District seeks millage renewal

November ballot to include 0.9283-mill request for 10 years

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

While much has been said about the candidates and proposals that will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot, Chelsea School District voters may be in for a surprise. They will find a request for a renewal of the district's existing sinking fund millage, which expires this year.

A thumbs up from voters will extend the current sinking fund — a school revenue account designated for building renovation and repair — for another decade. The district anticipates additional significant needs in all of its buildings for the next 10 years, said Chelsea Superintendent David Killips.

In the past, revenue from the fund has paid for roof replacements, fencing and sidewalks, accessibility renovations, fire-safety upgrades, parking lot resurfacing and restroom renovations. "We have a responsibility to maintain our facilities," Killips said. "The ongoing maintenance is an expensive endeavor as our school buildings are used by the students and members of the public for up to 16 hours per day."

"The renewal of the sinking fund not only allows us to maintain our wonderful facilities, but it allows us to continue to use our general fund for classroom expenditures. This helps us maintain a quality educational program for our children."

While South Meadows Elementary School marks its 54th year this year, by the life of the district's proposed

Oktoberfest attracts crowd Event featured German beer, kids' activities

By Rita Fischer
Special Writer

The third annual Oktoberfest celebration Saturday in Chelsea turned out to be a hit, with an estimated 800 people attending the event.

The event featured food, drinks, live music and family-friendly entertainment in an area set up behind Chelsea Lanes. More families came out to the event than last year and enjoyed the great weather, according to the Chelsea Retail Advisory Committee, which coordinated the event.

"This is our first year here and we had a great time," said Catherine Knight, who attended Oktoberfest with her son. "My son liked to decorate the pumpkins and then he held the baby bunnies."

Among the food offerings were gourmet hot dogs from Scoopies Cafe, authentic German food by Thompson's and an ice cream sundae bar from Zou Zou's. In addition, a beer tent with a variety of domestic and German beers was provided.

Family activities included pumpkin painting and It's not just about coffee @

At first glance, you may not expect anything out of the ordinary from Dexter's Foggy Bottom Coffee House; from the road, its small and humble facade says it's just another place to get a cup of Joe.

But once you open the doors, Foggy Bottom becomes far more than an ordinary coffee shop. Those who have been know that inside is a veritable treasure trove of life's little pleasures that have slipped away in the modern world.

The breadth of Foggy Bottom doesn't unfold until you're inside the building. The ceiling's set high and the room goes deep, appropriately accented by a sprawling mural of the Grand Teton Mountains on the front wall. But the size of Foggy Bottom is kept in check with some cozier elements as well. Comfortable lounge style seating, custom designed tables and chairs, soft lighting and an eternally lit fireplace make the room unmistakably relaxed.

And relaxation is what draws Foggy Bottom's crowd.

Amidst a sea of happily lethargic patrons, you'll mostly likely find owner Doug Marrin mingling in the crowd. Marrin opened Foggy Bottom two years ago with a vision in mind: not just to give people a great cup of coffee, but also a great place to enjoy it. And, if you can break him away from talking with his regulars, Marrin will tell you just how important that is.

"People need to know they are appreciated," he explains, "that they are significant in this world. And for a moment each day, we can give them this."

"Yeah, this is a good business strategy, but at the risk of sounding cliché or even cheesy that's not why we do it. We do this because it's the right way to treat people. We want to give people that daily moment, that escape.

"Coffee is just the medium we are using to accomplish something bigger than ourselves. We've got to live for things bigger than ourselves."

A student, businessman or family could all agree that an amicable ambiance is indeed one of the major achievements at Foggy Bottom. And even better, the coffee is as distinctive as the shop itself. Marrin is relentless in his quest for the best brew. Perhaps the strongest testament to this is that Foggy Bottom's employees fresh roast beans every day right in the store.

"You cannot beat fresh roasted coffee," Doug says, "That's one of the things that makes us so unique."

It's a rare quality for a coffee shop to roast its own beans these days, but Marrin says it is well worth the effort. He compares the difference between a fresh roast and a "preserved" roast to the difference between fresh peaches and canned peaches.

"Preserved coffee will work," he says, "but fresh coffee is 'wow!' The flavors are vibrant and alive. People accustomed to drinking gas station or chain coffee are shocked that coffee can taste like this."

Foggy Bottom's beans are literally the best money can buy, and they also come from small, independent farmers from across the world that have adopted environmentally conscious growing practices. The result is a range of delectable homemade blends; many much darker than you'll find elsewhere. Midnight Oil, Ghost Story, Costa Rican, Kenyan and Columbian Bolds top the list; though a new line of distinguished Kona blends are also sure-to-be favorites.

"We have a lot of fun creating bold dark roasts full of character," Doug explains. "We roast and blend to create coffees of quality and distinction rather than another run-of-the-mill coffee designed for convenience and mass consumption."

"If you are going to be a specialty coffee shop then you have to do things that are, well, special."

And Marrin's customers have noticed the difference. Dozens of regulars will flood the counter each day for their favorite blends. For some, it's the rediscovery of a lost craft.

"The espresso reminds me of what my father made for me as a young girl in Italy," one customer said, "I have never been able to find anything like it until now."

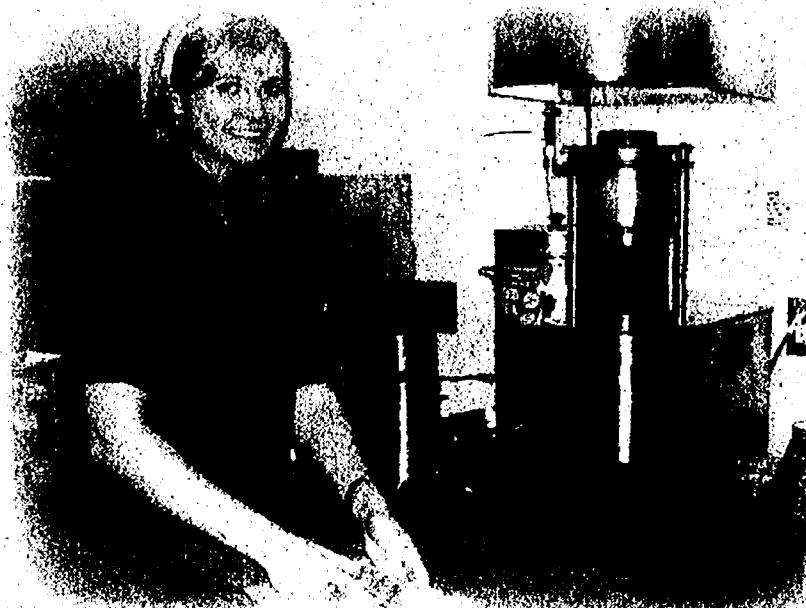

Still, others may not even come for the coffee. Foggy Bottom also offers a healthy menu of soups, salads and sandwiches; all sure to fill you up with top-notch ingredients. Many menu items are also available for catering outside of the coffee house. A full food menu is available on the Web site, www.foggybottomcoffeehouse.com.

Every weekend Marrin goes beyond the realm of food and coffee when he opens a full-sized stage at the back of the building for amateur performers, musicians and singers, and even full bands. And like everything else at Foggy Bottom, this stage was built with a purpose.

"There's a lot of music out there that goes unheard," Marrin says. "This stage is meant for people who may have nowhere else to play."

The stage, indeed the whole building, is even available for private rentals if you really want to rock the Casbah.

Foggy Bottom reminds you that sometimes, the value of a simple cup of coffee cannot be underestimated in this world. But add a stage, sandwich and some inspired service to the equation and you'll remember that, sometimes, a special place to enjoy that coffee can be even more important than the brew itself.

Manager Angie Thiel blends and roasts Foggy Bottom's distinctive espresso blend.

Regulars enjoy a cup at the giant chess board.

Sara Paddock serves up another of Foggy Bottom's signature caramel mochas.

"Talk is cheap. Come on in and have one on me, then make your own decision."

Charity event to support CCA

The Chelsea Center for the Arts will host a party for the arts Oct. 28 called, "A Ghostly Charity Ball for the Arts - Life Without Art is Scary Indeed," an autumn jubilee fund-raising event.

"The event will be held from 6 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. at the Chelsea Center for the Arts at 400 Congdon St.

The event will provide support for the arts and cultural programming offered by the Chelsea Center for the Arts, including visual arts classes, private and group music instruction and gallery exhibits at the Center Gallery.

"This year's event is especially important given the slow economy, limited grant funding, increased operational and building costs," said Jennifer Goulet, CCA executive director and event co-chairwoman.

"We hope that the community turns out to celebrate the CCA's role in bringing arts and creativity to people of all ages, and to help us build a solid base of financial support so we can continue to grow and offer new and expanded programming."

This year's event will feature musical performances with a Halloween twist by CCA's own musical students led by Music Director Lisa Hinz-Johnson. Auctioneer Joe Merkel will tempt guests with a live auction offering a trip to Californian wine country, rides on a Bomber airplane at the Yankee Air Force Museum, birthday party for six at the Chelsea Teddy Bear Co., art, jewelry, handcrafted items, gift baskets and more.

An array of art, gift and personal service items also will be offered by silent auction during the event.

Guests are encouraged to come in costume and a contest will be held to recognize the most creative costumes.

"We've been delighted to hear that people are talking about their costumes and looking forward to a new Halloween party that supports a great cause - the arts," said Diane Kieliszewski, event co-chairwoman.

Socializing with food and drink will begin at 6 p.m.

with the evening's performance and auction activities taking place at 7:30 p.m. In the Pocket Band will perform from 9:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

The evening's festivities also will include a drawing for the CCA's annual raffle. Winning tickets will be selected for a two-night stay at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island and a "Destination Chelsea" package for two that includes dinner at the Common Grill, Purple Rose Theatre tickets and lodging at the Chelsea House Victorian Inn.

A commissioned painting of the third-place prize winner's home by local artist Susan Craig, and tickets to upcoming Music Celebrations concerts are among the other prizes.

Raffle tickets, at $5 each, will be available for sale until the time of the drawing.

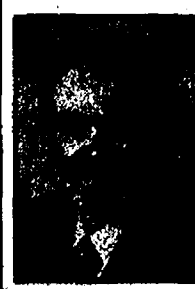

Honorary chairs of the event are Kevin and Judy Gallagher, longtime supporters of the arts in Chelsea and the CCA. With the designation, the CCA honors

Gallagher for her years of service on the CCA board of directors and upon her recent retirement from the Purple Rose Theatre Co.

The CCA will also recognize several artists and volunteers.

The cost to attend is $75 per person. Reservations may be made by calling the Chelsea Center for the Arts at 433-2787.

Garden Club helps beautify community

Fall is a busy time for Chelsea Garden Club members. It's time to continue their civic beautification efforts by cleaning out the old foliage and prepare flower beds for spring.

It's also time to begin a series of educational activities for members and local residents.

The club will join forces Oct. 19 with the Chelsea Center for the Arts in presenting "An Evening with Catherine McClung." Known as a painter of nature and author, McClung will share her experiences of creating an ornament for the White House Christmas tree. She also will talk about the process she uses in her work. The event will be held at the Chelsea Depot. Doors open at 6 p.m. for refreshments and mingling with the program at 7 p.m.

Tickets for the evening are $10 in advance and $15 at the door. For reservations, call 433-2787.

In late October, the garden club will get together to clean up the flower beds near the Chelsea Post Office on Main Street and plant tulip bulbs for spring.

"We have lots of work to do," said Judy Smith, Garden Club president, "but it's fun working together and doesn't take very long."

Garden Club members are working with Chelsea Public Library officials to place planters on either side of the front door of the new library in time for the grand opening.

"We're looking forward to continuing our work at the library," Smith said. "We'll keep something green and decorative in the new planters at the library year round."

In conjunction with the club's goal of providing educational opportunities, the members participated in the Chelsea Art Center's "Open Doors" project to benefit the McKune Library's public art collection.

The theme and design, "Through the garden gate ... read and grow," was conceived and created by Deenie Anderson, Neta Mills and Mary Randolph.

Chelsea Garden Club generally meets noon the second Monday of each month for lunch and program at the Chelsea First United Methodist Church, 128 Park St. Upcoming meetings include a potluck lunch, Valentine's Tea, Spring Plant Sale and family picnic.

Band pumps up crowd

Chelsea Bulldog Marching Band is the center of the school's spirit

By Spencer Gines
Special Writer

What gets the varsity high school football team pumped up and the crowds excited in the middle of the game?

The answer is the Chelsea High School Marching Band, which is the center of Bulldog team spirit.

The band recently played in the halftime show at Chelsea's first home varsity football game against Adrian.

The halftime show not only gives the crowd time to buy food, it provides entertainment for fans.

Led by 17-year music veteran Rick Catherman for the last seven years in Chelsea, musicians practice a lot to sharpen their skills. In the first week of August, the band starts practicing for the halftime show, while the color guard practices throughout the summer.

When school starts, the band practices its set spots, or marching patterns, beginning 7 a.m. every Tuesday and Thursday. The color guard goes to practice at 6:30 a.m. Practice ends when school starts. Later in the day, the musicians practice again in the classroom.

This year's drum majors are Alex Stacey, Emma Seitz and Erik Hohnke. They conduct the halftime show.

This year, the high school band will perform songs from Earth, Wind and Fire, including "Drumsong," "In the Stone," "After the Love is Gone" and "Getaway/September."

"This music has high energy and offers the band a different style than what we've performed in the past," Catherman said.

"We will add visual and musical elements, and continue work to improve our execution, which will hopefully result in a more exciting show every game."

Spencer Gines, a seventh-grade journalism student at Beach Middle School, wrote this story.

POLICE BLOTTER

Chelsea Truck Vandalized

A 16-year-old Chelsea girl came into the Chelsea Police Department 1:30 p.m. Sept. 23 to file a malicious destruction of property report concerning damage to her vehicle.

The victim told police someone had used a key or other sharp object to scratch the paint along the driver's side of the box of her 2005 Dodge pickup.

She discovered the damage 10 p.m. Sept. 13 while her vehicle was parked at Chelsea High School. Estimated repair cost was $1,000.

Police reviewed the school's security videotape, but found no suspects.

Traffic Violation

At 1:05 a.m. Sept. 22, a Chelsea police officer observed a 1999 Chevrolet Cavalier traveling northbound on South Main Street at a high rate of speed through a 35-mph zone and noticed its license-plate light was out.

The officer began following the vehicle and initiated a traffic stop after pacing it at 50 miles per hour in a 45-mph zone between Dewey and Chestnut streets.

The driver, a 26-year-old Gregory woman, admitted driving 45 mph through the city because she was "tired from working all day," according to a police report.

The officer issued the driver a citation for the speed violation, as well as warnings about the license plate light and for objects hanging from her rear-view mirror.

