sewer system.

The opinion of probable cost of the proposed project is $15,415,000. It is anticipated that implementation of the proposed project will require an increase to user rates and will be discussed at the Public Hearing. Since this is not a special assessment project, bond payments for this project will be made using the current sewer rate fee structure.

Copies of the plan detailing the proposed project will be available for public inspection 30 days prior to the public hearing at the Chelsea City Hall, 305 South Main Street, Suite 100, Chelsea, Michigan, 48118.

Written comments received through June 20, 2006 will be entered into the public hearing record and should be sent to Terri Burtch, Chelsea City Clerk, Chelsea City Hall, 305 South Main Street, Suite 100, Chelsea, Michigan, 48118

St. Louis Center recognizes staff, volunteers

A capacity crowd of 250 people came to St. Louis Center April 30 to listen to Mass delivered by a home-grown priest, eat dinner, and watch tributes to special friends and staff of the center.

"It's nice to give something back to those who give so much to us without ever expecting anything in return," Community Advisory Board Chairman Kenneth Unterbrink of Lima Township said in a prepared statement.

The day began with a noon Mass for those who came early, and was concelebrated by the Rev. David Harvey of St. John the Evangelist in Fenton and the Rev. David Stawasz of the St. Louis Center.

Harvey was raised in Chelsea and grew up as a member of St. Mary Catholic Church. He is the son of Wayne and the late Helen Harvey, and received the Good Shepherd Award from St. Louis Center for his support over the years, as well as the support of the Fenton Council of the Knights of Columbus.

Volunteers of the Year at the St. Louis Center were Chelsea residents Terry and Elizabeth Walch and their daughters, Patricia and Margaret. They are pictured with the Rev. Joseph Rinaldo.

During his homily, Harvey spoke about growing up in Chelsea and his memories of the St. Louis Center, a home for the disabled in Sylvan Township.

"I was here for the groundbreaking in 1960, and remember when Bishop Dearden from Detroit invited the Servants of Charity to come to Chelsea from Italy to start a school for children with special needs," Harvey said in a prepared statement. "Although the bishop is no longer with us, thankfully St. Louis Center is still here, caring for the poor and the needy."

Steve Daut, finance director at the center, served as master of ceremonies for the recognition program. After presentations were made, Citizenship Awards were given out. This year's recipients were Sam Callan of Ann Arbor Fire Protection and Kurt Greaves of Mr. Roof. They were recognized for their help last December in replacing two leaking roofs on the grounds of the complex.

Additional award recipients included Terry and Elizabeth Walch and their two daughters, Patricia and Margaret of Sylvan Township, who volunteer weekly to care for all of the greenery in the front lobby of St. Louis Center. They received the Volunteers-of-the-Year Award.

In addition, Randy Broesamle of Munith was a double award winner, taking home the Employee-of-the-Year Award and the Parents Association Award. A direct care worker with 20 years of experience in the field, Broesamle was cited for his skills as a caregiver, his dependability and his compassion for those in need.

"Randy is an extraordinary caregiver, and he cares for the young men in his unit as if they were his own family," said parent Stacey Farmer.

Service Awards were given to those employees who have recently celebrated longevity anniversaries. Daut was recognized for five years; Annie Hawley, direct care, five years; Robyn Hill, direct care, 10 years; Robyn Raymond, direct care supervisor, 10 years; and Bill Potter, program director, 15 years.

CHELSEA DISTRICT LIBRARY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

SPECIAL JOINT MEETING WITH THE BUILDING COMMITTEE

MINUTES

MONDAY, MAY 1, 2006 – 6:45 P.M.

Chelsea District Library Meeting Room

Trustees In Attendance: Gary Zenz, President; Greg DeGraff, Vice-President; Karen Dixon, Secretary; Carol Hollenshead, Treasurer; Colleen Verge and Kate McAuliffe, Trustees; and Metta Lansdale, Director. Trustee Absent: Ken Klovski, with notice

Building Committee Members in Attendance: Jane Diesing, Co-Chair (presiding); Lynn Fox, Co-Chair; Randy Fox, Leigh Draugelis, and Ron Andrews, Head of Technology Services. Committee Members Absent: Jim Myles, Phil Boham

Guests Present: Mike Truax and Joe O'Neal of O'Neal Construction; Jim Mumby and Gary Sherman of Fanning|Howey; Gary Madej of SME, Soil and Materials Engineers, Inc.

Welcome and Call to Order

G. Zenz called the meeting to order at 6:45 p.m. and asked for public comment. There being no public comment, he asked the Director to introduce the issue for the meeting and the guests.

Construction Update

Ms Lansdale brought the group up to date on a potential problem involving the footings for the peripheral columns that will support the portico on the west side of the building. She introduced Jim Mumby to present the problem, then Gary Madej to explain the solution as recommended by SME and then Joe O'Neal who would recommend cost management of the solution.

