Chelsea United Way helps Faith in Action lend a hand

"Diane" was married for 15 years, happily, or so she thought, until the day her husband came home to tell her he'd fallen in love with another woman and was moving out. She felt that her world was collapsing in on her.

One day Diane (not her real name) was part of a middle-class family living in a nice home in the country, the next she is a single mom who can't pay the mortgage. Her ex-husband disappears, literally, and the family house goes into foreclosure. Diane's story is becoming Help needed

Chelsea's Sounds & Sights announces 2009 lineup

It's evident that Summer is just around the corner with the announcement of the 2009 lineup for Sounds & Sights on Thursday Nights in downtown Chelsea. Every Thursday night from June 25 through Sept. 3, from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m., the streets of Chelsea will overflow with patrons coming to enjoy as many as 10 musical acts, children's entertainers, and other attractions performing simultaneously at various stages around town. The series is the combined effort of the Sounds & Sights Committee, the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, the Chelsea Center for the Arts, downtown merchants. The event is generously sponsored the Chelsea DDA.

In addition to musical. performances, there will be a variety of children's attractions and activities including face painters, jugglers and magicians. New this year is a self-guided walking sculpture tour. "Sculpture Walk Chelsea" is a year long community arts project sponsored by the Chelsea Downtown Development Authority. Ten sculptures were juried into the outside exhibit. The works will be placed on concrete pads in high profile locations in the downtown area. Rebecca R. Hart, the Associate. Curator at the Detroit Institute of Arts, juried the exhibit. The River Gallery in Chelsea is the project manager with support from CCA and the City of -Chelsea.

Also new and exciting for 2009 is outdoor cinema and screening of free movies at dusk. Films will be shown on a 40-foot wide screen om Leonard of Dexter spent the past two summers. abroad in Taiwan teaching English He also enent half a year in France becoming fluent in Wrench during his time at Hillsdale College, where he majored in French.

During his senior year in college, Leonard wasn't quite sure what career path to follow until his mother, Peggy, handed him a newspaper article about entering the Peace Corps. Then that path become clear and obvious. "It made a light go off inside my head," Leonard said. "I fol-lowed it up, and in September, I started the process."

Leonard was nominated in November, and then received an invitation to come to Niger, where one of the official languages is French, in early May. He will leave on this two-year adventure in July where he will act as a community and youth educator.

"After I reflected on different job opportunities, and I was heading into my senior year, I had a breakthrough that international relations was a good field," he said. "I had been considering teaching English abroad, and then I thought about the Peace

CHS soccer field targeted by vandals

By Sean Dalton Staff Writers

Blowtorch wielding vandals targeted the soccer field at Chelsea High School last month.

They burned "DHS" and an accompanying graphic depiction into the center of the field.

While the damage has been fixed when maintenance placed new sod over the affected areas, the district is still looking for those who would undertake such a malicious act.

The damage was done the day before the final game between Chelsea and Dexter High School.

"All we know is that sometime during the late hours of the morning someone used kind of torch to inscribe DHS, which we're assuming nounced. refers to Dexter High School and a pretty graphic picture of a male organ," said Chelsea Athletic Director Wayne Welton.

Physical education classes had been held earlier in the day May 15 and the field was untouched at that time.

No one noticed until the game the next day. "Our team was the first to discover it when they came out to play the next day."

The district acted quickly to repair the damage, due to the fact that the grass slowly the night or early hours of died over the following week making the damage more what appears to be some visible and the inappropriate depiction even more pro-

> Welton said camera footage did not answer the key questions that Chelsea police and the district had.

> He said he didn't want to speculate at this point: "To point a finger at anybody would be unfair. We don't know (if Dexter kids did it). Did some of our kids do it to make it look like Dexter did it? We don't know."

Fortunately the field was shut down for the following couple of weeks after the incident, allowing time to cut sod from another field and install it over the dam-

While the grass is fixed,

Welton said those fans and families that came out May 16 will probably never forget the incident.

'To (have had to) play Dexter on Saturday morning and see it out there it was not real fan or parent friendly for sure," Welton said. It was somber. It didn't feel good from anybody's standpoint."

Welton added that he hopes no one in either Dexter or Chelsea decides to escalate things with another act of vandalism on either campus.

Pranks are nothing new during this time of year, but this one really stood out in Welton's mind.

"It's not the first time something like this has happened," he said. "It's always particularly disappointing because we've gone to such great lengths to maintain

There are several new acts for the kids this year.

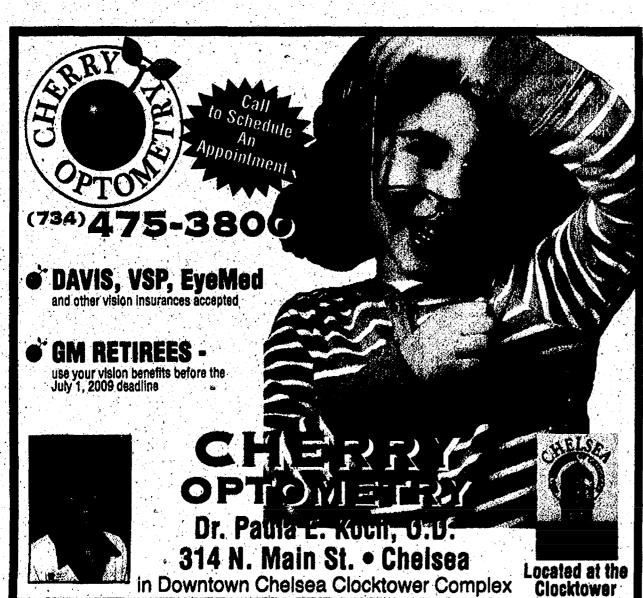

"We're all proud to be a part of this collaboration for the community, the local businesses, our sponsors, and the CCA," says Common. "This community continues to embrace and support the arts, even during these tough economic times. It's a wonderful site to see our sidewalks crowded each Thursday with people enjoying themselves and in many cases, exploring Chelsea and what wehave to offer for the first time. And, it's even better to then see these same people come back to shop, dine and spend more time here...which has been our goal since we started five years ago."