At 1:10 p.m. Sept. 20, a Chelsea Police officer using radar tracked a white Ford Taurus traveling 40 mph on Freer Road in a 25-mph zone. The officer followed the vehicle northbound to North Main Street and observed it swerving from right to left while behind an ambulance near Hickory Street.

The vehicle turned onto Werkner Road, and the officer initiated a traffic stop between M-52 and Waterloo Road.

The driver, a 17-year-old Chelsea boy, had his vehicle registration and proof of insurance, but told the officer he had left his driver's license at home, according to a police report. He also told the officer he was swerving to determine if there was a mechanical problem with the car.

The officer issued the driver warnings against checking the vehicle while it was on the road and for a cracked windshield. He was issued a citation for not having his driver's license with him. The citation will be removed if he presents his license at the Chelsea Police Department.

Missing Property

A 15-year-old Chelsea girl came into the Chelsea Police Department at 5:24 p.m. Sept. 21 to file a report concerning the loss of her cellular telephone Sept. 18.

The phone was valued at $150, and the girl told police she was unsure whether she lost it in Chelsea or while she was visiting Pinckney.

An officer wrote a police report for insurance purposes.

Warrant Arrest

At 10:29 a.m. Sept. 20, a Chelsea police officer observed the driver of a vehicle in the 600 block of North Main Street not wearing her seat belt, and initiated a traffic stop.

According to a police report, a records check indicated the driver, a 23-year-old Whitmore Lake woman, had an active warrant for her arrest issued by 15th District Court for failure to appear in court on a traffic violation.

The woman was arrested and taken to the Chelsea Police Department, where she posted a $225 bond and was released after scheduling a date to appear in court on the bench warrant.

Chelsea police received an anonymous tip Sept. 19 about the location of a man wanted by the Jackson post of the Michigan State Police for a probation violation.

Officers responded to an apartment in the 100 block of West Summit Street and made contact with the renter, who denied the suspect was there. When police told the woman she could be arrested for hiding him, she told officers he was upstairs.

The suspect, a 20-year-old Chelsea man, was taken into custody without incident.

Property Damage

A 34-year-old Grass Lake man came into the Chelsea Police Department Sept. 19 to report that the passenger-side rear window of his 1998 Jeep station wagon had been smashed while parked overnight at Chelsea Community Hospital.

According to a report, the man told police he had been inside the hospital with his wife since 10 a.m. the previous day, and immediately went to the police station when he came out and discovered the damage.

He told police that he had left the vehicle unlocked when he was rushing his wife into the emergency room, but nothing appeared to be missing from the vehicle.

Suspected Drunken Driver

At 12:40 a.m. Sept. 17, a 911 caller reported he was following a 2003 Chevrolet

Blazer that was driving "all over the road and possibly drunk," according to a police report.

A Chelsea police officer on patrol waited for the two vehicles at the intersection of North Main Street and Sibley Road, and pulled in behind the suspect's vehicle. The officer initiated a traffic stop after observing the Blazer drift across the center line several times.

The officer noticed the bloodshot eyes and an odor of intoxicants coming from the driver, a 34-year-old Chelsea man. The suspect was having difficulty finding his driver's license, insurance and vehicle registration, and told the officer he was tired.

The driver was unsteady on his feet when he exited the vehicle for field sobriety tests, which he failed. A preliminary breath test resulted in a 0.163 percent blood-alcohol level, which is more than double Michigan's legal limit of 0.08 percent.

The man was arrested and taken to the Chelsea Police Department for booking before taken to Chelsea Community Hospital for a blood draw.

The blood samples will be analyzed at the Michigan State Police crime lab in Lansing.

The man's driver's license was confiscated and will be destroyed if an unlawful blood-alcohol level is confirmed, according to a police report. He was lodged at the Washtenaw County Jail.

WHO'S WATCHING THE CHILDREN?

The Orange County Register thought its readers might like to know about the criminal histories of workers in the state's day-care facilities. After all, the paper's readers were placing their own trust and their children's well-being in the hands of those workers.

But the state of California turned down a series of newspaper Freedom of Information requests to look at those histories, citing the privacy rights of the workers. It also refused access to its data base of offenses and other day-care center violations unless the newspaper paid $45,000 for the information.

In the end, the Register won its fight for access to documents—which were used to track down the criminals and public court records that revealed their histories. The newspaper also built its own data base from nearly 50,000 pages of inspection and complaint reports in Orange County. These efforts allowed the Register to unveil for the state's parents the uncomfortable truth. Throughout California, thousands of day-care workers had long criminal histories. The results of the data base analysis also showed pervasive problems of mistreatment, neglect, overcrowding and unsafe conditions.

If you lived in Orange County, or any other county with day care, wouldn't you like to know whether the adults your children come in contact with have committed crimes?

Officer should have been considered

I am sure Ed Toth is well qualified for his new position as Chelsea police chief, and I wish him well. But I am very concerned that Chelsea Police Officer Dennis Hall was treated so shabbily. Surely he deserved to have his application seriously considered and to be interviewed. That's just being courteous and considerate.

Unruly fans tarnish Chelsea's image

Before I say anything else, let me make one thing perfectly clear: As an avid sports fan, I love Chelsea football. I spend my Thursday and Friday evenings each fall following the high school teams.

That investment of time should be proof that I write this as a Chelsea partisan. I hope that lends the proper tone to these comments.

As this football season has progressed, on more than one occasion I have found myself deeply frustrated. Not at the coaches, the players or even the referees, but at what I hope is a vocal minority within our fans: complainers.

Game after game, I have found myself gritting my teeth as I have listened to a few fans shout at the referees after nearly every potentially questionable call. My message is simple: This attitude has no place in high school athletics and it needs to stop.

It's the job of the coaches to communicate with the referees. This is not up for debate. If there is a bad or questionable call, a coach will discuss it with the referee. If the officiating warrants further complaint, the proper parties — not fans — will make the proper complaints — not sarcastic insults — through the proper channels.

It's not our place as fans to tell the officials what we thought of their calls. There is plenty of room to discuss the calls with the people around us. There are numerous sympathetic ears at every game. But when it comes to questionable calls, we should keep our voices off the field.

Also, consider the example we are setting for the athletes. They're supposed to play their best regardless of the calls they get — or don't get — and they are supposed to respect the referees as the on-field authority, again, regardless of the calls.

Just as vocal criticism of a coach during a game undermines the authority he must have to function as a coach, so does vocal criticism of the referees undermine the authority they must have to function as game officials. When either authority suffers, the game suffers.

Consider the school and the community we represent. In sports, players and coaches are commonly considered the representatives of Chelsea, but it's negligent not to consider the fans as representatives of the community. In fact, as representatives, sometimes the fans are more influential than the players and coaches. As such, we are compelled to regulate our speech and behavior so as to avoid sully the name and reputation of our community.

Finally, consider our purpose in attending the games. We are not there to be the show or to denigrate anyone or anything. We are there to support our team. Period. Sarcasm and taunts have no place in the role of fans at high school events.

In that light, we would be wise to remember this is high school athletics. This is not a major college or professional game, where one voice blends into the crowd. A crowd of 5,000 is a big turnout for a varsity football game, and the lower-level teams draw even smaller crowds. A single voice can travel at many such events. The words we speak and the attitudes we project are significant.

A significant example of the danger of fan complaints occurred during the JV football game against Dexter. Later in the game, when Chelsea effectively had the win in hand, the officials made a questionable call, prompting an outcry from the Chelsea stands. On the tail end of that protest, one fan shouted, "Go back to Dexter!"

There are two problems with that incident. First, it is ridiculous to complain about questionable calls when the win is all but assured. When the game is in hand, the issue of whether somebody held or interfered or crossed the goal line is remarkably insignificant, even in the small picture of that football game. Such words and attitudes project a cutthroat competitiveness that is out of place at the high school level.

That sort of statement is insulting. It is insulting to the referee, particularly when there is no proof of his intentional bias, and it is insulting to the entire Dexter contingent. Think of the damage done if the Dexter fans leave with "Go back to Dexter!" ringing in their ears. Combined with the complaints of the winning fans, that insult projects an image that most Chelsea fans and residents likely would rather avoid.

One incident from last year's baseball season provides a fitting conclusion. In the middle of the season, the varsity team was playing at Ann Arbor Huron, and both the crowd and the coaching staff were becoming increasingly unsatisfied with the umpires. One mystifying sequence prompted Chelsea coach Wayne Welton to speak to the umpire.

Shortly after that conference, another call evoked another outcry from the fans. As the vocal fans expressed their displeasure directly to the umpire, Welton turned around, held up his hands and delivered a succinct message: "Hey, just let us play, OK?"

An excited crowd is a wonderful part of the high school athletic experience. The atmosphere of a full high school venue, as we had for the football game against Adrian, is among the best in sports. I love the passion we as a community can display on Friday nights, and I hope that passion is never diminished.

But for the good of our athletes, coaches and community, we need to think before we speak. We need to be the fans. We need to let them play.

Byrnes needs to explain her voting record

As a member of Shannon Brown's campaign for state representative I attended a public forum coffee hosted by Pam Byrnes Oct. 2 in Chelsea. I attended the event to personally extend an invitation on for Pam to debate Shannon on the issue of her voting record for public safety issues. What transpired compels me to share my experience.

When I entered the room, I was asked to step into the hall by Pam's chief of staff. He stated that he knew that I was a member of the Brown campaign, and I was asked to explain my attendance at Pam's public forum.

After the forum was over, Pam was approached by a woman who questioned her about literature on Pam's voting record that was distributed by Shannon's campaign. This literature pointed out that Pam voted against grant funding for County Sheriff's patrols, but that she voted for a 10 percent pay increase for Lansing bureaucrats.

Pam stated that the literature misrepresented the facts. The women asked if any of statements on the literature were true and Pam responded with one word, "No."

I was shocked by this response. Her votes on these issues are a well-documented matter of public record. I expected her to explain or qualify her votes, but instead she chose to simply lie about her past voting record.

I then approached Pam and extended Shannon's invitation to publicly debate

Pam's voting record on public safety and pay increases for Lansing bureaucrats. I explained to her that our campaign brought these issues up because they were issues about which constituents of the 52nd District had expressed concern.

I later thanked her for taking the time to talk. I extended my hand to shake and Pam just glared at me and refused to reciprocate. This is not the type of behavior I would expect from a person holding public office.

Not only do I feel that Pam Byrnes now, more than ever, owes an explanation to the constituents of the 52nd District for misrepresenting her voting record, but I also feel that she owes me a personal apology for her discourteous and uncalled for behavior.

Humane societies have two different missions

Please, do not confuse the truly heroic efforts of our local Huron Valley Humane Society, in their effort to save our domestic animals, with the anti-hunting Humane Society of the United States.

The Humane Society of the United States' admitted final goal is to delete hunting and fishing in Michigan. Their action against our recently adopted dove bill is just a way to get their foot in the door.

The local Huron Valley Humane Society has accepted the responsibility of caring for and finding homes for most of Washtenaw County's discarded pets. Lord only knows that they need all of the support and funding we can provide them in their dedicated and endless tasks. My hat goes off to their board of directors, staff, volunteers and supporters of this group.

They are not to be confused with one of the major anti-hunting groups in our country that's leading the fight against the dove bill. The Humane Society of the United States doesn't operate a single animal shelter, and lobbies aggressively to end hunting in America. Their leader believes we should be referring to our dogs as "Canine Americans." Whatever happened to "Man's best friend?"

This out of state organization is the drive and money behind overturning our experimental dove-hunting season.

Please support the Huron Valley Humane Society and its efforts, not the out of state anti-hunting groups.

Proposal 4 deserves support

Voters will have the chance in November to strengthen their rights as property owners.

Proposal 4 would amend the Michigan constitution to prohibit governments from taking private property under eminent domain for transfer to another individual or business for purposes of "economic development" or "increasing tax revenue."

If a principal residence is taken by the government for "public use" — for example, building or widening a road — the owner must be paid at least 125 percent of the fair market value. Such cases of eminent domain could still take place if the proposal passed.

The proposal also would require governments to demonstrate a higher standard of proof that property confiscation is indeed a public use if the action is a move to eliminate blight.

The proposal is the result of nationwide outrage over a 2005 U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

Kelo v. New London, Conn., pitted several homeowners against that city. New London condemned privately owned property so that it could be incorporated into a redevelopment plan. The economic growth the community would experience with the redevelopment, city officials argued, allowed the taking of the property under a "public use" claim.

The court ruled 5-4 that the property seizure was for public use, even though the private property could end up in the hands of a business or a developer.

The court was not asked to rule whether the confiscation of the property was fair. The determining factor was whether the taking of the property was for "public use."

However, the court did leave open the possibility for states to enact their own statutes to determine when and how governments can

Weigh in on Chelsea's master plan

Speak now or ...

Well, residents of Chelsea and its surrounding communities won't have to hold their peace when it comes to the future of the city. No, residents always will be heard.

But it likely would be in the best interest of the city for residents to come to the Chelsea Master Plan Open House, which will be held from 4 to 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Washington Street Education Center, 500 E. Washington St.

The meeting will be a forum for residents to discuss topics related to future land use, development and growth in the city.

Sadly, people often find out too late about developments in their own backyards. Across the country, people often have too little say in what kind of development comes into their towns.

How many times do we hear about neighbors unpleasantly surprised to find out that a mobile home park, large subdivision, industrial facility or, heaven forbid, Wal-Mart has decided to build too close for their liking?

Small, quaint towns such as Chelsea seem to be in the headlines all the time battling corporations in a last-ditch attempt to hold onto their way of life.

But it doesn't have to be that way.

On Tuesday, residents will have a chance to talk to members of the Chelsea Planning Commission and let them know their opinions on what kind of development would be acceptable to them. The meeting will feature maps and interactive displays so that residents can see their options.

For example, residents can let planners know whether they would like to see properties be considered residential, commercial or some mix of both in the future.

Since the last master plan was approved in 2000, the city has undergone numerous changes, not the least of which being its transition from village to city. The city has grown in size geographically, as well as in terms of population with about 25 percent more homes now than just six years ago.

That growth means that the city will have to proceed in a calculated fashion to try and maintain a balance that is pleasing to its residents.

The only thing that is certain is change. Take Federal Screw Works as an example. In 2000, the time of the last master plan's adoption, it was a fully operational factory. Now, it's closed and surely it won't be used as an industrial facility like it was, said Chris Rode, the Planning Commission's chairman. Getting citizen input on what should be allowed to go into that site and places like it are key, he said.

Regarding city planning: "It doesn't happen on its own," Rode said.

the opportunity to restore a 100-year-old ban on shooting mourning doves, Michigan's official bird of peace, by voting against Proposal 3.

Doves are not harmful to people, property or crops. They aren't a viable human food source, but are an important food for our birds of prey.