Jim Mumby, with support from Mike Truax, explained that backfill and footings for the peripheral columns had been put in during an unseasonably cold December and that a layer of sand had been noticed traveling into the pea gravel underneath, causing slippage of one column on the Orchard Street side, which has been corrected and a potential problem with the footings for all columns to support the portico or canopy designed for the west side of the expansion.

Gary Madej explained the SME recommendation for grout to seal the sand and gravel interface in order to stabilize these peripheral column footings combined with a lighter membrane to stabilize landscaping away from the footings. Ms Lansdale reported that both Fanning|Howey and O'Neal Construction are comfortable moving ahead with this solution.

Joe O'Neal and Mike Truax addressed cost. The solution will cost less than an outside estimate of $35,000 (possibly nearer $25,000), not all requested bids for the job have been received as of this meeting. O'Neal Construction will use the construction contingency to cover this cost.

No Board action is required; the meeting is informational.

Adjournment

G. Zenz adjourned the meeting at 7:20 p.m.

"We hope to attract high-quality artists in the fiber arts, glass, jewelry, metal, wood, sculptures, painting, photography, pottery and mixed media," Market Coordinator Michelle Massey said in a prepared statement.

Applications are available on the Web site www.artmarketchelsea.com.

"Chelsea is quickly becoming known statewide as an arts community," Massey said. "I got involved with the Art Market to help promote the arts and offer a unique venue for artists to sell their work.

"Since Sounds and Sights on Thursday Night is so successful, we can almost guarantee over a thousand potential art buyers to flock to the new market."

The Chelsea Art Market will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Thursdays beginning June 29 and ending Sept. 7 at the Clock Tower parking lot.