Most downtown retail businesses have committed to stay open late through the extent of the summer series. A special fund raising benefit concert sponsored by Chelsea State Bank be held Thursday, July 23, 7 p.m. under the tent behind the Common Grill.

Lima Twp. supervisor moves forward with land case

By Sean Dalton Staff Writers

Lima Township Supervisor Kenneth Unterbrink has instructed township aftorneys to take another pass at pursuing part of the Beach family farm property in the state appellate court.

The appellate court ruled last month that title over property privately dedicated in a subdivision plat can be acquired through "adverse possession," which was a decision in the property owner's favor.

Unterbrink said attorney Victor Lillich is seeking reconsideration in the appellate court. They are also seeking counsel from the Michigan Township Association.

Unterbrink approached property owner Florence Beach in 2004 initially to purchase the property from her so the township and the Chelsea Area Fire Authority could construct a fire substation on six parcels that the township purchased in 2004.

Sometime over the course of the litigation the substation plan fell off of the table until recently, according to both Unterbrink and CAFA Chief Jim Payeur.

Unterbrink feels that the township has a strong claim to the two parallel that border on the six parcels where the substation would go.

"We're researching it and sending off something to the Michigan Township Association to see if they would help as well, because it will affect a lot of issues throughout the state." Unterbrink said. "(It involves and will affect) the Land Division Act and how you proceed with plats.

"Everyone I've talked to including our assessor and the road commission and the county equalization department all think that the decisions that were made were not correct and

The suspect turned onto Conway Road and broke away from the officer, who ended the chase due to the dust and inten-

 The officer returned to the scene to investigate and found a Swisher Sweets wrapper on the ground and fresh brown tobacco on the ground next to it.

Chelsea police officers responded to a domestic abuse call in the 200 block of Pierce Street at 8 p.m. May 24.

The homeowner told officers that after a fight one of her assailants retreated to the 500 block of Maywood and another drove away in a vehicle.

One of the women, who gave the homeowner injuries, including scratch marks on her right shoulder and other signs of a scuffle, was her aunt. Apparently the aunt thought the victim's boyfriend had given her the finger while the two passed each other on the road in Stockbridge. The aunt then came and confronted her about the matter.

The victim and her boyfriend were in the backyard of their residence when the aunt arrived. She complained about being disrespected and a fight broke out, which ended in the boyfriend breaking it up and "dragging" his girlfriend inside their home. Brawling commenced once-more when the two women came together again in the front driveway near their vehicles.

Witnesses say that both women were engaged in the fight. A neighbor called the Chelsea Police Department when the swearing and verbal exchanges were loud enough to carry throughout the neighborhood.

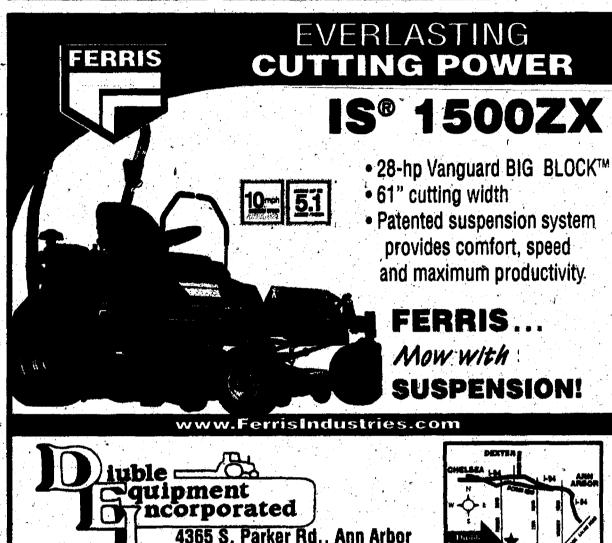

Theauntcameintothedepartment later to talk to police. She told officers that being flipped off with her small daughter in the vehicle bothered her and is what instigated the situation.