Studies of dove hunts show high wounding rates for doves and that many hunters just leave their kill where it falls. Shooting them produces large amounts of lead pollution in crop-growing fields and poisons wildlife. It damages power lines.

Shooting these songbirds, for target practice, is not regarded as ethical hunting by a majority of Michigan citizens, including hunters.

Proposal 3 does not address any other issues. It's simply about restoring the 100-year-old ban on shooting mourning doves.

Please join me in voting "no" on Proposal 3 on Nov. 7.

Dove hunting letter deserves response

Kate Hanson's letter (Vote against Prop 3) published Sept. 7 was so full of misinformation it deserves an item-by-item response.

The mourning dove is the official bird of peace. This is the result of a vote by the House of Representatives. It's similar to the Representatives voting to commend the winner of the state spelling bee as the Outstanding Speller in Michigan. These resolutions are routinely voted on to recognize accomplishments such as being the best speller or the nicest grandmother in Chelsea. It's anything but the law of the state.

The impetus to pass the law to allow dove hunting came from Michigan sportsmen and women. As the past president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, I am well aware of the effort made by our numerous take private property. The Kelo case and the nationwide backlash against the ruling led to a number of state ballot questions and new laws further strengthening property ownership rights, Michigan among them.

The state Legislature placed this proposal on the ballot through a joint Senate-House resolution that required the approval of two-thirds of lawmakers. The resolution easily secured the minimum votes.

Proposal 4 would prevent the state or any municipal government from taking private property and giving it to someone else for economic development, whether it's a home, summer cottage or undeveloped land purchased for future investment.

The right to own property and remain safe from its seizure by the government is practically held as sacrosanct by most Americans for more than two centuries now.

Michigan property owners deserve to be protected from seeing their property confiscated and handed over to developers so that someone else can benefit.

Vote "yes" on Proposal 4 in November.

sportsmen organizations.

The so-called grassroots petition drive was financed by the Humane Society of the United States, speaking of out-of-state special interest groups. Its avowed goal is to stop all hunting, fishing and trapping.

The humane society recently affiliated itself with PETA, the group that believes that all animals have equal status with man and therefore none should be killed for food.

Some birds are on the decline because their habitat has been destroyed. As hunters, we all know about our pheasant population. However, the dove seems to adapt very well to changing conditions and is the most populous game bird in the country.

Many game species are hunted on farmland. There are no studies that support the claim that lead has entered the food chain because of hunting. If Ms. Hanson believes this, then she must realize that this would be an argument against all hunting and therefore it refutes her statement that this proposal is only about dove hunting.

The sportsmen and women all recognize this as the incremental approach that the Humane Society of the United States is using to stop all hunting. If dove hunting was as dangerous as Ms. Hanson suggests, we would most certainly be reading about it and seeing the carnage on television.

This is the same kind of frivolous argument that we heard about carrying concealed weapons. Remember all the shootings that would occur up and down Interstate 94?

If dove hunting was dangerous, it would not be allowed in 39 other states.

I am not aware of any scientific study that reports 30 percent of the doves that are shot are wounded and not recovered by hunters. The mourning dove is not a viable human food source. That is just plain ridiculous.

If Ms. Hanson is referring to the size of the dove, I would ask how many shrimp she eats at one sitting? If she is referring to the taste (I assume she has never eaten dove), I can only suggest she should try them. They are delicious, similar to cornish game hen.

Dove shoots damage utility wires? Now where did she come up with that bit of information? If she is really interested in protecting utility lines, I would suggest that she start a campaign to have all utility lines buried. That way, cars and trucks can't run into the poles and we would save untold numbers of lives.

I know a lot of hunters and it's a rare instance when they say they don't support hunting doves. Perhaps Ms. Hanson should site the source of this erroneous information.

Her final point is this is only about dove hunting. She obviously has chosen to ignore the stated goals of HSUS and PETA. This is only their opening salvo.

As hunters, we all recognize this for what it is. This is about hunting in general.

Support Michigan's sportsmen and women. Vote "yes" on Proposal 3.

Proposal eliminates personal choice

In November, Michigan residents who care about personal choice have an opportunity to choose to allow or ban dove hunting in Michigan.

However, residents of Michigan need to understand the dove issue on November's ballot is not really about the doves. It's about the rights of individuals to choose to hunt or not to hunt during regulated and controlled seasons.

For anti-hunters, the animal in question, the dove, is really irrelevant. Their primary goal is to ban hunting whenever and wherever they can, and they have come into this state to do it on the dove issue.

This movement is not, and has not been, a Michigan grassroots effort, but driven by out-of-state anti-hunting interest. The Humane Society of the United States and the Fund for Animals are providing the bulk of the funds supporting this year's anti-hunting activity in Michigan, and both of these organizations are on record as opposing all hunting.

Doves are hunted in 41 states and in all those bordering Michigan. According to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, there are more than 475 million doves, and that is more than all the species of ducks and geese combined.

According to the Michigan DNR we host more than six million doves each year and regulated hunting is not harmful to the future of the species.

Wildlife are more abundant today in Michigan than anytime in the last 100 years because of the progressive manner in which this state has applied science and regulation to the management of wildlife and their habitat.

Recognizing the value of that, in 1996 Michigan Residents passed Proposal G by a two-thirds margin to allow wildlife decisions to remain in the hands of wildlife professionals. That is, Michigan would be guided by science, not the emotions and orthodoxy imposed by one interest group. The anti-dove hunting issue is not guided by science but emotions.

Today everyone in Michigan can choose to hunt or not according to their own values and beliefs. If the anti-hunters have their way, there will not be any choice available to anyone.

Difficult choices ahead for voters

I got a chance to see Dick DeVos at the University of Michigan game this past weekend. I might inform everyone that he is neither a U of M fan nor a Spartan fan. He just was there at the game dressed in nondescript fashion, which surprised me. I thought he would have declared himself one way or the other, rather than sitting on the fence.

I was not impressed. At our after-the-game tailgate party, the election became the main topic and I was asked who I was going to vote for governor. Frankly, I could not answer that question. While Michigan is 50th in job creation and stuck in a terrible recession, our business is doing quite well and I probably have Gov. Jennifer Granholm's taxation and education policies to thank for our success.

So, I was asked to articulate my point of view so here it goes: I run a large service-related company with an excess of 800 employees. In the past, specifically during the 1990s, it was difficult to hire decent employees. The competition for jobs was fierce, which drove up wages, cost of hiring and the cost of retaining employees.

Outside Michigan, our cost of competing in labor markets is high and it's difficult to retain employees in white-hot labor markets such as Chicago, Dallas and Phoenix.

In essence, since the labor market is so poor in Michigan, it helps to drive down wages, which helps companies like ours compete. So, Granholm's poor state economy can actually help some businesses succeed.

Perhaps Granholm can point to this trend in her next campaign commercial? Just a thought.

Large job losses by the Big Three in Michigan will only continue to erode the fragile labor market in Michigan. The only hope is to attract new business to Michigan.

I like the ads on TV by Jeff Daniels promoting business growth in Michigan, my father has even heard the ads running in the Chicago market. I would imagine that if you strike a deal on tax abatement with Lansing that moving your business to Michigan might sound like a good idea. However, without out sweeping tax reform, new businesses simply will not relocate to Michigan.

Michigan's combination of excessive property taxes and the ever-present and destructive Single Business Tax will continue to destroy job growth. My feelings are that DeVos will change the status quo and eliminate these barriers (I have yet to see the plan) and Jennifer Granholm will keep the barriers in place.

In the past several years, I have moved jobs from Michigan to avoid paying the Single Business Tax. Why pay this tax if I don't have to pay it? I think other businesses do the same given the same set of circumstances.

But I don't think Granholm understands this point and will continue to tax businesses heavily. So employers will continue to invest in other states and avoid investment and job creation in Michigan. But I have to say, Daniels did make a nice commercial.

Granholm has raised the minimum wage in Michigan from $5.15 per hour to $6.95 per hour. This was effective Oct. 1. This was the first of three minimum wage increases. I was indifferent on this move even though I do have some minimum-wage employees.

In retrospect, these employees were excited in getting a raise. The problem is that I have the same pool of money to draw from every month for this specific group of employees. Instead of employing 80 minimum-wage workers as I did in August, I can now employ about 57. Over the last 60 days, I have slowly cut the number of employees working in this division. By the end of the month, 23 inner-city kids will be out of work because of this policy.

In essence, this move was a job eliminator, not a job creator. This is an odd policy from someone who is promoting job growth? But the minimum wage increase certainly sounds great in the press. Perhaps Granholm could help employ these kids in her campaign? I would be glad to pass on their information.

Just as Kwame Kilpatrick was voted into office for a second term in Detroit, I think Granholm will be voted into a second term in Lansing. I enjoy seeing Granholm working Kilpatrick for votes. She needs the large Democratic block of Detroit votes to swing the election in her favor.

It was interesting to see that Granholm took no action on the Detroit School System strike that shut down the schools. She probably did a good thing sitting on the sidelines since her involvement or an actual Lansing take over of the school system would be viewed as anti-union.

So at this point, I am still not sure who to vote for in this election; however, a vote for Granholm will mean more of the same and to some people that is not a bad option. Unless you are out of work, then I would think a vote for DeVos would be in order.

Otherwise, when Granholm is re-elected to office for another term, job hunting in Indiana will definitely be a wise move. But that would be a good thing. Think of how much you would save in property taxes.

Deputies support board candidates

Since 2004, the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners has engaged in a calculated legislative effort to reduce the effectiveness of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department law enforcement Division.

Despite the politically motivated efforts, the deputies, corrections officers, dispatchers and support services staff have met the challenge by continuing to provide quality services and protection to all citizens of Washtenaw County under very adverse and sometimes unsafe, understaffed working conditions.

The Washtenaw County Deputy Sheriff's Association is the labor organization representing the 220 non-supervisory employees of the Sheriff's Department. The Police Officers Association of Michigan, our parent organization, represents more than 10,000 police officers, deputy sheriffs and public safety employees throughout the state of Michigan.

It's very important residents of Washtenaw County exercise their right to vote in the November general election. The vote you cast to elect candidates to the office of Washtenaw County Commissioner are most important to everyone.

We jointly endorse the following candidates running for the office of Washtenaw County Commissioner. These individuals have demonstrated solid honest bi-partisan leadership, good character, compassion and a strong commitment to public safety. They are the leaders we trust to act in the best interest of all.

Renier is a good choice for conservatives

Recently, I had the opportunity to meet Sharon Renier, a candidate for the 7th Congressional District.

For those of us who consider ourselves independent compassionate conservatives, Sharon Renier is a breath of fresh air. She is her own person and articulates sensible positions on education, job creation, agriculture and terrorists.

With many of us, she believes that the war on terror conducted by our president is immoral and counterproductive. She has the energy and enthusiasm, which differ markedly from her opponent.

Our current conservative and effective Republican representative, Joe Schwarz, was defeated in the primary with an infusion of $500,000 from the national Republican-based Club for Growth. If you are incensed as I by this out-of-district influence to defeat a conservative Republican, Sharon Renier is the answer.

If we have to cross party lines to elect a good candidate, then so be it.

New advanced portable heater can cut your heating bill up to 50%

Heats a large room in minutes with even heat wall to wall and floor to ceiling

Does not get hot, cannot start a fire and will not reduce humidity or oxygen

By John Whitehead, Media Services

A new advanced quartz infrared portable heater, the EdenPURE® can cut your heating bills by up to 50%.

You have probably heard about the remarkable EdenPURE® as heard on Paul Harvey News and on television features across the nation.

The EdenPURE® can pay for itself in a matter of weeks and then start putting a great deal of extra money in your pocket after that.

And that's just the start of the benefits for the new EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater.

A major cause of residential fires in the United States is portable heaters. But the EdenPURE® cannot cause a fire. That is because the quartz infrared heating element never gets to a temperature that can ignite anything.

The outside of the EdenPURE® only gets warm to the touch so that it will not burn children or pets. Pets can sleep on it when it is operating without harm.

The EdenPURE® will also make you healthier. That is because, unlike other heating sources, it will not reduce humidity or oxygen in the room. Typical heating sources reduce humidity which dries out your sinuses, makes you more susceptible to disease and makes your skin dry. With other heating sources, you'll notice that you get sleepy when the heat comes on because they are burning up oxygen.

The advanced space-age EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater also heats the room evenly, wall-to-wall and floor-to-ceiling. Other heating sources heat rooms unevenly with most of the heat concentrated high in the room and to the center of the room. And, as you know, portable heaters only heat an area a few feet around the heater. With the EdenPURE®, the temperature will not vary in any part of the room.

Unlike other heating sources, the EdenPURE® cannot put poisonous carbon monoxide into a room or any type of fumes or any type of harmful radiation.

For more details on the amazing EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater, here is my interview with Julius Toth, Director of Product Development for BioTech Research®.

Q. What is the origin of this amazing heating element in the EdenPURE®?

A. This advanced heating element was discovered accidentally by a man named John Jones. He had a large old farmhouse that was impossible to heat. Jones had a coal furnace in his basement. Jones placed a sheet of cured copper near the furnace to store it. Cured copper is a type of copper that goes through an extensive heating process to give it special properties.

After the fire went out in the coal furnace, Jones noticed that the sheet of copper was heating his entire basement evenly, even though the furnace was no longer putting out heat. He also was amazed as to how long the heat stayed in the copper and continued to warm the room.

Jones was so taken back by this that he started to experiment. He formed a company to develop a heating source out of

Never be cold again

Cannot start a fire; a child or animal can touch or sit on it without harm this cured copper. But Jones had a number of children and he did not want a heating source that would cause a fire or create other hazardous situations like creating carbon monoxide or radiation. He also did not want his children to get burned.

To make a long story short, through a great deal of research and development, Jones developed a heating source that utilized commercial infrared quartz tubes.

Q. What advantages does infrared quartz tube heating source have over other heating source products?

A. John Jones designed his heating source around the three most important consumer benefits: economy, comfort, and safety. The final development of this infrared quartz heat source cannot be matched by any other heating system in the world.

In the EdenPURE® system, electricity is used to generate infrared light which, in turn, creates a very safe heat. Infrared is the safest form of heat because it does not create carbon monoxide or harmful radiation. And, most importantly, infrared heat does not reach a burning temperature.

After a great deal of research and development, very efficient infrared heat chambers were developed that utilize three unique patented solid copper heat exchangers in one EdenPURE® heater. Over 5 years of research, development and real life field testing stand behind this heat source. It has now worked in residential and commercial applications worldwide for over 25 years.

Q. Why is it that this quartz infrared heating source uses less energy to create heat than other sources?

A. Actually, there is more than one reason. One of the primary reasons is that heat at combustion level, which is what all other heat sources use, causes the heat to instantly rise to the ceiling. Therefore, the heat is not evenly distributed, causing a very inefficient and uncomfortable heat source.

The EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater does not use burning heat. Once the heat exchanger absorbs the infrared heat, it exhales the heat into the living area which is carried by the existing humidity in the air. This causes the heat to travel rapidly and evenly throughout a room.

In actual studies, photos using infrared lighting demonstrated that the heat was almost perfectly even from floor-to-ceiling and wall-to-wall. The EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared efficiency is based on the distribution of energized air, not on just fan movement. This heat is coined as "soft heat" due to how comfortable it is.

Q. What are the other disadvantages of combustion heat sources?

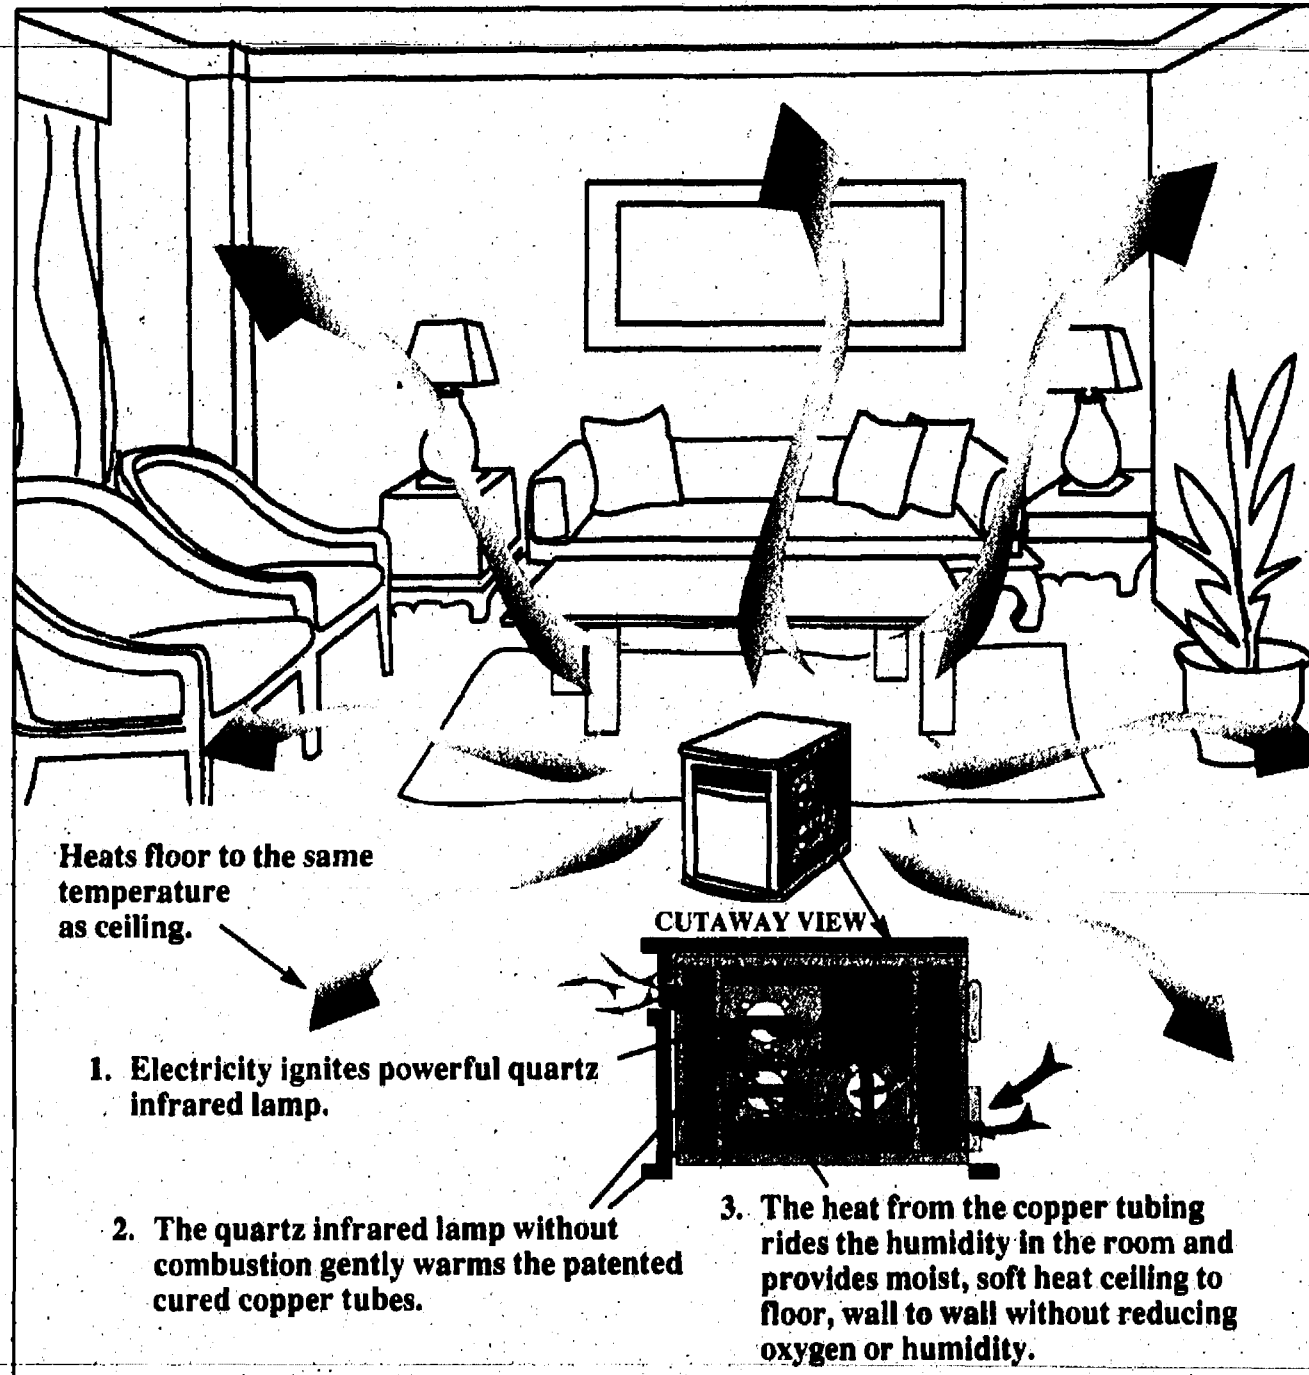

A. Heat sources that are above the burning level have many unhealthy side effects. One of these is that it creates dry, irritating indoor air. It also burns a great deal of oxygen in the air. If you remember, when you sit in front of a fireplace or a portable heater or close to a heat source, you will remember yawning. This is because you are not getting enough oxygen.

This dry irritating heat and lack of oxygen dries out sinuses and mucus in the throat, and makes people susceptible to disease. The lack of oxygen causes fatigue.

Also, many combustible heat sources produce carbon monoxide, static cling, and some produce radiation.

Q. So you're saying that children or pets can come up to this unit and touch it and not be harmed?

How it works:

A. That is absolutely correct. As a matter of fact, pets are actually drawn to this heat because it is a natural source of heat, just like the sun heats the earth. Animals are much more instinctive than humans. This heat not only heats the air, but it also heats the objects in the room. It is a perfectly balanced heat.

Q. How can a person cut their heating bill by up to 50% with the EdenPURE®?

A. First, the EdenPURE® uses less energy to create heat than other sources, but that is just part of why it will cut a person's heating bill. The EdenPURE® will heat a room in minutes. Therefore, you can turn the heat down in your house to as low as 50 degrees, but the room you are occupying, which has the EdenPURE®, will be warm and comfortable. The EdenPURE® is portable. When you move to another room, it will quickly heat that room also. This can drastically cut heating bills, in some instances, by up to 50%.

Q. I also understand that the EdenPURE® produces clean fresh air without furnace filters. How can it do that?

A. A furnace generates a lot of dust due to the combustion. By lowering the furnace temperature, you are using your furnace less and therefore reducing the requirement for the furnace filters. Also, when there's no combustion, there are no harmful fumes.

Q. So, the EdenPURE® is totally safe to use?

A. It absolutely is. The EdenPURE® has zero clearance, which means you can push it up against the wall or furniture without risk of fire. Tests prove the unit does not transmit any energy into the atmosphere that will burn or harm anyone regardless of distance between the person and the EdenPURE®.

The EdenPURE® will pay for itself in weeks. It will put a great deal of extra money in a users pocket. Because of today's spiraling gas, oil, propane, and other energy costs, the EdenPURE® will provide even greater savings as the time goes by.

The EdenPURE® comes in 2 models. Model 500 heats a room up to 300 square feet and Model 1000 heats a room up to 1,000 square feet.

ment, open spaces, traffic concerns and other issues related to city planning.

The state-required public input will ultimately lead to a draft of a city master plan, the first new plan since May 2000, said Chris Rode, commission chairman.

Residents who come to the open house will be allowed to visit interactive stations to look at maps and provide input on potential future development, Rode said. Refreshments will be provided.

The open house is the first step in the process, Rode said. Commissioners on hand will take residents input and use it to draft the master plan. Once drafted, the commission will hold a public hearing before passing the document along to City Council for its approval.

The city has changed a great deal since the last plan was approved in 2000 by what was then the village of Chelsea, Rode said.

Housing units are up by about 25 percent since then and the city has taken on new land that once belonged to surrounding townships.

An evolving master plan is a good way to deal with community change, he said.

For example, Federal Screw Works downtown at 425 Congdon St. was a fully operational factory at the time of the last plan revision. With that plant now closed, a potential buyer would likely want to use the property for something other than industry, Rode said.

"It's just good planning on the city's part to look at the what-if possibilities."

Chris Rode
Planning Commission Chairman

In a case like that, a new master plan could give the city authority over what type of development could come there and what couldn't, Rode said.

Or take the Chelsea fairgrounds, for example. Rode stressed there are no plans to sell any of that property, located at Old US-12 and Chelsea-Manchester Road, but if the Chelsea Fair Board decided to sell its land, a master plan would address whether a housing development or a major retailer like Wal-Mart could build there.

"It's just good planning on the city's part to look at the what-if possibilities," Rode said.

Rode said traditionally issues that come up when talking about the master plan concern the increase of the city's size and maintaining the character of the downtown area.

Residents of neighboring townships are welcome too, he added.

"We recognize that development inside the city impacts their communities, as well," Rode said.

Book store expanding

Cranesbill Books in Chelsea will hold a celebration 2 p.m. Sunday to show off an expansion that features a fuller line of toys and games.

Yo-yo master Zeemo will perform at the event.

Although books have been the main focus in the past, Cranesbill has offered a few toys and puzzles to complement its reading material.

"Parents have told me that they would appreciate our having a variety of games and toys, particularly with the holidays coming, followed by the winter months," store owner

Jan Loveland said in a news release.

"We have worked as a team to find toys and games that are both reasonably priced and fun for kids of all ages," she said.

Other free events will help highlight the changes in the store. On Oct. 28, the store will hold a Halloween party, a Craft Day is set for Nov. 4, and a workshop with Darrin Brege and Karen Bell-Brege will explore writing and cartoon art and the process of making their "Mick Morris Myth Solver" series Nov. 12.

sinking fund renewal, it will be at 64, North Creek Elementary at 62, the majority of the Washington Street Educational Center at 58 and Beach Middle School will celebrate its golden anniversary.

The sinking fund renewal proposal requests authorization to levy up to 0.9283 mill — $0.9283 on each $1,000 of taxable valuation — for 10 years, for the construction or repair of school buildings, acquisition of sites and all other purposes authorized by law.

So what does all this mean to the average homeowner?

"Financially, for a homeowner in Chelsea that has a home worth $200,000 — and a taxable value of $100,000 — the cost per year would be $92.83, which amounts to $1.79 per week," said Teresa Zigman, the school district's executive director of business and operations.

"This is what our residents are currently paying to support the sinking fund, which is presently in place as this tax rate is a renewal, not an increase."

District residents have had a similar millage in one form or another for more than 30 years, Killips said.

In 2007, renewal will generate approximately $787,428. Without a sinking fund, general fund dollars must be used for building repair and renovation needs, negatively impacting funds available for day-to-day operations of our schools, Killips said.

State school funding laws don't allow local districts to levy funds to cover day-to-day operational expenses such as salaries, benefits, classroom materials and instructional resources.

Although local voters approved $28 million worth of bond expenditures in 2004, the community group that met to formulate the bond proposal originally identified nearly $41 million worth of needs. Those needs still exist and can be met with sinking fund dollars, Killips said.

The district has kept a tight rein on expenses, he said, managing to limit the average annual increase in district expenses to less than 1 percent.

The average annual increase in general fund revenue has been 0.37 percent. General fund expenses have increased more than revenue primarily because of increased utility, fuel, health insurance and retirement costs.

"If the renewal of the sinking fund is not successful, we would have to look at our options or a combination of the options," Killips said. "The options would include reducing the maintenance and upkeep of our buildings, utilize the general fund to take care of sinking fund expenses, thus decreasing the amount of money available to educate the children, or go back after the sinking fund at a later date."

Voters also should bear in mind that in 2009-10 the millage levy for the district's current bonds is scheduled to be reduced by approximately 1 mill, Killips said.

Voters can find information on the district's Web site at www.chelsea.k12.mi.us or call the main district number at 433-2200 to speak to Killips or be put in touch with a school administrator or school board member.

Family needs help through tragedy

Dexter Knights of Columbus to host benefit dinner Oct. 28

By Alana West
Special Writer

A newborn's cry fills the living room as his mother tries to talk. It's time for a diaper change.

The phone rings and a child shouts, "It's Grandma from North Carolina!"

Four little girls mill around their mother at the kitchen table, wanting a snack. A box of crackers fills the bill.

"Being a mother is a full-time job," said Debbie Krenzer, mother of five, Alyson, 9, Kailee, 8, Marial, 4, Veronica, 2, and Dominic, 1 month.

These daily chores are routine enough that she can do them cheerfully and automatically, even while trying to come to grips with the drastic way her life and the life of her husband, Paul, has changed.

On Aug. 5, five days after the couple's fifth child was born, Paul fell 25 feet out of the tree he was cutting down, crushing his pelvis and severing his femur.

In the minutes following the accident, Krenzer said she received a cellphone call from her husband.

"He said, 'Debbie, are you sitting down?' I said, 'No, why? Did you put the tree through the deck?'"

"And he said, 'No, I want to tell you how sorry I am, and I love you.'"

Krenzer said an emergency medical technician then took the phone from her husband and told her that it was likely that her husband would not survive his injuries.

Paul was raced to a hospital in Adrian, and then taken by helicopter to Toledo.

Krenzer said that later, doctor after doctor came to tell her they didn't know how it was possible that there was no damage to his internal organs.