Memorial Day Salute

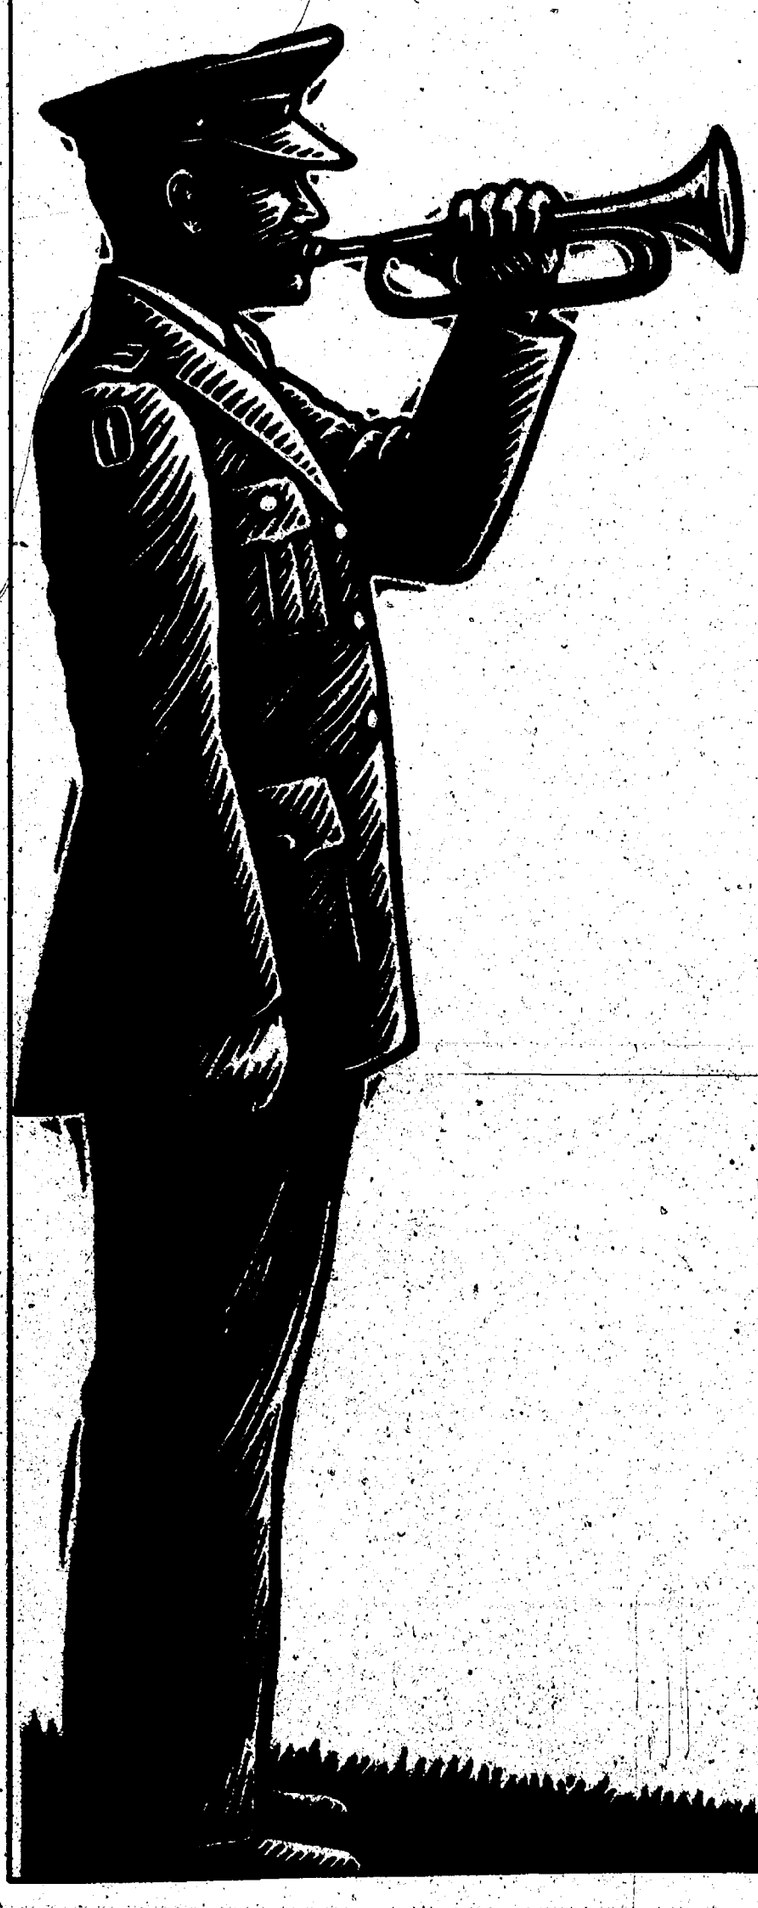

Salute to the Veterans & Honoring our Troops Everywhere

Find the True Meaning of Memorial Day

To some, Memorial Day is the unofficial first day of summer. It's a long weekend that is spent barbecuing on the deck, sunning at the beach or getting the pool ready for the season.

But, relaxation isn't the true meaning behind the holiday. Originally, Memorial Day was set aside to honor those who were killed during the Civil War. Southern states refused to acknowledge the holiday, feeling it honored only the northern Union soldiers. After World War I, the holiday was expanded to recognize Americans who fought in any war. Thus, the southern states were persuaded to accept it as a holiday. In 1971, Congress declared Memorial Day a national holiday that was to be observed on the last Monday in May.

This year, take time out to remember American soldiers. Display a flag outside your home or car, attend or participate in a community parade, write letters to those currently serving in the military or pay a visit to the local cemetery to honor your hometown heroes.

Goodbye tours set at museum

Before the University of Michigan Museum of Art moves temporarily for restorations, the public will be invited to say goodbye to some old friends that have graced the familiar spaces.

The museum will undergo expansion and restoration from June through mid-2008. During that time, the museum will operate in temporary exhibition space at 1301 South University St. In that 4,000-square-foot space, exhibitions will be mounted and a modest version of the museum store will open.

The museum in its present location is preparing for the construction work by systematically removing and securing its collections. The process will begin in mid-May and continue through June.

A trailer filled with packing materials is now situated on the south side of the museum. Lori Mott, the museum's registrar, is overseeing the packing and moving of the collections.

"Everything has to leave the building," she said in a press statement.

Besides Mott, whose job as registrar is to keep track of every item in the museum's collections, eight people are working eight hours a day to pack the works of art. Every piece of jewelry, every painting and the marble sculptures inside the entrance have to be moved.

Some of the collection items are too large to be moved from the museum through its loading dock and will have to be moved out through the front doors. U of M Moving and Trucking will be doing the heavy work.

"We've worked with them so long that they are just about experts on moving art," Mott said.

The collections will be moved to a secure location with climate control. Museum security officers will be stationed there.

Museum staff will be relocated to Rackham, where there will be space for the conservation laboratory.

"We've been planning this for 18 months," Mott said. "There's a lot of pain and suffering now, but it will be so much better in the new building. We will even have a covered loading dock and a freight elevator."

The "Goodbye Old Friends" program will feature docent-led tours through the museum's various galleries. The tours are free and no advance registration is necessary.

The final tour will be held 2 p.m. Saturday.

Demolition derby returns to Country Fest

The Sumpter Country Fest, will host the popular USA Demolition Derby at 6 p.m., May 29 behind the Sumpter Community Center at the corner of Sumpter and Dunn Roads.

U.S.A. Demolition Derby, located here in Belleville is sanctioning the event. U.S.A. Demolition Derby has presented demolition derbies across the Midwest at festivals and fairs for 30 years.