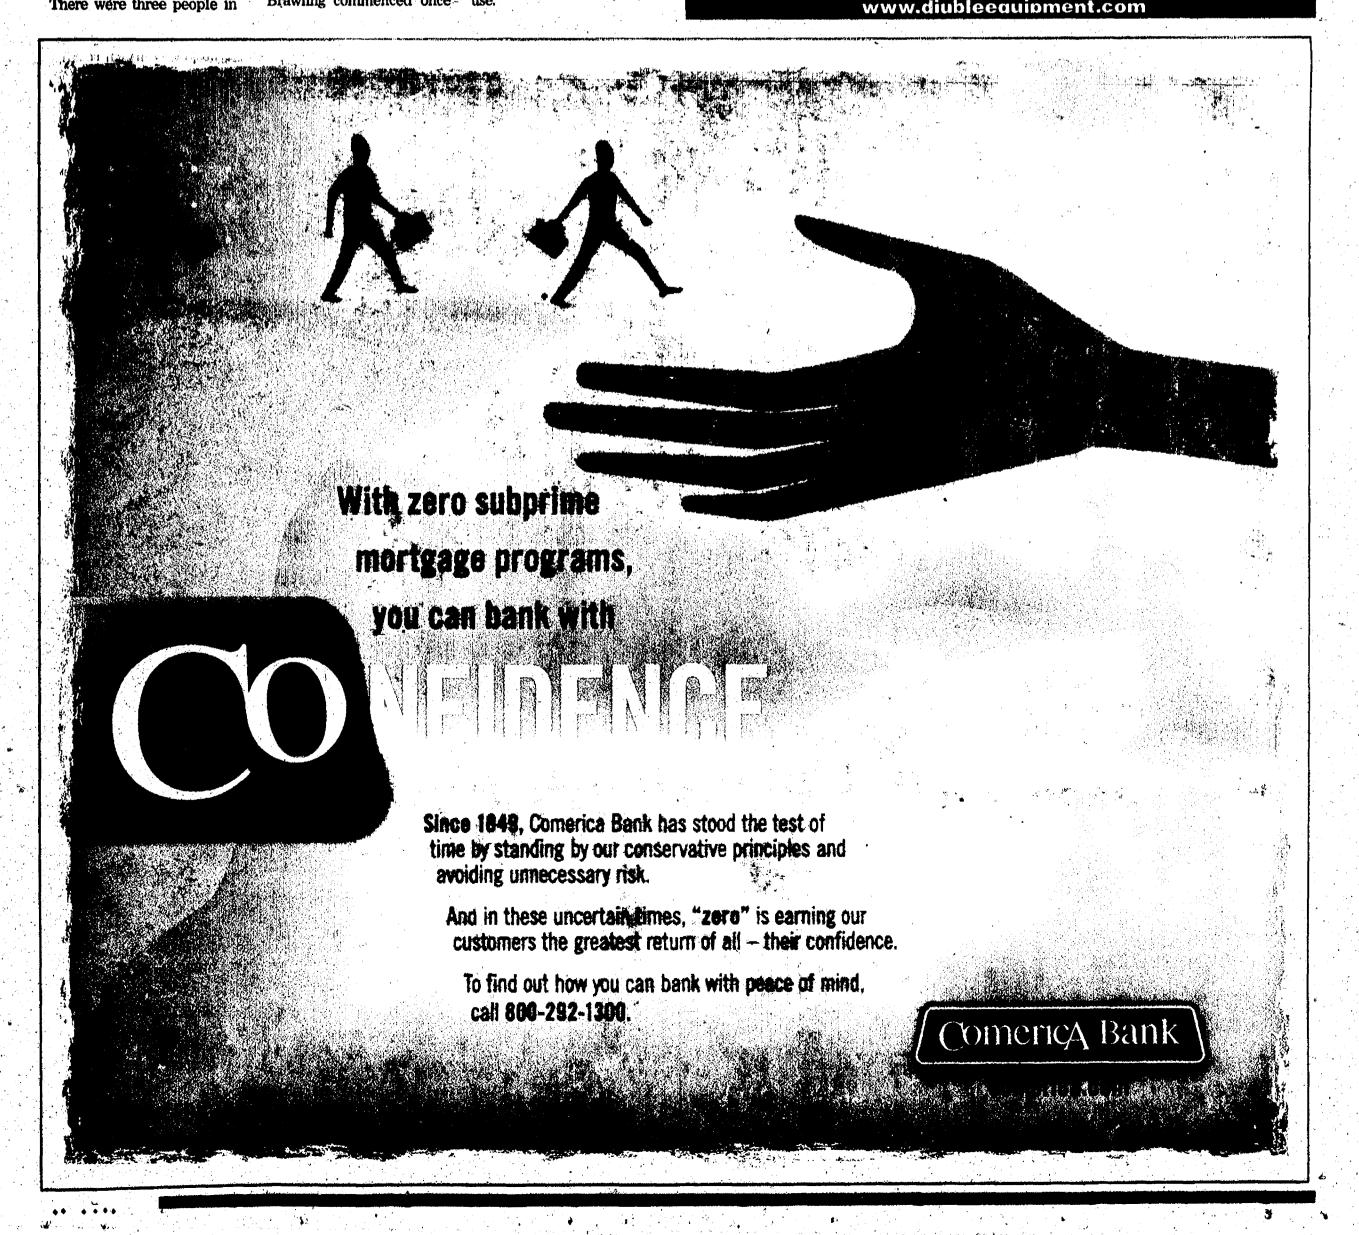

She also said that when she entered her niece's yard to confront her and her boyfriend they were smoking marijuana. She told officers that the fight began with the two calling her names and her niece forcibly trying to silence her by covering her

Cedars of Dexter celebrates, looks ahead

By Sean Dalton Staff Writer

Employees of United Methodist Retirement Communities responsible for organizing the first Pig Roast & Community Picnic at the Cedars of Dexter development site severely underestimated the number of people who would attend the event and the amount of enthusiasm those people would have for the senior living community.

A large crowd of homeseeking seniors, curious relatives and Cedar's Charter Members , those who have already spoken for 24 of the 60 cottages - lounged under a party tent listening to the Dexter Community Band play silver- and golden-age tunes, in between touring the existing models to discuss optional creature comforts and core services available to those who ultimately decide to call the Cedars at 201 Katherine Way home.

"We're very pleased with the turnout," said Cathy Gallagher, director of business development for UMRC. "We counted 145 people signing up for the door prizes and there are many who didn't. It's the first time we've done something like this – we were thinking maybe 125 (would come in total)."

UMRC is still signing people up within the presale "Charter" period in an effort to not only get the first wave of Cedars residents committed so their cottages can be built to specification, but also to reach predetermined financial thresholds to justify the progression of the project construction.

The shells of units are already springing up across the street from the two model units and several lots have been cleared and are ready to be built up into spoken-for units, most of which are on the side of the property closest to Gordon Hall,

That side of the development will also face the spot where a winery has been proposed on a neighboring piece of the historic property. Not only will that winery be a nice piece of scenery, but proceeds from the property sale or lease would be reinvested into Gordon Hall, either paying off the remainder of the mortgage or shoring up funds for the restoration of Judge Samuel Dexter's home to its original glory.

Another Cedars hotspot is the inner-ring of cottage lots surrounding the club-house. These units are nestled away from the outskirts of the property.

Gallagher describes the process by which the Cedars community is growing as a natural process of community building that requires little or no sales push. "People are really afraid if they come up that somebody is going to come and sell them something, and that's not what this is about. We simply give them the information and they sell themselves if it's the lifestyle they want."

Charter members, some of whom devoted Dexter community folks will recognize, are also very much driving the process of building the Cedar's community by effectively choose their future friends and neighbors.

"When I show people around I introduce this as 'my house," said Lou-Ceriani, who will eventually be living in what is currently "Model #1," which is the most frequently toured of the two existing unit models. "When we heard that the people from the Chelsea retirement community were interested in the land on the Gordon Hall property we called and said put our names down right away."