"They said it was miraculous," she said.

However, her husband suffered, among other injuries, a hip fracture which is counted as one of the most painful of all breaks, even after the bones are healed. The pain, more than anything else, makes it difficult to learn to walk again.

"He needs to control the pain," she said. "But we are optimistic."

Paul was in the hospital for 11 days. During that time, Debbie stayed constantly by his side, while a family friend, with five children of her own, and expecting a sixth, watched their children.

Family friend Patrice Sommers met her at the hospital on the day of the accident and provided a much-needed ear to listen, while Jennifer Nashif coordinated meals and babysitting for her.

The reason Paul was cutting down a tree, instead of helping Debbie and his little girls for the first weeks of his baby's life, is because they needed the money.

Four months before, he was laid off from his job as an automotive designer at the Lear Corp. in Dearborn, where he had worked for 24 years.

"They sent his job to the Philippines," Debbie said. "At the time, we were sad. We thought that was the worst thing that could ever happen to us."

So, Paul decided to turn his part-time tree removal business into full-time work. On the day of his accident, Paul was cutting down an 80-foot-tall tree, harnessed at a height of 25 feet.

"The tree turned out to be dead about where his harness was fastened, though he was tied below the cut," Debbie said.

The tree began to twist, and when it fell, it took Paul with it.

"Technically, he was supposed to fall under the tree, but somehow the 100-pound rope severed. He fell one way and the tree fell on the other side," she said.

"He said it was the best ride of his life, until he hit the ground."

The couple had kept their temporary insurance, at $1,055 a month, after Paul was laid off mostly because they were expecting their baby's birth. It turned out to be a godsend. Hospital bills, paid for by the insurance, have already topped $200,000.

But there are those monthly insurance fees that they dare not stop paying. There are medical deductibles that must be paid, the mortgage and other bills, and everyday costs such as gas and groceries. Meanwhile the family has no income.

"I haven't had much time to think," Debbie said. "I try to get up before the children and get things done."

She said creditors know right now that they are not going to get paid.

"I have to feed my children first," she said simply.

Debbie, a former teacher, plans to continue home-schooling her children.

"They have had so many changes, and being with mom is the most stable thing," she said. "I feel privileged to teach them. The girls have been really wonderful over this (tragedy)."

Paul recently returned home from a skilled-nursing facility in Plymouth, but faces rehabilitation.

"It's horrible to talk about it. I feel like I am telling someone else's story. But no, this is my scary story," Debbie said.

How to Help

■ A trust fund for the Krenzer family has been set up at United Bank and Trust for those interested in making a donation to help the family.

■ A pig roast benefit will be held beginning noon Oct. 28 at Dexter Knights of Columbus Hall, 8265 Dexter-Chelsea Road, to help the family. There is no charge, but contributions will support the family directly.

Debbie Krenzer and her children have received community support since her husband, Paul, was injured in a serious accident. The Dexter Knights of Columbus will hold a benefit dinner Oct. 28.

The family had moved to Manchester just last year to be closer to St. Mary's Catholic Church, where they feel welcomed and at home. They have attended St. Mary's for four years, running the youth ministry for two of those years.

Debbie said there has been an amazing response of cards from people from the church and community, giving them hope and encouragement.

They bought a house in town near their church, which they immediately began to renovate, finishing the inside just before the baby was due.

Before Paul's layoff, they also bought two rental properties — a duplex in town, and a 13-unit apartment building in Springport that were intended to create a nest egg for the family. Both properties needed work, and the Krenzlers did much of the renovation themselves, thinking that they would get their costs back once they began to rent out the apartments.

However, when the tenants heard about the tragedy, several of them stopped paying rent.

"They said they didn't know whether we were going to continue to own this building, or just give it back to the bank," Debbie said.

So, the tenants decided not to pay.

She said the whole time she and Paul were renovating the apartments, she thought that they were planning for their future.

"But it could have been the worst thing (financially) we've ever done," she said.

HELP

"We've sunk our life's savings into it. It was for the future, for our children. We thought it was going to help." They put the duplex on the market five months ago, when Paul was laid off, but they have not yet sold it.

Because the Krenzlers own these business properties, they cannot qualify for assistance from programs such as Women, Infants and Children. And until Paul has been disabled for a year, he cannot collect Social Security.

"The lady (at the Social Security office) said, 'Plan on losing everything,'" Debbie said.

A trust fund for the Krenzer family has been set up at United Bank and Trust for those interested in making a donation to help the family.

In addition, a pig roast benefit will be held beginning noon Oct. 28 at Dexter Knights of Columbus Hall, 8265 Dexter-Chelsea Road, to help the family. There is no charge, but contributions will help the Krenzlers.

JEFF DANIELS GETS

Romantic

Actor-writer pens 'Escanaba in Love'

By Sandi Kasha
Staff Writer

Nothing beats the original, but actor and writer Jeff Daniels isn't afraid to give up the good for the great.

The Purple Rose Theatre in Chelsea kicked off its 55th play Sept. 28 with "Escanaba in Love," Daniels' follow-up to "Escanaba in Da Moonlight." The play is expected to run through Dec. 23.

Daniels' 11th play is set at the Soady deer camp in northern Michigan a n ' s Escanaba during World War II, where the history of the S o a d y family is explained w h e n Albert Soady Jr. falls in love with Big Betty Baloo. Daniels said he d i d n ' t intend on writing a follow-up to "Escanaba in Da Moonlight."

"Moonlight was written as a stand-alone play," he said. "I thought to myself, 'Are there elements of the play that I can go back and expand on?'"

Finding something to expand upon wasn't difficult, and Daniels said he's already thinking about the third in the series, which probably will come to fruition in about five years.

The Chelsea native prepared for the script by researching World War II in Michigan and interviewing people who lived in the area at the time.

"I kept saying to myself, 'Get it right. Get it authentic,'" he said.

Daniels did the same with "Moonlight."

"My wife's family has a hunting camp in Big Bay and I did lots of research when I accompanied them," he said. "I basically wanted to write a buck story that will be a buck story that beats them all."

Daniels, ironically, isn't a hunter nor does he have the desire to become one.

"I don't have that kind of patience," he said. "I love venison. I just don't want to sit in a tree and wait."

Despite his lack of hunting experience, Daniels seemed to capture the outdoor sport and Yooper dialogue of "Moonlight" with ease.

When a freshman effort is exceptional, the sophomore effort can be either disappointing or even better than the first. Daniels said he isn't nervous about the new play and what critics think of it.

"I'm about 10 years smarter as a writer," he said. "I don't let things like that get to me. I've learned to let it go."

Daniels finds writing to be a challenge, but loves the process.

"How do you grab an audience?" he asked.

Impressive ticket sales and sold-out shows convey that this Chelsea native, indeed, has captured his audience's attention.

Role Playing

Daniels clearly loves to work. Going from a 1973 Chelsea High School graduate to a stage actor in New York to securing film work alongside top-notch actors to a family man living in Chelsea and running a theater company without ending up in rehab, the tabloids or prison is quite an accomplishment.

Strumming his guitar on the couch in his dimly-lit theater office on Park Street, one wouldn't get the sense that he is a Hollywood player. Daniels has his feet planted firmly on Michigan ground and shrugs off the occasional rainy, muggy weather.

"I love Michigan," he said. "I don't think there's anywhere else I want to settle. Home's here."

Posters promoting his early stage work in New York with the Circle Repertory Company are hung like medals over his desk.

Daniels moved to New York in 1976 to join the company that employed the likes of William Hurt, Christopher Reeve and Pulitzer Prize-winning writer Lanford Wilson.

"It was an experience that changed me," Daniels said, pointing to the posters. "I grew up artistically and learned a lot from the people I worked with."

Daniels then started landing TV work, making his first appearance on "Hawaii Five-0."

Those were just baby steps until he decided to take a bigger leap in 1983, working with Jack Nicholson and Shirley MacLaine in "Terms of Endearment." Two years later, he landed the lead in Woody Allen's "The Purple Rose of Cairo."

Working with Allen in his first big movie role had such a profound and inspiring effect on Daniels that he named his theater after his first film break.

Purple Rose Theatre was formerly an abandoned garage that needed care, said Alan Ribant, managing director of the theater. In 1991, the renovated space opened its doors, making Chelsea a cultural pit stop.

"Jeff wanted to repay the community by opening up the theater," said Ribant.

Purple Rose has nurtured Daniels' writing skills. He generally writes one play each year, with every script taking about 10 months to complete.

Daniels completed "Escanaba in Love" while shooting the film "RV" with Robbin Williams in Vancouver, British Columbia, in the summer of 2005.

"I've learned to give myself deadlines because once I decide it needs to be finished, I chain myself to a chair and just finish it," he said. "The days I had off from shooting, I locked the door of my trailer and gave myself a Sept. 1 deadline."

And he reached his goal.

Daniels makes multitasking seem effortless as he discusses his well-rounded body of work, which has saved him from being type cast for every film. He's shot three movies in the past eight months.

Daniels particularly enjoys comedy because he "doesn't like to cry for the entire day."

"I love comedy, even though it's hard," he said. "The timing and delivery of lines are crucial and you don't have an audience to know if a line's working."

Despite having writing and directing credits under his belt, Daniels said he loves being a film actor above all things.

"I don't really care for directing," he said, shrug-

Jake Christensen and Charlyn Swarthout play sweethearts Albert Soady Jr. and Big Betty Baloo in "Escanaba in Love."

ging. "I could care less for the process. I love acting. At least between action and cut, I love it."

Daniels cites an intense scene with Laura Linney in "The Squid and the Whale" as an example of why he enjoys the craft so much.

"The emotional ping-pong back and forth with Laura is why I love acting," he said.

Daniels' passion for his craft speaks volumes through his theater work and his ability to easily move from stage to television to the big screen.

Sweetest Day

October 21st

Origins and Facts About Sweetest Day

Observed the 3rd Saturday in the month of October, Sweetest Day observance originated in Cleveland in 1922. Herbert Birch Kingston, a philanthropist and candy company employee wanted to bring happiness into the lives of orphans, shut-ins and others who were forgotten. With the help of friends, he began to distribute candy and small gifts to the underprivileged. On the first Sweetest Day, movie star Ann Pennington presented 2,200 Cleveland newspaper boys with boxes of candy to express gratitude for their service to the public.

Another popular movie star, Theda Bara, distributed 10,000 boxes of candy to people in Cleveland hospitals and also gave candy to all who came to watch her film in a local theater.

Primarily a regional observance celebrated in the Great Lakes region and the Northeast, Sweetest Day is gradually spreading to other areas of the country. People tend to take the Sweetest Day tradition with them when they move. Ohio is the top state for Sweetest Day sales, followed by Michigan and Illinois. Texas, California and Florida are among the top 10 states in sales.

Over the years, Sweetest Day has evolved into a time to express romantic love and also to show appreciation to friends.

Bulldogs fourth at Portage invite

Chelsea squad's toughness and focus continues to impress

By Don Richter

Despite a large and talented field, the Chelsea boys' cross country team distinguished itself as one of the best in the state finishing fourth overall in the Division II race at the prestigious Portage Invitational last Saturday.

The Bulldogs ended up with 199 points.

Winning the 38-team meet was Grand Rapids Forest Hills Eastern with 128 points.

Placing second was Three Rivers with 156 points, followed by Caledonia in third place with 192 points and Sturgis fifth with 223 points.

"This is the most competitive regular season meet in the state," said Chelsea coach Eric Swager. "To finish fourth out of 38 is outstanding. This group continues to impress me with their toughness and focus."

Leading Chelsea individually was senior Brendan Smith, who finished third overall with a lifetime best clocking of 16:06. With his time, Smith now ranks among the best the Bulldogs have ever produced.

"Brendan Smith is now among the top five fastest Chelsea runners of all time," Swager said.

Jeff Squires crossed the line 26th in a lifetime best 16:58, while Teddy Eyster was 47th in a lifetime best 17:10 and Nick Huehle 58th in a lifetime best 17:19 for Chelsea.

Sean Ciaccio ended up 65th in a lifetime best 17:22, while Peter Wilke was 109th in a lifetime best 17:55 and Nick Hewitt 148th in 18:17 for the Bulldogs.

"Having a fifth runner under 17:25 is a feat few Chelsea squads have ever accomplished," Swager said. "We talked about mental preparation and racing strategy this week and it worked well."

Swager praised many of his runners last Saturday.

"Jeff Squires has the ability to extend his kick and once again moved up dramatically in the last 800 meters," he said. "Teddy Eyster and Nick Huehle are very hard workers and the results are starting to show. Sean Ciaccio is just learning how to race and I am pleased with his effort."

In the JV race, Mark Smith paced Chelsea finishing 17th in a lifetime best 18:18.

David Hudson was 19th in a lifetime best 18:20, while Geoffrey Smith-Wooliams was 40th in a lifetime best 18:40, Dolan Personke 42nd in 18:40 and Dan Case 79th in a lifetime best 19:14 for the Bulldogs.

Joe Turek ended up 136th in a lifetime best 20:06, while Jared Farley was 177th in a lifetime best 20:40, Jared Gentz 195th in 20:58, Will Argiroff 196th in a lifetime best 20:59, Pete Kinsey 223rd in a lifetime best 21:22 and Josh Golec 250th in 21:43 for Chelsea.

SEC Jamboree 2

On Oct. 3, the Bulldogs finished second at the Southeastern Conference White Division Jamboree No. 2 at Hudson Mills Metropark.

Chelsea recorded 51 points.

Capturing the overall crown was four-time defending state champion and current Division II No. 1-ranked Dexter with 15 points.

Tecumseh was third with 87 points, while Ypsilanti Lincoln was fourth with 105 points.

"As expected, we were a solid second place," Swager said. "The current Dexter squad is the best one-through-five team I have ever seen and arguably the best in state history. My hat is off to them."

"We sort of trained through this meet preferring to focus on a few bigger meets later on. That said, several runners had very tough efforts. Our top three (Smith, Squires and Huehle) have been working hard to hone their conditioning and racing savvy. Every race is an opportunity."

Tops for the Bulldogs last week was Smith, who finished sixth overall individually with a time of 16:50.

Squires was ninth in 17:45, while Huehle was 10th in 17:58 and Eyster 12th in 18:07.

Wilke was 17th in 18:42, while Hewitt was 20th in

What a game!

Chelsea quarterback Jeff Adams drops back to pass against county rival Dexter last Friday. The junior connected with teammate Nate Schwarze for a game-winning 20-yard touchdown pass with nine seconds left on the clock in the Bulldogs' thrilling 33-29 win over the Dreadnaughts.

Rivalry contest decided on final play

It's how rivalries are supposed to end.

With time winding down, the packed, overflowing crowd of 3,000 on its feet screaming at the top of their collective lungs, and two battered, tired and exhausted teams lining up for one more play to determine the outcome.