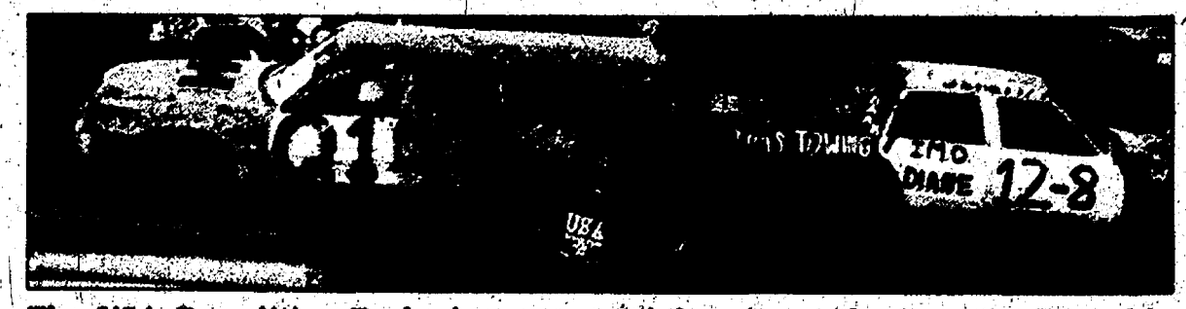

"60 drivers are expected to attend. Anyone with a suitable car and enough bravery is invited to compete," said U.S.A. Demolition Derby Inc. President Ellwood "Sonny" Hall.

$1,800 in cash and prizes await the winners. There is a $35 entry fee.

Drivers are restricted to one car. The car must last through the preliminary heat but must be driven courageously enough to win the breathtaking demo finale.

From the grandstand, most of the automobiles appear to be refugees

The annual Chelsea Memorial Day parade and program will be held Monday. Following tradition, Chelsea American Legion Herbert J. McKune Post 31 will lead this year's parade.

Chelsea-area veterans from all branches of the U.S. military have been parade mainstays throughout the years and are expected to participate in this year's services.

Parade participants will gather 9 a.m. May 29 in the municipal parking lot behind Vogel's & Foster's on Main Street.

The parade, which will commence at 10 a.m., will proceed west on Middle Street to Main Street, south on Main Street to Park Street, east on Park Street to East Street, north on East Street to Middle Street and then east on Middle Street to Oak Grove Cemetery.

At the cemetery, the program usually features an invocation and benediction by a local clergy person and speech by a guest speaker.

A program in the Monument Park gazebo will follow the parade. Deacon Romolo Leone of St. Joseph Catholic Church in Dexter will provide the invocation and benediction. The Dexter High School Marching Band will perform the national anthem and a musical salute to all branches of the military with "Salute to America's Finest."

Washtenaw County Commissioner Mark Ouimet, R-District 1, will be the guest speaker. The program also will include the Sons of the American Legion commander and Ladies Auxiliary president laying wreaths in honor of deceased veterans.

The encampment is held in Riverside Park. This portion of the Heritage Festival is a representation of the historical background of the City of Ypsilanti.

The Ancestors Gathering historical encampment helps the Heritage Festival celebrate times of old. From the voyager trapper, canoeing down the Huron River and making first contact with the Native Peoples, to the establishment of a permanent trading post and eventually to the building of the City of Ypsilanti, which became an influence on the various eras in American history.

The Ancestors Gathering event is looking for everyone, from people to re-enact traders trading or selling goods, to portrayals of the general public of the time. We would also like enactors who can present interesting demonstrations of lost arts.

If you are a serious, historically correct enactor, interested in participating in the Ancestors Gathering event, please contact Jeff at jffadkins@yahoo.com and include a short resume of past camps, your land address and phone number. As soon as we have reviewed your resume, we will contact you with a registration form.

Water Park

When the water park opened in 1991, it included a wave pool, three water slides, an activity pool, a sand play space and locker rooms.

The water park nearly doubled in size in 2003 with the addition of the lazy river, two new spraygrounds, a renovated sand play area, additional restrooms and a full-scale concessions operation. The water park is open daily, weather permitting, from 11 a.m. until 8 p.m. Water park passes are sold at the admissions office beginning at 10:45 a.m. each day. The primary attractions at the water park are the wave pool, and the water slides. The lazy river is enjoyed by patrons of all ages, while the spraygrounds are a big hit with our younger guests. The activity pool is very popular with younger children due to its wide zero depth entry, gentle bubblers, geysers, a waterfall and the kiddy slide for children under 45 inches tall.

Our concessions menu offers affordable, traditional summertime treats as well as a variety of food and beverage items for the health conscious guests.