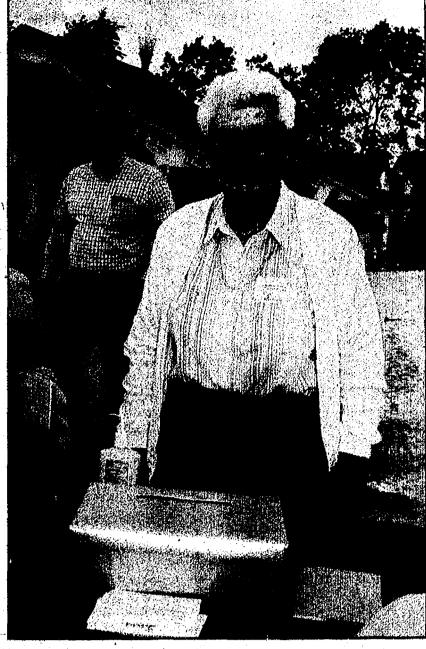

Ceriani was the fifth Charter member to sign up, as early as five years ago. He was originally going to retire in Chelsea, but he said he couldn't pass up the opportunity to become part of a senior living community within the Dexter community that he loves so. much and has devoted so much time to as a member of the Dexter Lion's and the keeper of "Louie's Gate" during Dexter Community Schools sporting events.

'We didn't want-to leave Dexter and the models here look the same as the ones in Chelsea, so it's been great ... this has been a great opportunity," Ceriani said. "We're still lively enough and now we'll be close enough to associate with other people in Dexter."

UMRC President and CEO John Thorhauer said he was quite pleased with the way the pig roast went and how progress on Cedars is moving within the timetable set forth at the project's outset.

"We have had 17 of our original group (of Charter members) convert to 10 percent deposits, which allows us to go to the next step and start construction," Thorhauer said. "We're actually five units ahead of UMRC is still offering free where we thought we would upgrades. "We're still offerbe right now."

Candidates can't solve the economy

Tust like the old-time snake oil salesman hawking his magical elixir to cure your every ache and pain, this next batch of candidates for governor will try to sell you on the notion that they can fix Michigan's ail-

Buyer

the economy.

Dick DeVos

Just as it was

Tim

and Jennifer Granholm ran on a platform of turning the economy around. "I'm a businessman; I know how to do this," lectured DeVos at every turn. Incumbent Granholm countered: "We've started the job.

Let me finish it." The economic turnaround issue is now three years older and there is no turnaround in sight, yet the 2010 candidates are in full bloom picking up where DeVos and Granholm left off.

Political neophyte Rick Snyder is traipsing around the state saying the economy is his top issue and he doesn't want to talk about anything else.

It's wishful thinking. He can't avoid being drawn into a debate over stem cell_ research, abortion, guns and gay marriage. Those are the crack cocaine issues of the GOP far right and the addiction means he can't avoid them.

Likewise for U.S Rep. Pete Hoekstra of western Michigan, who also is hitting on the economy, as are Mike Cox. Terri Lynn Land and others.

But when they come calling, ask them for specifics. What can you do to turn the economy

And when they launch into their, "We will cut business taxes blah, blah, blah," it's time to call for a time out.

If cutting taxes was the answer, how come former Gov. John Engler's $2 billion in tax cuts did not insulate the state from an eight-year recession?

When they can't answer that, they will launch into turning the economy around by eliminating all the bureaucratic red tape in Lansing.

Take this to the bank: If there was not a stitch of red tape left, that would not work either. If no one wants to create jobs, red tape is a moot

Next they will harp about knowing how to work with business, and those ties would send the jobless rate plummeting. Right.

Here is the forthright answer you are not likely to hear from either party:

'I hate to tell you this, but if you elect me governor, I can't turn the economy around. Sure I can make some policy revisions and nibble around the edges, but when push comes to shove, government does not create jobs, businesses create them.

"I promise to do everything I can to promote that, but be forewarned, and I repeat, a vote for me is not a vote for a 4 percent jobless rate."

Political experts will make sure none of the candidates utter anything close to that even though it's the right thing to do.

Ask any of the last four governors. If they had the wherewithal to do it, they would have done it.

This being a free country and all, you can swallow the "Ican-solve-our-economic-woes" elixir if you dare, but don't expect it to work.

Your take: Letters to the Editor

To the Editor: I learned three things at lunch time today: 1) More men than women stop at the Chelsea State Bank ATM between 12:30-1:30 p.m.; 2) More people than you would expect want to help; and 3) Chelsea is an amazing place!

I left the Chelsea Retirement Community at lunch time, with the intention of getting money from an ATM, and then meeting my daughter. My first stop was at the drive-through ATM at Chelsea State Bank. All was going well, the ATM was processing my request, spitting out cash, when my truck stopped. I turned the key to off, and then tried to start the truck. No luck.

The engine would crank and crank, but would not turn over. I picked up my phone and called my daughter. As I was talking to her, a car pulled in behind me. I went back to let the person know my truck would not start. The gentleman inside made a comment, like, "Oh, great," backed up and drove off.

already a pretty miserable situation was becoming even worse.

As I was in my truck frantically calling coworkers to find a garage that would tow my truck, vehicles pulled up behind me three different times. All were driven by men, and all were amazingly nice, especially after that first experience! To my great surprise, two gentlemen got out of their trucks and offered to help. One of them popped the hood, checked the engine, and had me try different things. Unfortunately, none of them worked.

He had just pulled away, when another truck pulled up behind me. I told the driver what the problem was, and he also offered to take a look. Again, no luck getting it to start, but then he offered to move my truck out of the way. I climbed! in, expecting him to use his truck to nudge me forward enough to clear the

Instead, when I looked out my rearview mir-

I realized that what was ror, I saw his truck still in place, and saw him pushing my truck! He pushed it far enough that it wouldn't block anyone else who needed to use the ATM.

My truck is on the way to a garage as I write this, and I am still overwhelmed at the kindness and generosity I saw this afternoon. To the gentlemen who offered their assistance, and especially the gentleman who moved my truck - what started as an incredibly humiliating experience was turned around by you. Thank you!

To the Editor: I see that the Dexter School bus drivers are back to their old ways again. Running stop signs, speeding in and our of the Village. I just happened to be behind one Bus 40 this morning (May 29) at around 7:40 a.m. going down Fourth St. from Dexter-Ann Arbor Road.

There are three stop signs; one at Hudson, one at Dover and one at Central. The driver never came to a complete stop at any of them. He or she just rolled right through, and after stopping at the railroad tracks for less than one or two seconds, sped up to 45 in a 35 mph zone and proceeded up Mast Road doing in excess of 50 mph in a clearly marked 45 mph speed zone.