Such was the case last Friday night in the bedlam that was Al Ritt Field as rivals Chelsea and Dexter prepared for the final play of the game. Not only was county bragging rights on the line, but also the Southeastern Conference White Division title.

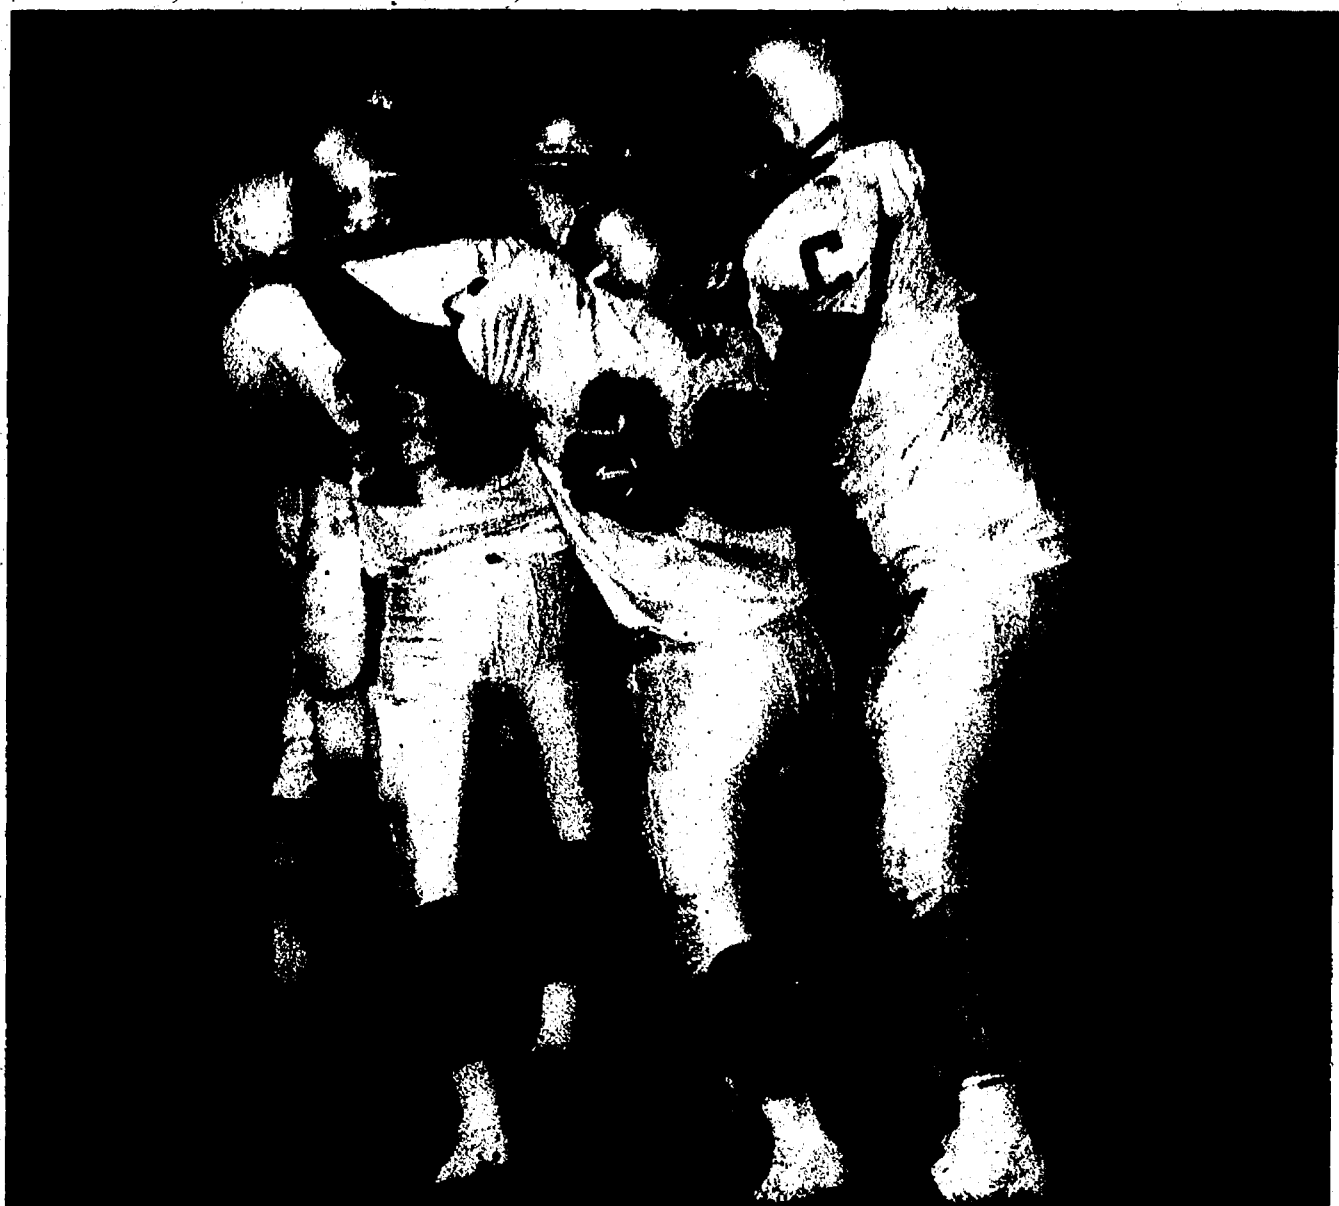

With the host Dreadnaughts (3-4, 2-4 SEC) still riding high after scoring the go-ahead touchdown with 1:14 left on the clock, the state Division III No. 3-ranked Bulldogs (6-1, 5-1 SEC) prepared themselves for the night's last play trailing 29-28.

With time winding down, and Chelsea on Dexter's 20-yard line, Bulldog junior quarterback Jeff Adams, replacing injured starter senior Jon Seelbach, dropped back to pass. With Dreadnaught defenders closing in on him, Adams lofted a pass to the right back corner of the end zone. With the crowd cheering loudly, Chelsea senior receiver Nate Schwarze out-jumped a Dexter defender, catching the ball for a 20-yard touchdown reception with nine seconds left on the clock.

With senior Dan Rhodes' point after-touchdown kick as time expired, the Bulldogs celebrated a wild 33-29 victory over the Dreadnaughts.

"It was a hitch and go (route)," said Schwarze of the game-winning TD pass. "Jeff made a great throw and I just came over the top and made a play. I didn't want him (defensive back) to pick it. I just tried swinging over, and making a play and I did."

Dexter coach Tom Barbieri said the Bulldogs executed well at the end of the game.

"Give Adams a lot of credit," he said. "And Schwarze went up and got the ball. It's a hard pill to swallow. We put our best defensive back on their best receiver. But we'll live to play another day."

Chelsea coach Brad Bush said he initially was planning to try and send the game into overtime.

"Until we got the ball down to where we did (Dexter 20-yard line), I was thinking field goal," he said. "But we wanted to take a shot at the end zone."

Bush said he didn't hesitate as to who he wanted to throw the ball to on the final play.

"I have more confidence in Nate Schwarze than I can tell you," he said. "Surprisingly enough, they (Dexter) never tried to double him. Even in that two-minute situation he was over there by himself."

Barbieri said his team gave everything it had last Friday night.

The Chelsea boys' soccer team lost to Ypsilanti Lincoln 1-0 last Thursday in a key Southeastern Conference White Division match-up.

"It was their Senior Night and they came out like it was their last game," said Chelsea coach Dave Pieske. "We did not match their intensity."

After a scoreless first half, the host Railsplitters recorded the game-winning goal with 25 minutes remaining in the contest.

"Then they packed the box," Pieske said. "We couldn't figure out how to get a good scoring chance against them."

"They were able to score on the one good (shot) they got."

On Oct. 3, host Chelsea (6-4-3) defeated Adrian 4-1.

"We played a decent game with a great finish," Pieske said.

Reece Hammer led the Bulldogs, scoring three goals for a hat trick.

Chelsea led 2-1 with five minutes left in the game before running away with the contest late.

"It was tight," Pieske said. "But we added two late goals to separate from the Maples."

Earning the win in net for the Bulldogs was keeper Nathan Vleck with five saves.

Chelsea next travels to Tecumseh for a game 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

On Monday, the Bulldogs will compete in the Division II state district at Jackson Northwest.

LOVING HOMES NEEDED

VIOLET is an exceptionally beautiful 4-1/2 year old beagle weighing about 15 pounds. She is very gentle and calm. Violet walks well on a leash and loves to smell the yard for scents. Recently she spotted a rabbit in the woods and raised her right paw, pointed her nose straight to the rabbit and remained motionless. Violet also hungers for the human touch. She misses her family and is very lonely in her cage here at the shelter. Violet is very content with sitting by your side while you stroke her fur or quietly talk to her. Her heart is full of love and she is waiting to share it with her new family. All she asks is "PLEASE COME AND TAKE ME HOME." Violet would be an excellent companion for children over the age of 5 years.

DENISE is a 3 year old female. She was brought into the shelter after she was found as a stray. Denise is very sweet and loves attention. She is waiting for a loving family to come and take her home.

ASHER is a very enjoyable playmate. He is 11 months old, white in color and weighs 77 pounds. Asher is very intelligent. He already knows "SIT," "DOWN" and "SHAKE." Asher loves to run and fetch the ball and drop it at your feet. Reward him with a treat and he is ready to continue playing ball. Once he gets his exercise he is very calm and loves to receive some human affection. Asher would be terrific in a family with children over the age of 10 years. He is already house-trained and is good with other dogs.

Bulldog senior halfback Antwan McClendon outruns two Dexter defenders during last Friday's county gridiron tussle. Chelsea beat the Dreadnaughts 33-29 on a last second touchdown.

thing they could possibly play with tonight. We came up a few seconds short.

"One of our team goals was to beat Chelsea. We set that back in August at camp. They're so disappointed. They left it all on the field. I told them we played as hard as we could."

The game started as it ended with Schwarze catching a 23-yard touchdown pass from Adams on the opening drive of the night. With Rhodes' PAT the Bulldogs led 7-0 with 9:13 left in the first quarter.

After a Dexter punt on its first possession, Chelsea took over at the Dreadnaughts' 48-yard line. On the drive's second play, Dexter junior Thomas Endler recovered a fumble and returned it 64 yards for a touchdown. With senior Alex Taheri's extra point, the game was tied at 7-7 with 6:42 remaining in the first quarter.

On the Bulldogs' next drive, freshman halfback Nick Hill scored on a one-yard run up the middle. Rhodes' PAT was wide left, giving Chelsea a 13-7 advantage with 1:16 left in the first quarter. The 14-play, 72-yard drive consumed over five minutes off the clock.

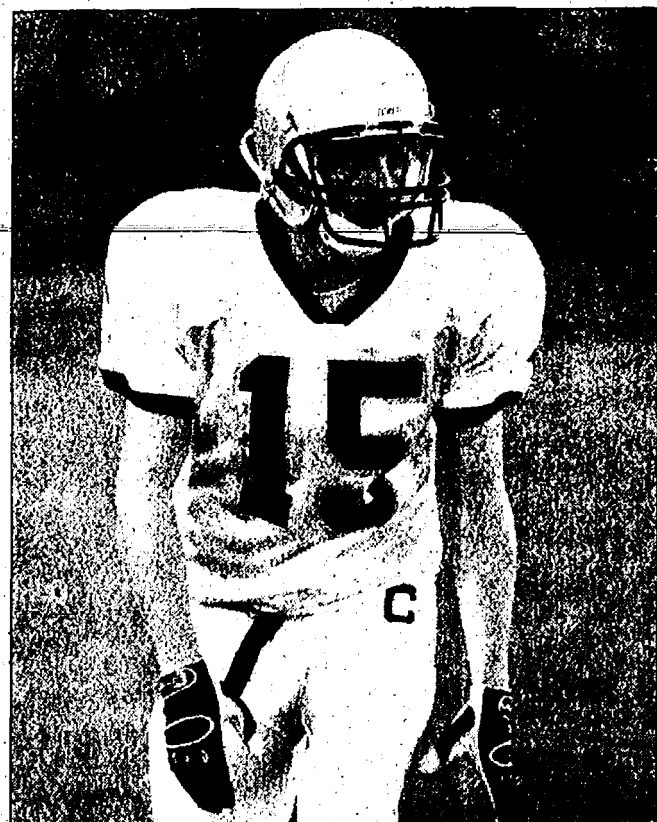

Dexter answered on its following possession as senior quarterback Johnny Benjamin scored on a five-yard run. With Taheri's PAT the Dreadnaughts led 14-13 with 9:57 left in the second quarter. Dexter drove 77 yards in 11 plays for its go-ahead score.

The Bulldogs responded quickly as senior Adam Connell scored on the ensuing kickoff, bringing the ball back 93 yards for a TD. The Dreads blocked the extra point, giving Chelsea a 19-14 lead with 9:44 remaining in the first half.

With 36 seconds left in the first half, Taheri drilled a 26-yard field goal trimming Chelsea's lead to 19-17 as the two teams headed into the locker room.

After a Bulldog three-and-out punt to begin the third quarter, Dexter executed a 12-play, 58-yard drive that was culminated by Benjamin's 5-yard run around right end for a score. The two-point conversion run was unsuccessful, giving the Dreadnaughts a 23-19 lead with 7:48 remaining in the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter, Hill scored on a 6-yard pass from Adams. With Rhodes' PAT, Bulldog senior receiver Nate Schwarze had five receptions for 78 yards and two touchdowns in Chelsea's 33-29 win over Dexter last Friday.

Chelsea jumped back on top 26-23 with 6:16 remaining in the game.

With 1:14 left, Dexter junior Chris Marsh caught a 24-yard touchdown pass over the middle from Benjamin. Though the extra point was missed, the Dreadnaughts led 29-26. The score culminated an 11-play, 80-yard drive.

On its next possession, Chelsea's Schwarze caught the game-winning 20-yard touchdown pass for the Bulldog win as time expired.

Benjamin (6-foot-4, 195 pounds) had a fine, all-around game for the Dreadnaughts, finishing 19-of-33 passing for 216 yards and one score. Rushing-wise he gained 64 yards on 14 carries and scored two TDs.

"I think Johnny Benjamin is the best player in our league," Bush said. "He has the whole package. He can run and he can throw. He has complete command. He never gets rattled. He is a very good football player."

Bush said he was impressed with the entire Dreadnaught squad.

"No question this is the best Dexter team we've played," he said. "They're a young team. He's (Barbieri) doing a great job developing the program. This (close game) isn't going to change. They're going to be like this from now on."

Adams ended up 12-of-19 for 149 yards with three touchdowns.