We offer chaise lounges and sand chairs on an extensive sun deck located throughout the water park and natural shade or shade umbrellas in several grassy areas surrounding the deck. MILAN

Milan Fair on the calendar

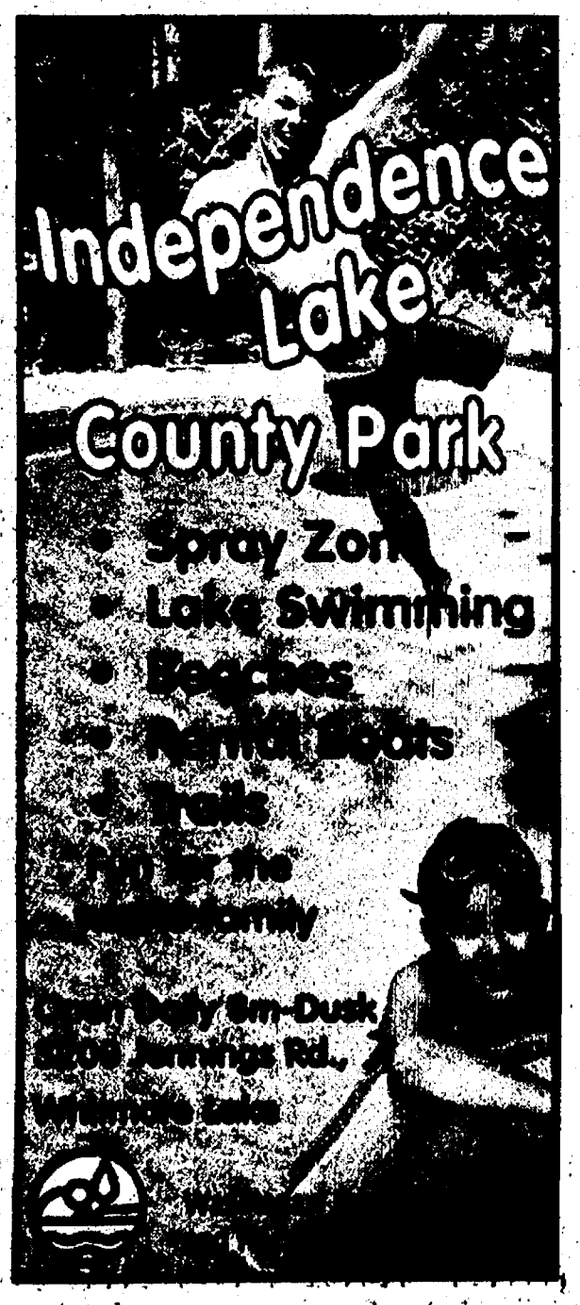

The Milan Community Fair is officially on the calendar for July 6-8 at Wilson Park.