While we're at it, why do Dexter schools officials allow one of there newer white Chevy pick-ups to stop at Mugg/Bopps gas station every morning and allow the driver to stock up on junk food and sodas. If the Dexter schools has lots of extra gas to waste on private outings with school property then I want a refund on my already high property taxes. I find it hard to believe that I am' the only one who has the gumption to speak up about inappropriate wasteful spending.

I urge everyone to vote

Byrnes: 'We cannot afford to ignore our roads'

Last month, sections of bipartisan Transportation members have worked to were converted back to dirt roads due to a lack of funding. Christianity, in that there rules about eating the right foods, fasting and praying five times a day:

"I have been reading blogs of the people who are currently there, and there is no reason to go up to the north where there is desert," he said, adding that he has heard that Niger is the safest country in the region, even though there have been some concerns about tourists being captured in the north.

When I think of Niger, it is very little in the headlines," he said. He added that he is expecting that it will be less visited than other countries, and may have retained more of its cultural heritage.

In Niger, he said that in the country, native tribe languages prevail, but the educated speak French.

"Some speak Zindar, or Tamashek, which is related to Arabic or Berber. I will most likely learn Hausa, which is the biggest or most used language. The people there know it across ethnic lines," he said.

When he first gets to Niger, he will spend three months of intense language study. During those three months, he will spend time living with a host family and getting to know the country. He does not yet know in which city or village he will be stationed. "I could be living in a mud hut, or an apartment," he said. He is hoping to have running water and electricity at least part of the time. He is hoping to use a laptop computer to write with and that there will be access to the internet so he can check emails.

"I will probably not have it, but Peace Corps will have it at their regional headquarters," said Leonard.

His job description will be community and youth educator and will be responsible for training students in decision-making skills, training trainers and continuing existing clubs. He might also be expected to help raise awareness of AIDS, and other issues that youth in Niger are dealing with.

'They don't allow you to teach in the classroom," he said. "I haven't worked in administration before.

Leonard said he will get more specific training once he gets there and expects that the culture, climate, be quite a culture shock at first. There are new medical supplies to take, such as malaria pills, immunizations against yellow fever and Hepatitus.

"I'm glad I've done something like that before," he said. "I've made a heat and food adjustment before in Taiwan. But this will be much more extreme. I will have to be extremely flexible."

Leonard said he is looking forward to adapting to the culture.

"My experience so far is that you learn so much more when you learn the culture from the inside out as much as you can," he said, "You can't change your race or your (language), but if you come in with a humble spirit, and don't assume, you necessarily have all of the solutions, or even see the problem the way it ought to be seen."

He said that he took a class in African political systems this year, and learned through one of the books he studied that the best approach is listening first.

"In the past, people have come in with the best intentions, and upset the system, overturned the native cultures and traditions," he said, adding that Peace Corps doesn't do it that way. "It's a big organization that's well known, nage replacement projects will be reduced. That's not to mention cuts in local bus and transit systems, as well as reduced maintenance to roadside parks that help support Michigan's tourism industry.

In response to those staggering numbers, the plan ensures that we capture those federal funds by tying taxes to wholesale gas prices and gradually increases vehicle registration fees over a five year period. After being phased in over five years, the plan would provide about $1.8 billion in additional transportation revenue per year that will go toward maintaining the roads and bridges you drive on every day.

Ultimately, spending money on our transportation infrastructure has to be viewed as an investment that pays off over time. We cannot continue to operate under a funding structure that forces us to revert to dirt roads. The ability to move people and goods safely and efficiently is an absolute must for Michigan to rebound and emerge stronger from these economic times. Creating jobs is the only way to restore prosperity. Investing in our roads will attract businesses, create new jobs and allow our hard-working families to get back on the job. Doing nothing will not only hamper our ability to make steps forward, but it will actually push us back.

To the Editor: Memorial Day gives us a particular time to pause and consider. We honor all those many thousands of young men and women who have died in wars and conflicts. Iwould like to challenge us to consider if the results have truly justified these deaths. It also took great courage for those conscientious objectors to go beyond popular thought and honor the highest command: Thou shall not kill. I believe that when we are truly a civilized nation, we will not need MIGHT to be RIGHT.

In the Memorial Day speech at Arlington National Cemetéry our President said, "We have laid a wreath at the grave of the 'Unknown Soldier' in times of war and times of peace." I ask "What times of Peace?" MLK, Rosa Parks and others have shown us another

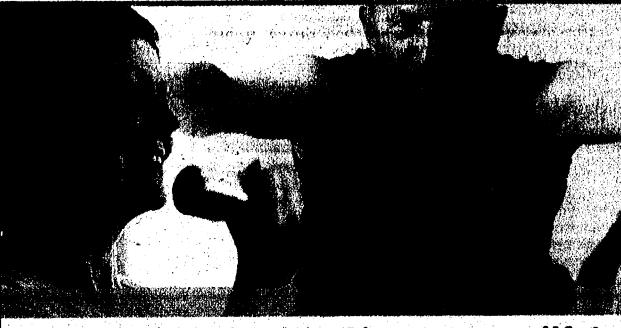

Is it time to move beyond the model of Might makes Right, and begin to consider alternatives to solving political problems? Do we teach our children to look for peaceful ways to reconcile differences? Do we model diplomacy and problem solving in our board rooms and social organizations? Can we begin to work with similar solutions in our relations with other governments? -

When will our country outgrow its "Wild West" mentality? That will be a day to Celebrate.

House passes Schauer amendment to assist small businesses

Congressman Mark Schauer, D-District 7, joined colleagues on both sides of the aisle last week to pass the Job Creation through Entrepreneurship Act (H.R.2352), a bill that gives small businesses and entrepreneurs the tools and resources they need to succeed and thrive.

As part of last week's vote, the U.S. House of Representatives overwhelmingly voted to pass a Schauer amendment that helps small manufacturers that are transitioning into growth sec-

"My wife and I own a small business in Battle Creek, and I know this bill will offer a much-needed boost to small businesses at a time when we need it most," said Schauer. "Michigan has lost 400,000 manufacturing jobs since 2000 due to unfair trade policies. My amendment will help level the playing field for small manufacturers. by offering them additional resources to assist with the transition into growth sectors, increasing demand for hightech jobs."