"Jeff stepped up this week," Schwarze said. "He made a lot of plays."

Hill led Chelsea on the ground with 109 yards on 21 attempts. Connell had 36 yards on five tries, while senior Antwan McClendon had 12 yards on four carries.

Schwarze had five receptions for 78 yards, while

Connell had four catches for 40 yards and senior tight end Dan Augustine one reception for 24 yards.

Chelsea finished with 299 total yards of offense. Dexter ended up with 397 total yards.

Defensively, Rhodes had an interception for the Bulldogs.

Senior linebacker Chris Hopkins led the defense for Chelsea with 15 tackles. Marty Holmes and Todd Elliott each added seven stops.

Chelsea next hosts Ann Arbor Pioneer 7 p.m. Friday. The Bulldogs will be celebrating Homecoming.

Chelsea's JV football team defeated visiting Dexter 38-21 last Thursday.

Riley Feeney led the Bulldogs (7-0) with 195 yards rushing on 18 carries with two touchdowns.

The Bulldogs next travel to Ann Arbor Pioneer for a game 7 p.m. Thursday.

Chelsea's freshman football team defeated visiting Dexter 36-8 last Thursday.

Chelsea cagers top Western

Bulldogs' pressure defense forces turnovers in victory over Panthers

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea's JV girls' basketball team defeated host Jackson County Western 45-24 last Saturday.

The Bulldogs raced out to a 15-1 first-quarter lead.

At halftime, Chelsea continued leading 23-11.

Heading into the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs increased their advantage to a commanding 37-14.

"Our pressure defense controlled the game and forced Western into many turnovers," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

Offensively, the Bulldogs were able to crack the Panthers' zone defense with crisp passing and the ability to find the open teammate.

"It was an excellent team effort by every member of the squad," Raymond said.

Krystin Schwarze led Chelsea with 12 points and seven rebounds.

Sarah Shrosbree added eight points, while Erin Benjamin had seven points and Hannah Harwood and Kelly Maveal six points each for the Bulldogs.

Megan Dunn chipped in four points, while Melissa Punzalon had two points for Chelsea.

Harwood and Benjamin each had five boards, while Heather Boyer and Dunn each had three rebounds.

Harwood had a team-high four assists, while Shrosbree, Schwarze and Benjamin each had three assists and Maveal one assist for the Bulldogs.

Benjamin led the team with seven steals. Shrosbree had three steals, while Harwood, Schwarze and Punzalon each had two steals. Last Thursday, host Chelsea defeated Tecumseh 33-26.

The Bulldogs led 8-6 after the first quarter. At the break, Chelsea increased its advantage to 17-14.

Entering the fourth frame the Bulldogs continued leading 25-18.

A big squad, the Indians were tough down low with two twin towers patrolling the paint.

"We were able to control their two tall centers by using excellent weak side help and doubling down on the baseline," Raymond said. "In the backcourt, we put outstanding pressure on the basketball, making it very difficult for the (Tecumseh) guards to get the ball up the court."

As a team, Chelsea recorded a season-high 22 steals. Benjamin led the Bulldogs with 10 steals. Harwood had four steals, while Dunn had three steals and Schwarze two steals.

Schwarze was strong offensively, as well, for Chelsea leading the squad with 14 points and four assists.

Punzalon added six points, while Dunn had four points and Benjamin three points, four rebounds and three assists.

Maveal and Harwood each netted two points, while Amanda Koch and Boyer each had one point. Harwood also had four rebounds.

The Bulldogs next travel to Ypsilanti Lincoln for a game 4 p.m. Thursday.

On Tuesday, Chelsea hosts Adrian at 4 p.m. On Oct. 19, the Bulldogs host rival Dexter at 4 p.m.

"DON'T VEER FOR DEER!"

To help avoid a dangerous encounter with deer heed by the following tips:

1. Watch for deer especially at dawn and dusk. They are most active then, especially during the fall mating season.
2. Deer often travel single file, so if you see one cross a road, chances are more are nearby waiting to cross. When startled by an approaching vehicle, they can panic and dart out from any direction without warning.
3. Be alert all year long, especially on two-lane roads. Watch for deer warning signs. They are placed at known deer-crossing areas and serve as a first alert that deer may be near.
4. Slow down when traveling through deer-populated areas.
5. If all else fails, visit ROBERTS PAINT & BODY, INC. and enter their Deer Hit Contest.

Program looks at the Edmund Fitzgerald

Chelsea library, Cranesbill team up to host author

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

Bill Harmer was 8 years old when the massive Great Lakes ore carrier the Edmund Fitzgerald sank Nov. 10, 1975, during a fierce storm on Lake Superior.

Harmer, head of adult services at the Chelsea District Library, always has been fascinated by the tragedy, and is looking forward to a visit from Michael Schumacher, author of "The Mighty Fitz: The Sinking of the Edmund Fitzgerald."

The program, about one of the great, unsolved mysteries of the Great Lakes, is set 2 p.m. Nov. 11, at Cranesbill Books, 108 E. Middle St., in Chelsea. The event is being

• The Edmund Fitzgerald foundered only 17 miles from the "safe haven" of Whitefish Point.
• The Fitzgerald was headed from Superior, Wis., to Zug Island on the Detroit River when it sank on Nov. 10, 1975.
• The Fitzgerald broke her own records for most cargo carried in one year several times in the short 17-year lifespan of the ship.
• The final voyage of the Edmund Fitzgerald was rumored as Captain McSorley's final voyage before retirement.

hosted jointly by the bookstore and library.

"I grew up only a few blocks from Lake Huron," Harmer said. "My father was a sailor, and I developed a love of sailing and a romance about Great Lakes lore from him.

"As a child, I had a difficult time wrapping my mind around what those tortured final moments must have been like for those men. What were their last thoughts? It's powerful and mysterious, and mind-blowing stuff for a little kid to contemplate, and it still fascinates me today."

But it was the song by Gordon Lightfoot that really haunted him.

"Those poetic lyrics that everybody can at least recite some line from that totally spooked me," Harmer said.

Schumacher's 243-page book, released last November in honor of the 30th anniversary of the sinking of the "Fitz," tells of its years of service on the waters of the Great Lakes, its tragic loss, the search effort and investigation, and the speculation that followed the catastrophe.

The "Fitz," carrying a full load of iron ore, 26,000 tons, was 729 feet in length, nearly 40 feet tall and 75 feet wide, weighing in at 13,632 tons before cargo. The last words from the captain on that stormy November day were, "We are holding our own."

Moments later, the Fitz, with its 29-man crew, disappeared. See PROGRAM — Page 9-C

Frame shops, galleries recognize profession

October is National Art and Framing Month celebration

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

Thousands of frame shops and galleries nationwide are celebrating October's National Art and Framing Month, with special events and programs promoting the enjoyment of art as part of daily life.

Among them is Carolyn Denton of Saline, who opened Carolyn's Framing earlier this year after retiring from her career in production control at Ford Motor Co. Denton sees clients by appointment either at her home studio on Homestead Court, or in their homes.

"I've always enjoyed visiting art galleries and art museums," Denton said. "I think that's where an appreciation of art can really start."

After Denton retired, she started in a small way, framing her daughter's treasured artworks from childhood.

"I'd saved them through the years, and she wanted them framed, so I started on her little pieces," she said.

Once Denton caught the bug, she went on to attend a framing school in Nashville, Tenn., before launching her business. A member of the Jackson-based Professional Picture Framers Association, she plans to attend the organization's annual Convention and Trade Show next spring in Las Vegas.

Gary and Doris Galvin, owners of the Chelsea Gallery at 123 S. Main St. in Chelsea, also got into art-work by framing their children's refrigerator art.

"We wanted to do our home in original art. We started framing art when our kids starting making it," Gary Galvin said. "In most families, if it stays on the fridge longer than six months, the next step is the garbage. By framing them, we preserved our kids' treasures with archival longevity."

"Just think what it does for a child's self-esteem to take grandparents or friends out into the hallway and say, 'That's my art on the wall.'"

The Galvins don't frame art, but will refer customers to framers if asked.

"A relationship with a frame shop is very important," Galvin said. "There are so many mats and frames,

NEED TO KNOW

Here are some suggestions on what you can frame to spark creative ideas: family photos, christening gowns, sports jerseys, varsity letters, theater programs, children's art, certificates of achievement, photographs of baby's firsts, sporting ribbons, medals, certificates and photographs.

Also, baseball cards, honor-roll report cards, graduation diplomas and caps, toy soldiers, Scout merit patches, first teddy bears, ballet slippers, school portraits and special birthday cards.

Birth announcements, first doll, war medals, teacups, citizenship certificates and U.S. flag, coins, stamp collections, miniatures, bridal portraits, original and limited-edition art, travel souvenirs and special newspaper clippings are more ideas.

colors and designs. Let the professionals help you."

The Galvins even arrange in-home trials of artwork.

"Someone comes in, they have a spot in their home for art, they pick out several things they like, and we take the artworks out to them and let them see how they look on the walls of their home," Galvin said.

Sara Bowe, co-owner of Saline Picture Frame, 7641 N. Ann Arbor St. in Saline, lists a few of the fascinating objects she and her brother, Peter, and sister-in-law, Mary, have framed or preserved in a shadow box. Examples include family heirlooms such as a tiny Annie Oakley costume, a child's T-shirt from summer camp, football jerseys and a memory card from an old video game now hanging in a shadowbox in the office of a computer software engineer.

"Things get shoved into closets and drawers and forgotten," Bowe said. "But if people take these precious items out and get them framed, they can put them on a wall and enjoy them every day."

Special occasion signature mats also are popular, such as for weddings, anniversaries, team banquets and reunions.

"At weddings, guests sign the mat surrounding the photo of the happy couple, instead of just signing a guest book, and then the piece is framed," she said.

The three Bowes are members of Professional Picture Framers Association and each has taken the exam to earn the Professional Picture Framers Association designation of certified picture framer.

Their frame shop, which in May hosted the 2006 Circle of Art benefit art auction for Food Gatherers in Ann Arbor, is among the few frame shops in the country with three certified picture framers on staff, said Peter Bowe, who also serves as a judge for PPFA framing competitions.

Elaine Barber, owner of Elaine's Gallery of Fine Arts and Framing at 8063 Main St. in Dexter, says framing is very important to accent artwork.

Barber, who recently added a tearoom where she features framed works of original local artists, has been a gallery presence in Dexter for 12 years.

She said consumers are sometimes afraid to experiment with color, or to try anything beyond a simple frame or mat.

"I think if someone adores a piece of art and it makes them happy, they should have fun with it," she said. "The fun part is when we change someone's mind, their preconceptions of how the piece should be presented, and they see the 'wow' factor. That's awesome to me."

Robin Scully, owner of Elements Gallery and Robin Scully Photography at 131 Adrian St. in Manchester, says art is more than aesthetics.

"It becomes valuable to our souls when we see meaning," she said. "It's not just a two-dimensional piece framed on the wall. It comes in all forms and prices. Quite often it is functional, as well. Your space is more meaningful if it has valued pieces of art that touch your soul."

"Our values and individuality are presented through art. It is not a luxury, but a vital ingredient in expressing and nurturing our souls."

peared from the radar screen.

The pride of the Great Lakes, thought to be unsinkable, now rests at the bottom of Lake Superior 530 feet below the surface. In 1995, the ship's 200-pound bell was recovered and restored, and is displayed at the Great Lakes Shipwreck Museum at Whitefish Point, the destination the ship never reached, sinking just 17 miles short of landfall.

Schumacher, the author of six books, has written 25 documentaries on Great Lakes shipwrecks, including three about the Edmund Fitzgerald.

"There's something sacred, I think, about this particular shipwreck," Harmer said. "What I like about Schumacher is that he never stoops down to sensationalize this tragedy in any way. He's a skillful writer and presents the facts brick by brick and in the end you have a pretty powerful and engaging narrative."

The library is looking forward to partnering with Cranesbill on this event and others in the future, said Shawn Personke, the library's community relations and development coordinator.

"Cranesbill has been a sponsor of the community read from its beginning. It's a natural fit."

Personke's shares her Nov. 10 birthday with the anniversary of the famous disaster.

"Because I was busy being a teenager at the time, its sinking didn't really impact me," she said. "However, with the popularity of Gordon Lightfoot's song and the annual commemoration, it's kind of become part of my birthday lore."

Registration is required for the presentation. For more information, call the library at 475-8732.

WE SALUTE OUR Fire Fighters

Home Fire-Safety Checklist

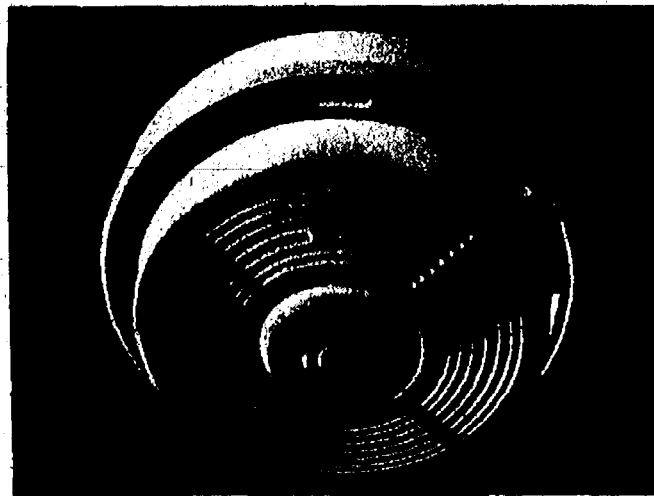

In order to maintain a safe home environment and be prepared in the event of a fire, answer these questions below, courtesy of The Home Safety Council.

FIRE PREVENTION

1. Are flammable items, such as fertilizers and turpentine, kept in their original containers in a locked storage area separate from the home?
2. Is gasoline stored in a garage or shed in a container approved for gasoline storage?
3. Do you keep things that can burn away from your fireplace and keep a glass or metal screen in front of your fireplace?
4. Do you have chimneys, fireplaces, wood and coal stoves, central furnaces and space heaters inspected by professionals once a year and cleaned regularly?
5. Do you keep space heaters at least three feet away from combustibles, such as curtains or stacks of newspaper, and always turn off heaters when leaving the room or going to bed?
6. Do you keep matches and lighters in a locked cabinet?
7. Do you always stay in the kitchen when food is cooking on the stove?
8. Do you keep things that can burn, such as dish towels, paper or plastic bags, and curtains at least three feet away from the range top?
9. Do you douse cigarette and cigar butts with water before dumping them in the trash?
10. Are you careful not to leave barbecue grills unattended while in use?
11. Do you keep grills away from play areas and at least three feet away from other objects, including the house and any shrubs or bushes?
12. Are you careful not to leave burning candles unattended?
13. Do you keep candles out of the reach of children and pets?
14. Are you careful not to overload electrical outlets, extension cords and power strips?
15. Do you check all wires and cords for damage and cover all unused electrical outlets?