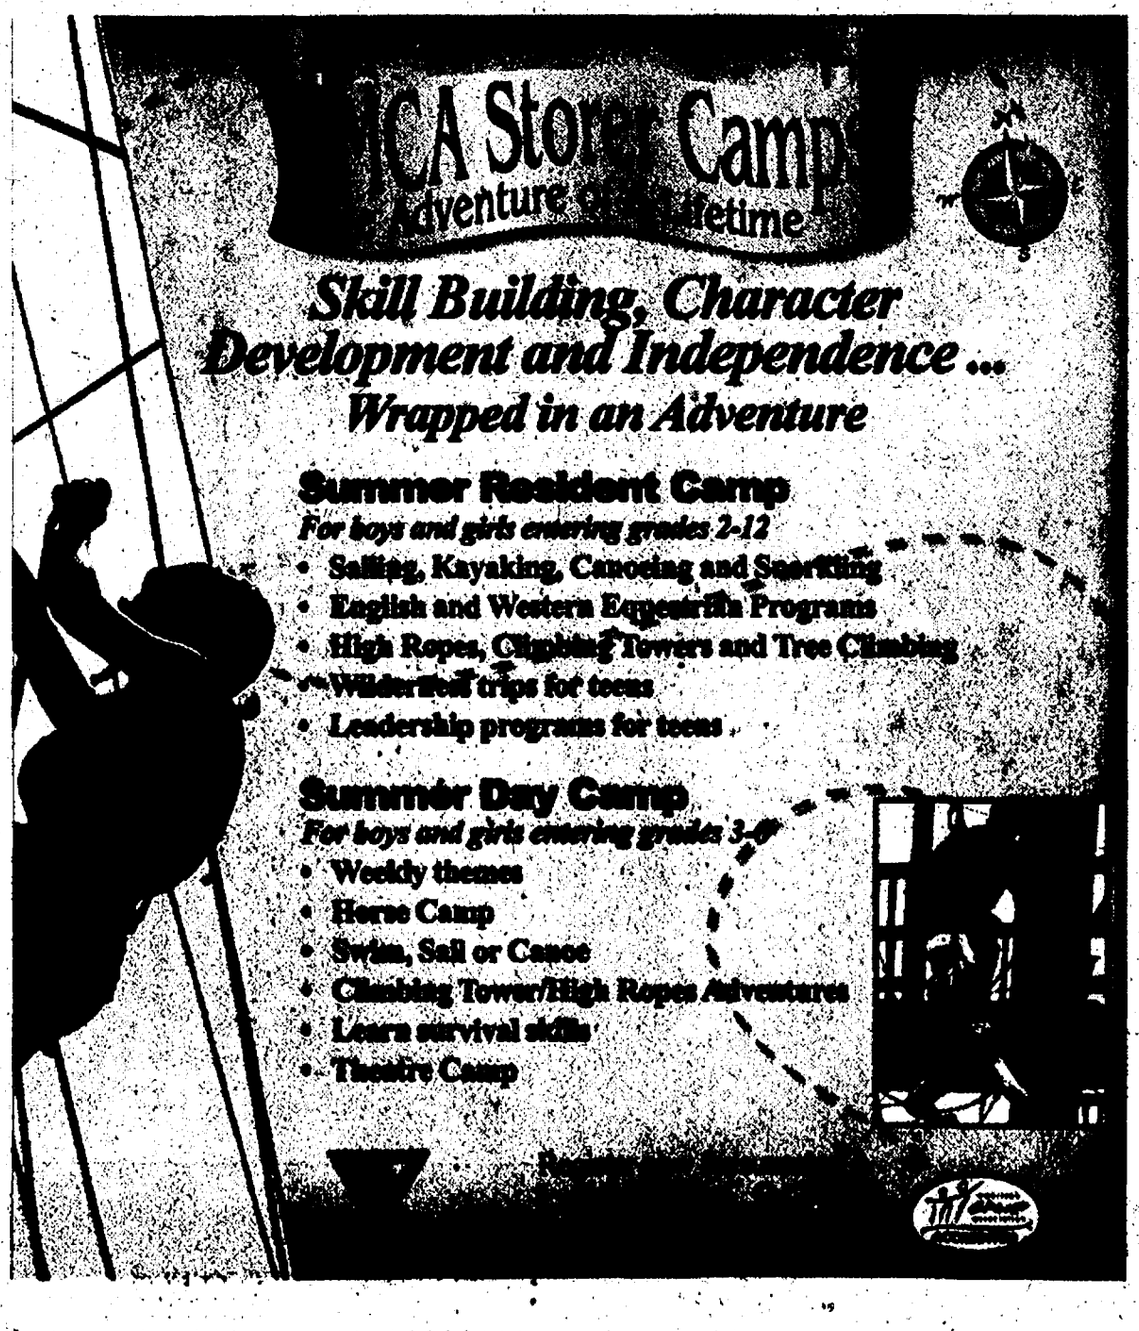

According to Milan Fair Board members, each year the planning for Milan's Fair starts the day after last year's fair wraps up.

This year's festivities will kick off with a parade on Thursday, July 6 starting at 6 p.m. following the traditional route from Paddock Elementary School, down Marvin to Wabash Street, to Wilson Park where the Fair will officially open.

The annual fireworks display is expected to dazzle and awe crowds this year on Friday, July 7 at 10:05 p.m. and provide 30 minutes of thrilling skyline entertainment above Ford Lake.

SALINE

Celtic Festival only three months away

The 11th annual Saline Celtic Festival will take place July 15.

The award-winning community event features three stages of nonstop musical performances, along with the Great Lakes Highland Athletic Competition, bagpipe bands, historical re-enactments, and Celtic merchandise at Mill Pond Park.

Many of the activities are especially geared for children, including arts and crafts, music, storytelling, and games throughout the day on the park's Isle of Children. At 4 p.m., bagpipers will lead the children around the park in the Wee Folk Parade.

Children – and their parents – may also delight in a sighting of Millie, a Loch Ness monster who appears in Mill Pond during the festival, along with her beastly offspring.

As a musical highlight, award-winning fiddler Liz Carroll, Irish Traditional Performer of the Year in 2000, will return with guitarist John Doyle.

Other headlining entertainers include Grey Larsen and Cindy Kallet; Donnybrook; the trio of Matt Heaton, Shannon Heaton, and Laura Cortese; the Chelsea House Orchestra; Fiddlers Re-Strung; Beth Patterson; and the Commonwealth Dance Collective, a collaboration of Michigan step-dancers and musicians.

Saline's own homegrown folk duo, Faileas, will also perform. Jessie Nieves, a Saline High School alumnus, joins Zak Read, a current SHS student, in this up-and-coming act.

Pipe bands from throughout the region will play solo and en masse.

Throughout the day, field entertainers dressed in full armor and other medieval garb will treat festival-goers to stunts and demonstrations, soldiers fencing, and ladies engaged in medieval crafts. Among the popular historical re-enactment troops returning this year are the Society for Creative Anachronism, McFarlane's Company, and Saline Area Players.