This bipartisan legislation marks the first major overhaul in a decade of the Small Business Administration's entrepreneurial development programs, such as Small Business Development Centers (SBDCs), Women's Business Centers (WBCs), and the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE). Congressman Schauer's amendment includes $2.5 million in competitive grants for Small Business Development Centers to assist small manufacturers for the transition into high-growth sectors of the economy. For Instance, an automotive Tool and Die Company would get assistance to transition into aviation manufacturing under the grant program. Each state SBDC could apply for up to $250,000 through the competitive grant program to help small manufacturers. "The Michigan Small Business & Technology Development Center currently working aggressively with small manufacturers to diversify their operations into new market areas," said Carol Lopucki, state director for the Michigan Small Business & Technology Development Center.

"Increased funding would allow our statewide network the additional resources needed to effectively ramp up and provide a turnkey solution to serve the tremendous needs of Michigan manufacturers.

We have the tools and infrastructure in place to do this important work? It has been estimated that for every $1 spent on these programs, there is a $2.87 return to the Treasury. In 2008 alone, entrepreneurial development programs also helped create 73,000 jobs nationwide and 3,379 jobs in Michigan.

"As a small business owner myself, I know these programs provide the counseling and technical resources that can make the difference for an entrepréneur trying to get off of the ground," said Rep. Heath Shuler, the Chairman of the Subcommittée on Rural Development. Entrepreneurship and Trade. "I commend Rep. Mark Schauer's leadership in providing an amendment that would help small manufacturers gain the skills and resources necessary to transition into growth sectors."

Stabenow applaceds new law

U.S. Senator Debbie Stabenow, D-Michigan last week commended President Obama for signing the Fraud Enforcement and Recovery Act of 2009 into law. The new law will impose smart regulations on private mortgage brokers and lenders to prevent the same corporate frauds that helped lead to the collapse of our economy. It will also provide a blueprint to increase resources for law enforcement agencies, so they can effectively prosecute those responsible for engaging in fraudulent mortgage activity. The legislation passed the Senate in late April.

"Holding irresponsible brokers and bankers accountable for their actions is a strong and clear signal to those who would contemplate risking our country's financial future for personal gain," said Stabenow. "These focused, targeted regulations will help prevent the practices that damaged the foundations of our economy. I am pleased President Obama has signed this bipartisan legislation into law. It is truly a victory for consumers and our economy as a whole."

Provisions in the law:

 Imposes smart regulations on private mortgage brokers and lenders by amending the definition of a "financial institution" to include a "mortgage lending business." This will ensure these companies are held fully accountable under federal fraud laws.,

 Lays the ground work to allow the Department of Justice and the FBI to hire 410 new prosecutors and agents, as well as double the number of mortgage fraud task forces throughout the country.

 Makes sure taxpayer money that is currently being made available to banks will not be used fraudulently or illegally. Funds distributed through TARP or the economic recovery package will be subject to the same federal oversight.

Creates a Financial Markets Commission charged with fully investigating the near collapse of the banking system and housing market in order to learn how to prevent a repeat of this crisis. The 10 member committee will be comprised of six Democratic members and four Republican members.

Amateur Radio Club

On Sunday June 7, the Chelsea Amateur Radio Club will hold its 31st annual Ham Radio swap. It will be held at the Chelsea Fair Grounds. The swap opens to the public at 8 a.m. Admission tickets are $5 per person and children 12 and under are free. The group will be offering hourly door prizes and a grand prize of a mobile amateur radio transceiver. There are truck and table spaces still available.

The Chelsea amateur radio club is a fully non-profit (501c-3) organization. They are dedicated to the continuation of Amateur Radio and the radio art. The group's members are also very active volunteers with the Chelsea police, Washtenaw County Emergency Services Department and the National Weather Service SKYWARN service. They provide emergency communications in times of natural and man-made disasters. They maintain 4 local radio repeaters, one of which has 24/7 emergency backup power. Their annual swap is the group's major source of income to fund these and other amateur radio activities.

This year it's time for a workout that really works.

EMU'S GERSHAM AND KARANJA ADVANCE TO NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP Two Eagles set personal bests in qualifying

YPSILANTI, Mich. — Eastern Michigan University track athletes Josh Karanja (Ottawa, Ontario, Canada-Napean) and Gerald Gersham (Southfield, Mich.-Southfield) and turned in the best performances of their careers last weekend (May 29-30) to qualify for the NCAA National Championship, June 10-13 in Fayetteville, Ark.

Both runners were part of a contingent of Eagles that competed at last weekend's 2009 NCAA Mideast Regional Championship at the University of Louisville's Cardinal Park.

Karanja ran a lifetime-best of 8:37.20 in the 3,000-meter steeplechase to earn runner-up honors to Louisville's Corey Thorne, who edged out Karanja by .24 seconds. Additionally, Karanja and Thorne's times were the fastest of all the NCAA Regional Championships contested last weekend. Karanja's time also ranks him fourth in EMU school history behind Corey Nowitzke, Mark Smith and Jordan Desilets.

Gersham tossed a lifetime-best mark of 59-09.75 on his fifth overall throw of the shot put to place fourth and earn an automatic ticket to the NCAA Championship. In addition, his improvement puts him fourth overall in EMU school history.

Curtis Vollmar (Grand Blanc, Mich.-Grand Blanc) and David Brent (Monroe, Mich.-St. Mary's Catholic) also competed in the steeplechase, with Vollmar finishing 14th and Brent 21st.

The 4x400-meter relay quartet of Kevin Lanier (White Lake, Mich.-Lakeland), Ackeem Forde (Haynesville, Barbados-Cambridge & Parry), Kyle Fortin (Fairview, Mich.-Fairview-CMU) and Nate Blackwell (Kalemazoo, Mich.-Central) ran a season-best time of 3:10.69, finishing 17th. Also competing for the men at the regional were 1500-meter man Neal Naughton (Walled Lake, Mich.-Western) who finished 22nd overall in that event and high jumper Xavier Clais (Paris, France) who 13th in his speciality.