SMOKE ALARMS

1. Have you installed smoke alarms on every level of your home and near every sleeping area?
2. Have you pushed the "test button" on smoke alarms to ensure everyone will recognize the sound of the alarm?
3. Are smoke alarms mounted high on walls or ceilings away from windows, doors and ducts where drafts might interfere with their operation?
4. Are smoke alarms located well away from the path of steam from bathrooms and cooking vapors from the kitchen, which can result in false or nuisance alarms?
5. Do you test your smoke alarms once a month to make sure they are working, and replace the batteries every year?
6. Have you considered installing hard-wired, interconnected smoke alarms with battery back-up so that if one alarm operates, they all signal together?
7. Do you replace your smoke alarms when they are 10 years or older?
8. Are your smoke alarms listed by Underwriters Laboratories (UL)?

FIRE ESCAPE PLANS

1. Have you identified two exits out of every room?
 2. Does your family have a designated meeting place outside of your home?
 3. Does your family practice a home fire escape plan twice a year?
 4. Have you sketched out a floor plan of your home, including all rooms, windows, interior and exterior doors, stairways, fire escapes and smoke alarms? Is every family member familiar with the layout?
 5. Have you identified and remedied anything in your home that could interfere with your ability to get out quickly in an emergency including windows that are stuck, heavy furniture blocking an exit and broken and dangerous locks?
 6. Are you careful to always keep escape routes clear of clutter?
 7. If you have a multi-story home, have you considered purchasing fire escape ladders for upstairs bedrooms? If you have fire escape ladders, have you opened them safely from a ground-floor window for practice?
 8. Have you ensured that family members with special needs, such as ill or frail family members or small children, have a buddy to help them get out safely?
 9. Do family members know to get out first if there is a fire, and then call for help once safely outside?
 10. Do you hold family fire drills frequently and at various times so your escape plans become second nature?
 11. During your fire drill, have you practiced what it would be like to escape through smoke by getting down on hands and knees and crawling below the smoke to the nearest exit? Has your family practiced feeling doors before opening them to escape, by testing for warmth with the back of the hand?
- If you've answered "NO" to any of these questions, it's time to rethink your fire-safety plan.

Chelsea Area Girl Scouts celebrated "Pioneer Women, Scouting New Worlds" Sept. 15 through 17 at Camp Munhake. The weekend included participation by Scouts in kindergarten through 12th grades.

With community support and help from volunteers, the girls were able to experience and learn skills that were common in pioneer days, such as rope making, knife safety, sewing dolls, and learning archery and firearm safety.

They also made their own journals and quill pens, played with handmade pioneer toys and games, and made their own candles.

Other activities included an obstacle course and fishing. Evening entertainment was provided by magician Jeff Wawrzaszek and Marie Papciak performed "Women Who Changed America," a program about Mary Todd Lincoln and Susan B. Anthony.

ROBERT JOHN FERGUSON

Ann Arbor

Robert John Ferguson, 82, of Ann Arbor, a teacher and artist, died Oct. 3, 2006, surrounded by his family at his home in Ann Arbor. He was born June 12, 1924, at St. Mary's Hospital, now Hutzel Hospital, in Detroit the son of Robert and Eveline Wearn Ferguson, formerly of Portsmouth, England.

His father died in a house fire, and Mr. Ferguson helped support his family by working many jobs from the age of 9, including as an usher at the Tower Theatre and as a tool grinder at the Exello Corp. in Detroit.

Mr. Ferguson graduated from Detroit's MacKenzie High School in 1942, and promptly enlisted in the U.S. Navy. He was stationed in the South Pacific, primarily in Brisbane, Australia, at the Navy Submarine Base at Capricorn Wharf. There he ran the supply depot and repaired submarines.

He remained in the Navy for what he called a "trifecta," three years, three months and three days. He always spoke of the people of Australia, New Zealand and New Guinea as "fascinating, straightforward and unimposing," and remained great friends with the family with whom he stayed while in Brisbane.

Mr. Ferguson was honorably discharged in 1946, receiving a Good Conduct Ribbon, the American Area Campaign Medal, the Asiatic Pacific Area Campaign Medal and the Victory Medal.

After his tour of duty was completed, Mr. Ferguson attended the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor on the GI Bill. He was a member of the Tau Chapter of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, serving as chapter president during his senior year at the university. He earned a bachelor's degree in fine arts and industrial design in 1950.

Mr. Ferguson met his wife, Elinor Lyle Fritz, of 55 years when she pulled him into a conga line that started on the steps of the Michigan Union during a pep rally the night before the 1946 University of Michigan vs. Indiana University football game. He often told his family that they owed their collective existence to Michigan football.

After his graduation, he worked as an industrial illustrator in the Illustration and Design Department at Ford Motor Co. for three years, designing portions of several model year 1951 and 1952 Ford automobiles. He was, concurrently, a graphic illustrator for Creative Industries of Detroit, where he designed yachts and illustrated for government contracts, including atomic powered machinery and missile electrical systems. He helped develop an atomic power repair unit for the government that was considered top secret at the time.

Mr. Ferguson returned to the University of Michigan and earned a teacher's certification in 1953 and added a master's degree in Fine Arts from Wayne State University in 1959. His student teaching was done at Dearborn Fordson High School, and he began his teaching career in 1953 at Dearborn High School, where he taught elective arts courses.

Mr. Ferguson was the first art instructor at the newly constructed Dearborn Edsel Ford High School when it opened, and stayed there from 1955 to 1963. He was integral in the creation of the curriculum and physical plan of the elective and creative arts department of the new school.

He also was vital to the creation of the humanities course at Edsel Ford, firmly stating to all, "You can't possibly measure the good that is being done in this area." Largely through his efforts, music, art history, art appreciation, architecture, fine arts and industrial design were included in the comprehensive English department humanities courses.

Mr. Ferguson also served as art director for school publications and began what became the Creative Arts Workshop.

He became a professor of art and design at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn in 1963, eventually becoming chairman of the Henry Ford Community College Fine Arts Department. He retired from the college in 1982.

An avid camper and traveler, Mr. Ferguson took his family on month-long camping trips during every summer school break, visiting every state, every Canadian province, as well as Mexico and Alaska. He loved to be in the quiet woods, hiking, birding, and simply looking at what nature designed.

He also was an avid photographer, metalworker and furniture maker. He was, in his own words, a "skilled putterer." Foremost, however, he was a teacher throughout every aspect of his life.

Mr. Ferguson was devoted to the arts and arts education. He exhibited his lithographs and serigraphs in the original Ann Arbor Art Fair, and showed at Wayne State University, the Dearborn Historical Museum and The Chamberlin Gallery.

He also mentored countless students who went on to become professional artists in every area of art and design, but whom he measured simply as "good people." He understood his students and had a reputation as a dedicated, skilled educator.

Mr. Ferguson was a member of the Dearborn Federation of Teachers, the American Federation of Teachers, the Michigan Art Education Association, the College Art Association of America, The University of Michigan Alumni Association, was a lifelong member of the Michigan Education Association, and was a lifelong member of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity.

Survivors include his wife, Elinor, of 55 years; their three daughters, Pat Castrejon (Jose), Gall Stout (John) and Carol Radloff (Pete); five grandchildren, Ana Washington (Marvin), Lori Castrejon (K.C. Knipple), Joshua Castrejon (Meggie), Mike Stout and Lauren Stout; and his six great-grandchildren, Marvin Washington Jr., Kaya Miller, and Jalen, Juwan, Isabel, and Carlos Castrejon.

A memorial celebration for friends and family will be held from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday at the family's home, 3863 W. Loch Alpine Drive, in Ann Arbor. All are welcome to celebrate the life of a consummate teacher.

Memorial contributions may be made in Mr. Ferguson's to Arbor Hospice Foundation, 2366 Oak Valley Drive, Ann Arbor, MI 48103.

Paw Paw, the youngest of nine children born to Frank J. and Bertha Woodman Webb.

In June, Mrs. Moran had lost her beloved husband and partner of almost 71 years, D. Lawrence Moran.

She is survived by their four daughters, Patricia Cheatham of Ann Arbor, Marjorie (David) Mastie of Chelsea, Judith Martin of Edina, Minn., and Linda VanLente of Berwick, Pa.; and 12 grandchildren, Fredrick (Sandra) Hopper of Holly, Gordon (Sherry) Hopper of Wyandotte, Thomas (Antoinette) Hopper of Ann Arbor, John (Lynn) Hopper of Denver, Scott (Lynn) Mastie of Longmont, Colo., Andrew (Nan) Mastie of Ann Arbor, Laura (Scott) Buford of St. Paul, Minn., Paul (Ilka Becker) Martin of Helena, Mont., A. Lindsay (Michael) McGill of Haleiwa, Hawaii, Jennifer (David) Cerreta of Berwick, Pa., Emily (John) Kramer of York, Pa., and Joseph VanLente of Berwick, Pa.

She also is survived by 17 great-grandchildren, Wendy and Kevin Hopper of Holly, Richard Hopper of Ypsilanti, Sara Hopper of Wyandotte, David Hopper of Temecula, Calif., and Alyssa Castro Hopper of Ann Arbor, Ellen and Karen Mastie of Longmont, Colo., Julia, Noah and Isaac Mastie of Ann Arbor, Dax and Finnegan McGill of Haleiwa, Hawaii, Philip and Hannah Martin of Helena, Mont., Nika and Baby Cerreta of Berwick, Pa., and Lydia Kramer of York, Pa.

In addition to her husband, she was preceded in death by her parents; five brothers, Archie, Edwin, Robert, Fredrick and Harry; three sisters, Ruth, Ella and Dorothy; and a son-in-law, Thomas VanLente.

Her sister-in-law, Orpha "Pat" Moran of Bradenton, Fla., and numerous nieces and nephews also survive.

"The true measure of strength is not size," but impact. Those who knew Donna remember her stretching a bit to call herself 5 feet tall," her family said.

But armed with just a two-year business school degree, Mrs. Moran worked for years at Goodyear's Department Store in Ann Arbor, including the last two decades as manager of the store. After Goodyear's was closed, at the age when most would retire, Mrs. Moran instead began a second career substituting for the Ann Arbor Public Schools and its administrative offices.

By the time she retired at age 82, Mrs. Moran had served in every one of the system's schools and administrative offices.

She reveled in blazing trails. She obtained a driver's permit at age 13, insisted that her children all earn degrees from the University of Michigan, and managed a major department store long before women in such positions were common. At the same time, she took great delight in baking for family and friends, caring for and giving special attention to children, whether her own daughters, their children and grandchildren or the neighbors' children.

Mrs. Moran rarely missed attending a meaningful event in the lives of her daughters and watched proudly as grandchildren graduated, participated in sporting events or were married, and as great grandchildren performed in school programs, karate demonstrations or recitals.

She made sure her family and friends all knew the important things in life — faith, love, pride, strength, dignity, doing our best, encouraging and caring for others.

A memorial celebration of Mrs. Moran's life will be held 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the main sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church, 1432 Washtenaw Avenue in Ann Arbor, where she was a 50-year member. Bright colors are encouraged and children are especially welcome to attend, her family said.

There will be no visitation at the church. Instead, following the service, a reception and light lunch will be served a few blocks away at the Ann Arbor Women's City Club.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Larry and Donna Moran Memorial Scholarship Fund for the children's ministry at First Presbyterian Church or the donor's choice.

Fund-raiser to help humane society

The Humane Society of Huron Valley will hold its Compassionate Feast vegetarian fund-raiser dinner Oct. 23 at Seva in downtown Ann Arbor.

The dinner will be an elegant multi-course feast with a champagne and cheese reception, as well as a silent auction.

Tickets are $95 per person with a benefactor ticket option of $125 for a larger donation to the Humane Society of Huron Valley.

"We are very excited about this new, unique event," Tanya Hilgendorf, executive director of the Humane Society of Huron Valley, said in a news release. "The concept has already generated a great deal of interest and we think it will become an eagerly awaited annual tradition in our community."

Hilgendorf said the purpose of the event is to engage people in the humane society's mission by hosting an "elegant vegetarian dinner that promotes compassion for all animals."

Maren Jackson, Seva's chef and co-owner, created the menu for the evening. Courses will be paired with wines by Seva's co-owner and master sommelier, Jeff Jackson, along with Thompson Beverage and the meal will be accented by chocolate truffles donated by Schokolade.

A weeklong vacation for two with round-trip airfare and four-day "park hopper" Disney passes will be among the silent auction items.

Pickin' Pumpkins

Megan Tee of Dexter shows off a pumpkin she found while on a wagon ride at the Michigan Center for the Photographic Arts Fall Focus Festival in Grass Lake. Photographer Dale Fisher opened his campus to the public Sept. 16 and 17. Families enjoyed hayrides, pumpkin picking, cider and doughnuts, while also viewing photographs taken by area students.

WASHTENAW COUNTY

100 acres donated to Washtenaw Land Trust

Rudy Reichert Jr. has lived in the community his entire life. Now, thanks to him, a part of the area will remain protected forever.

Reichert has donated a permanent conservation agreement to the Washtenaw Land Trust on 100 acres of land near Portage Lake in north Washtenaw and south Livingston counties. The parcel is a contiguous block of natural land, including creek and lake frontage, dry oak forests, and a variety of wetlands such as tamarack swamps, fens, and wet meadows.

Under the terms of the agreement, the land remains in private hands, but can never be developed. An additional land protection agreement specifies that the land will come to the Washtenaw Land Trust upon Reichert's death. At that time, scheduled nature walks will allow for opportunities to visit the protected nature area. Until then, it remains privately owned by the Reichert family, subject to the conservation agreement to protect the land's natural features.

The project is significant not only for the natural features that it protects, but also because it represents a partnership between the Washtenaw Land Trust and Livingston Land Conservancy. When the land comes under Washtenaw Land Trust ownership, Livingston Land Conservancy will be the one to monitor and enforce the conservation agreement.

Reichert has long recognized the value of preserving the qualities of nature and water, especially flowing water, for the health of both the environment and of humans.

"It's in the genes to appreciate flowing water because it's necessary for primitive people. Flowing water always has a soothing effect," he said in a news release.

While preparing the baseline documentation for the project, representatives from Washtenaw Land Trust and Livingston Land Conservancy were able to visit the property, including a climb up an overlook observation tower.

"People in a position to do this should consider protecting property, even purchasing property to protect, and giving it to the land trust," Reichert said. "Save it and don't pave it."

Now, with the permanent conservation agreement in place, Reichert can be assured that the land will never be developed.

Landowners who are interested in learning more about protecting their land, including the potential tax benefits, may contact the Washtenaw Land Trust at 1-734-302-5263.