The Festival will also host the Great Lakes Highland Athletic Championship, in which professional and amateur athletes compete for prizes and honors in sanctioned tests such as the stone throw, hammer toss, and caber toss. A dramatic highlight of the athletic events, cabers are telephone pole-sized logs up to 20 feet long, flipped end-over-end through the air. At last year's festival, two world records were set during the athletic events.

Festival attendees are invited to participate in the Farmer's Walk and Haggis Hurl.

On Friday evening, July 14, entertainers will conduct pre-festival workshops, tentatively set to include flute, fiddle, tin whistle, and step dance. The fee is $8 per person. To register, call the Saline Celtic Festival office at 944-2810.

Workshops will be followed by "Pub Night" in the festival's Red Dragon tent, where musicians will perform and traditional pub beverages will be served throughout the evening.

More than 10,000 people typically attend each year's Festival.

The Celtic Festival began in 1996, celebrating Saline's now 41-year relationship with its sister city, Brecon, Wales. Every five years, about 50 Saline residents travel to Brecon, and on alternate years, Brecon citizens visit Saline. It is the first sister-city relationship to involve U.S. and Welsh citizens.

The Saline Celtic Festival is entirely organized by volunteers, including about 500 who pitch in each year to help with parking, children's activities, sales, and other events. Volunteers work for two- to three-hour shifts and earn free admission. For further volunteer information, call the Festival office at 944-2810 or email celticvol@aol.com.

Saline residents with proof of residency can purchase discounted advance tickets at the Celtic Festival Office or Saline City Hall, both located at 100 N. Harris Ave. Advance tickets are $12 at five other Saline locations – the Drowsy Parrot, Calico Cat, Pasties and More, Lodi Food Mart, and Saline Rec Center. In Ann Arbor, $12 advance tickets are available at Lewis Jewelers, Conor O'Neill's Pub, and Nicola's Books. Tickets at the gate are $17. Children 12 and under are free.

More information is available from the Saline Celtic Festival, P.O. Box 590, Saline, MI 48176. Or visit the festival's Web site www.salineceltic.org.

Also in past years, there has been a 21-gun salute for fallen soldiers and two Chelsea High School buglers have played "Taps."

Parade marchers have included members of the Chelsea High School and Beach Middle School bands, who play military songs, patriotic music and the national anthem.

Local Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops typically march, and fire trucks, classic cars and police cruisers have been staples, as well.

Sounds and Sights

Sounds and Sights on Thursday Nights is held June 29 through Sept. 7, featuring 11 weeks of live music and street performances in downtown Chelsea. For a complete entertainment schedule, check out the Web site chelseafestivals.com. In addition, the Chelsea Art Market will be held the same evenings, from 5 to 8 p.m., in the Clocktower Complex parking lot. For more information, check out the Web site www.artmarketchelsea.com.

Summer Fest

The 34th annual Chelsea Summer Fest will be held July 28 and 29.

Last year, the event included "Articipation," a crafts area for children, and the Motorcycles on Main festivities.

Scott Tanner, who organized the Motorcycles on Main event, said last year that Summer Fest likely met its goal of attracting 1,000 motorcyclists to Chelsea. There were contests and games for the participants, as well as merchants.

A classic car show featured hundreds of vintage cars that were displayed on East Middle and East streets last year. Chelsea's Fred Hoffman, president of Chelsea Classic Cruisers, personally showed off two of his four cars, bringing a 1947 Ford convertible and a 1955 Chevrolet Bellaire.

The entertainment line-up is always a hit, and families seemed to enjoy last year's Kid Zone, with its rock-climbing wall, children's entertainers, bike safety, face painting and crafts.

In addition, Chelsea Farmers' Supply hosted the second annual pet parade last year, and it attracted more than 60 pets and their owners.

Chelsea Fair

The Chelsea Community Fair, set Aug. 22 through 26, is long-held tradition and an event that residents from across western Washtenaw County look forward to every summer.

The fair includes a livestock auction on Thursday night, fair parade Saturday afternoon and fair queen competition Saturday night.

The fair also includes contests for dozens of agricultural products, quilts, antiques and photography, among many other categories of handmade goods.

Highlights include a demolition derby, tractor pull and children's parade.

In addition to the demolition derby, the draft horse show has proven to be one of the most popular events at the fair.

Colors the Clown and the Chainsaw Wood Carvers usually perform, and the fair would not be complete without carnival rides. Rides are offered starting 5 p.m. Tuesday and run afternoons and evenings during the rest of the week.

For more information on events, directions or contest entry fees, visit the Web site www.chelseafair.org.

from the local junkyard. Most, however, have subtle modifications that have taken owners and mechanics hours to put in place.

Wheel wells have been cut for tire clearance and oversized tires may be mounted.

A small armored fuel tank is securely mounted and the stock gas tank is removed.

All glass, trim and moldings are discarded. Holes may be cut in front sheet metal to allow more air to the tortured cooling system.