The Eastern Michigan University women's track and field team sent three student-athletes to the NCAA Regionals.

.Beverly Elcock (Ft. Wayne, Ind.-Northrop) finished 11th in the 800 meters with a lifetime-best mark of 2:09.04 and just missed the field in the finals. In the pole vault, junior Jessica Novakowski (Wixom, Mich.-Walled Lake Western) cleared the opening height of 12-00.00 but was unable to clear the next bar, finishing 27th.

Junior Jasmine Gates (Virginia Beach, Va.-Tailwood) did not make the opening height in the high iump and did not advance.

the But : worse was yet to come. "Diane got sick and couldn't work for months," Paul explained. "Those two hits were followed by foreclosure and bare cupboards. Fortunately, a friend told her about Faith in Action."

As a Chelsea United Way member agency, Faith in Action receives funding to carry out their mission.

"Because of Chelsea United

Way, we are able to provide food to families, help pay utility bills when 'turn-off' notices threaten, and help people find affordable rental housing," Paul said: "Sometimes" we're able to work out a deal with landlords or mortgage companies to buy more time for the family."

Chelsea United Way's 2008-2009 campaign drive continues and the organization is at working towards their goal of raising $100,000.

This year, the organization is targeting those agencies that meet the most critical local needs in term's of food, safety, health and community impact.

'We recently held our annual review of each of member agencies," said Rick Eder, president of Chelsea United Way. "Each of our agencies' missions are compelling. The work they do for our community is incredible. We have 21-member volunteer board and all of us are amazed at what each of the agencies are contributing to the quality of life in Chelsea." Paul sees the Chelsea United Way as key to Faith in Action's success.

"We are blessed with broad support from the congregations of Dexter and Chelsea and community members, but our single largest source of support is Chelsea United Way,' she said. "We couldn't do it without them."

With the help of Faith in Action, "Diane" was able to tobtain free legal services enabling her to find and make her ex-husband start paying child support. And while her life is regaining some normalcy, "Diane" and others like her know how it feels to be one-paycheck-from-homeless.

Chelsea's largest choir

The City of Chelsea is preparing to celebrate its 175th anniversary! The celebration will conclude with an Inter-denominational service at 1 p.m. on Sunday, June 28 in the Arena building at the Chelsea Fair Grounds. If you love our community and love praising God through your singing, then you are invited to join the "175 Voice Strong" Choir being formed for this special Inter-denominational service. This will be the largest gathering of voices praising the Lord in Chelsea's history, and you are invited to come and make it a joy-filled experience.

The service will include many classic hymns, and there will be live accompaniment to support the singing. The next two rehearsals for this wonderful gathering are June 16 and June 23 at St. Mary Church, 14200 E. Old U.S. 12 in Chelsea from 7 to 9 p.m. If you would like further information, contact B.J. Hohnke at bhohnke@teamksi. com and refer to "175 Voice Strong" in the subject line. Come and join - everyone is having a lot of fun putting this together and want you to be a part of it too.

'Crocodile Dock'

A summer kids' event called "Crocodile Dock" will be hosted at Dexter United Methodist Church from June 15 to June 19. Kids jump into bayou fun at Crocodile Dock where they participate in memorable Bible-learning activities, sing catchy songs, play teamwork-building games, dig into yummy treats, experience electrifying Bible adventures, collect Bible Memory Buddies to remind them of God's Word, and create Bible Point crafts they'll take home and play with all summer long.

Plus, kids will learn to look for evidence of God all around them through something called God Sightings. Each day concludes at Firefly Finale—a celebration that gets everyone involved in living what they've learned. Family members and friends are encouraged to join in daily for this special time at 11:30 a.m.

Kids at Crocodile Dock will join nearly a million children sharing God's love in a hands-on mission project. Kids at Crocodile Dock will learn that it is not all about them, but that there are children around the world who are hurting.

Crocodile Dock is for kids from 4 years old through fifth grade and will run from 9 a.m. to noon each day. For more information, call 426-8480 or register online at www.dexterumc.org.

Summer Day Comp

Kids love summer because there's no school and the options for fun, warm-weather activities are limitless. But for parents who work full time and have young children, the thought of summer can cause concern.

The Salvation Army of Washtenaw County (TSA-WC) is hosting a summer day camp program at the Ann Arbor Corps Community Center (100 Arbana Dr.), and space is still available. The goal of the program is to help kids avoid boredom and stay out of trouble during summer break.

The program runs Monday through Friday from June 15 through Aug. 7. It starts at 9 a.m. and ends at 3 p.m. TSA-WC welcomes children as young as two years old (as long as they are pottytrained), and up to 14 years of age. It's open to any child within Washtenaw County, as well as children who live outside the county, but whose parents work there.

The cost for one child is $20 per week, two children is $30 per week and three or more children is $40 per week. TSA-WC will provide lunch and snacks: Parents interested in signing up their child or children can stop by the Ann Arbor Corps for a registration

He was ordained in the Episcopal Church on June 4, 1960, and served as an Episcopal clergyman in New Graduate School of Education, From 1970 to 1976 he was on the faculty of a coed affiliate college of the University of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon, Canada, teaching a variety of subjects related to religion, psychology, sociology and education. In 1976 he began a sabbatical year at The University of Michigan in Ann Arbor that resuited in leaving his Canadian position and completing a Ph.D. in 1984. His dissertation combined his many interests: its title: Literary Fiction for Sociology, Psychology and Gerontology: The Human Perspective Revealed. He always described it as a joy to write; it won several awards. During this period he also had a half-time appointment at the U of M Institute of Gerontology and served as rector of St. Hement / Episcopal Church, an African-American Episcopal Church in Inkster, MI. In 1986, after many years of prayer and reflection, he left the Episcopal Church and entered the Catholic Church. After a few months of study at St. John's Provincial Seminary in Plymouth. MI, he was ordained a Catholic priest on May 1, 1987. He served in the Diocese of Lansing, MI, until his retirement in 2005. He initially served as an associate at St. Casimir Catholic Parish in Lansing, MI. In 1989 he became the pastor of St. Andrew the Apostle Parish, Saline, MI. In 1993, he became pastor of a large parish, St. Thomas the Apostie Catholic Church in Ann Arbor, MI. In 2005 he retired and became the "first, ever" priest associate of the Oratory of St. Philip Neri in Rock Hill, SC. He lived in a house near the Oratory and prayed, dined and socialized with the Oratorians. As a retired priest, he served part-time in the

Summer Reading Program begins June 12

Come to the Chelsea District Library Friday, June 12 to help kickoff this year's Summer Reading Program!