Hoods are wired shut and the engine is chained down to keep it from falling out when motor mounts snap.

An evening of automotive destruction builds to the highlighted Feature Contest. This event brings an additional prize aside form the night's biggest payout.

That is a guaranteed position in the Michigan State Championship hosted at the Saline County Fair on Sept. 9.

The State Championship will draw several of the state's top, traveling pro drivers to mix it up with determined local drivers.

Admission is $12 for adults and $5 for children. For more information call Sumpter Township at 1-734-461-6201 or the U.S.A. office at 1-734-483-0574.

ATTRACTIONS

Historic site a great getaway

From stagecoaches to automobiles, Walker Tavern stands at the crossroads of travel history.

What was it like to travel by stagecoach from Detroit to Chicago in the 1840s? What attracted tourists to the Irish Hills in the 1920s? Why did Walker Tavern change from a stagecoach stop to a farm, and then become an automobile-touring destination? Who stopped at this crossroads and why were they important to the history of tourism and travel in Michigan? Native Americans, explorers, surveyors, road builders, settlers, land speculators, politicians, preachers, runaway slaves, artists, musicians, writers, bootleggers, bandits, and flappers are among the colorful array of people who have passed by this crossroads. They traveled by foot, by wagon, on horseback and by automobile.

Visit Walker Tavern Historic Site at the intersection of US 12 and M-50 and "experience" travel then and now. Climb aboard a stagecoach and imagine riding by stage twelve hours over rutted dirt roads. Come into the tavern where weary travelers rested from their journey. Read first-hand accounts of Walker Tavern during the first half of the 20th century when popular stories about celebrity visits and murdered strangers enticed motorists from Detroit and other urban centers to this popular roadside attraction. Picnic, hike and relax at Walker Tavern where history hits the road.

Walker Tavern is open Memorial Day through Labor Day and by appointment. Hours are Wednesday – Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Visit www.michigan.gov/walkertavern for information or call 1-517-467-4401. Walker Tavern is part of the Michigan Historical Museum System, a division of the Department of History Arts and Libraries. It is fully accredited by the American Association of Museums. Walker Tavern Historic Site is partially handicap accessible.

Walker Tavern Events 2006:

Walker On Wheels: Vintage Cars & Campers, 10am-4pm, June 3

Southern Michigan's most historic car show takes place Saturday, June 3 at Walker Tavern. Once a stagecoach stop on the old Chicago Road, this 66-acre historic park is a part of the Michigan Historic Museum System. Walker Tavern is located at the corner of M50 and US12 in the Irish Hills and has been a tourist destination since the early days of auto touring.

Classic and antique cars and campers will show off to their best advantage against the rolling hills and historic buildings of this heritage site. Additional activities include a demonstration of car design and clay modeling with supplies donated by Ford Motor Co., tours of the historic park, and a Boy and Girl Scout Pinewood Derby. There will be music, food, games, and prizes.

Admission to Walker On Wheels is free thanks to the sponsorship of OSB Community Bank – Onsted, Brooklyn and Clark Lake, and University Foreign Car of East Lansing.

Walker Tavern Civil War Reenactment Weekend, July 15 & 16.

Step into the Civil War history. Meet soldiers in blue and gray, merchants hawking wares, villagers at work and play. Hear the cannons roar, the blacksmith's anvil strike. Smell dinner cooking over an open fire. Come to Walker Tavern Historic Site July 15 and 16 and experience the civil war era in action. Enjoy living history portrayals of an 1860s village, period farmers market, military maneuvers, and children's games. Visit the Sutlers Row for Civil War souvenirs. Learn about the Underground Railroad. Bring a picnic or enjoy tasty treats from our venders.

For details and exact dates call 517-467-4401 or visit www.michigan.gov/walkertavern.

U.S.D.A. Choice Meats at Low, Low Prices!

We sell only U.S.D.A. Choice Beef, most PREFERRED GRADE of beef in the world! Don't be fooled by a substitute. If it doesn't say U.S.D.A. Choice it's LESS than the BEST!!

USDA CHOICE MEATS

Our Pledge to you...Country Market buys nothing but U.S.D.A. Choice or Higher Beef. U.S.D.A. Choice is selected by the government graders for its exceptional tenderness, flavor and quality. Many retailers sell grade, Select, inspected or lower grades which do not offer the same quality. Also, Country Market buys only U.S.D.A. Choice All Natural Fresh American Lamb which is raised without antibiotics or growth hormones. Never imported New Zealand or Australian Lamb. This means the freshest and tastiest beef and lamb available. Some stores grind & pack their meat at one central location and there is no opportunity to get customized butcher shop service. At Country Market the meat is cut daily and packed fresh right in each stores' meat department...so when you need a special cut just ask, our in-store butchers will be happy to custom cut any cut of meat for you.