"Be Creative" is the theme for all programs and events throughout June and July. Sign up for Summer Reading at the kickoff, which will host Comics and Superhero Day as well as an Illustrator and Drawing program. The first 100 kids to sign up get a prize.

From noon to 2 p.m. kids can make a giant comic on the library lawn with the help of real comic artists. There will also be superhero games and crafts to prepare for the Kids Read Comics Convention.

At 2 p.m. in McKune join Tom Woodruff, illustrator of "Michigan: an Illustrated History for Children, Great Lakes and Great Ships, Indians of the Great Lakes" and many more. Tom will take kids on an exciting expedition to find creatures lurking in the library.

Friday is also the opening of the two-day Kids Read Comics Convention. The first day of the convention takes place at the Chelsea River Gallery from 3 to 9 p.m.

"I am so excited to be hosting the Kids Read Comics Convention at the library," said Edith Burney, teen librarian at the Chelsea District Library. "It should be a fantastically fun event. Please remember there is an art auction on Saturday night to benefit the library's youth services, as well as a costume party."

Join DC Comics writer Dan Mishkin for the "Make it a Story Workshop" to learn how to turn a cool idea into a story that others will want to read. There will be panel discussions with comic artists, "Quick Draw!." an improvisational cartooning workshop and a character design workshop. At 6 p.m., have dinner with Tara & Yuri, voice actors on shows such as "Naruto," "Bleach," "Fate/Stay Night," "Rave Master," "The Sarah Connor Chronicles" and "Gilmore Girls." End the night with the Charity Art Jam. Masquerade Ball and Art Auction.

Saturday is another comicfilled day kicking off at 10 a.m. Workshops include "Life in the Writer's Room," "Introduction to Cartooning." "How to Make Mini-Comics" and more. Registration is required for many of the workshops and events.

Pappas finishes sixth in

By Don Richter Sports Editor

Chelsea's boys' track and field team competed in the Division 2 state meet at Zeeland last Saturday.

The Bulldogs sent 10 athletes to the final, including three relays and two individuals.

Sophomore August Pappas led Chelsea placing sixth in the 3,200-meter run with a time of 9:43.00. With his effort, Pappas earned All-State recognition.

"He ran an intelligent, tough race," said Chelsea coach Eric Swager. "He moved up through the field and grabbed sixth place. It was an outstanding performance, especially for a mere sophomore."

Peter Wilke participated in the 800-meter run for the Bulldogs finishing in 2:02.

The 3.200-meter relay foursome of Nick Hewitt, Dominic Conybeare, Kevin Rosentreter and Wilke finished ninth in the state in 8:11.90.

"Although all the guys ran incredibly hard, we had some problems running even pace on our relay legs which cost us a few precious seconds," Swager said.

The 1,600-meter -relay of Riley Feeney, Zak Giller, Jesse Forner and Rosentreter stopped the clock in 3:30.00.

The 400-meter relay quartet of Logan Yordanich, Joey Newland, Forner and Giller had a time of 45.2.

"The other relays (1,600and 400-meter) had solid performances and we hope to learn from the experience of running in a such a competitive meet," Swager said. "Many of the guys are back next year, including the entire 400 relay team. We hope to make it back to the finals and bring a bunch of teammates with us."

Hamilton won the Division 2 state title with 61 points. Williamston was the state runner-up with 38 points, while Jackson County Parma Western was third with 30 points.

Chelsea ended up 49th in the state with three points. Sports Editor Don Richter can be reached at 475-1371 or at drichter@heritage.com.

Chelsea's girls' soccer team captured a Division 2 state district championship last Saturday defeating host Mason 1-0. The district crown was the Bulldogs' second straight and fourth overall in the program's his-

"It was a very tense, very evenly played game," said Chelsea coach Chris Orlandi.

Chelsea (11-5-2) scored the game-winning goal 53 seconds into the opening half. Sophomore midfielder Brooke Gier scored the goal off an assist from senior forward Brooke Ehman. The goal was Gier's first of her varsity career.

"She picked a good time to score her first goal," Orlandi said.

The Bulldogs hunkered down the rest of the contest, bottling up Mason and frustrating the host Bulldogs throughout the first half and into the second stanza.

"We were able to take care of things early," Orlandi said. "I didn't think that would be all of the scoring."

Mason didn't give up eas-

"They (Mason) dominated play in the first half," Orlandi said. "They were ranked honorable mention in the state and favored to win the district."

Orlandi said he told his team at halftime that they hadn't had a shutout since early May.

"I challenged them to hold up," he said. "The girls took it to heart. It was a much more evenly played game in the second half. It was a great atmosphere."

Earning the shutout in net for the Bulldogs was sophomore keeper Michelle Wellman. The goose egg was Wellman's seventh of the season.

Orlandi praised the play of defenders junior Sarah Bingel and sophomore Rachel Cooperrider.

Girls' Track Chelsea places third in state

By Don Richter Sports Editor

Chelsea's girls' track and field team finished third at the Division 2 state meet last Saturday at Zeeland.

The Bulldogs ended up with 31 points. The thirdplace state finish is the highest ever for a Chelsea girls' track and field squad.

Winning the state title. was East Lansing with 36 points. DeWitt was second with 34 points, while Detroit Renaissance was fourth with 30 points and Lansing Sexton fifth with 29 points.

, "The meet went about as well as it could for us," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke. "Each girl performed just super. We took eight girls and won 13 All-State medals. I am extremely proud of these young ladies and the attitude they have displayed this season. It was a fitting way to cap off what has been a truly outstanding season for our team."

Junior Olivia DeTroyer led the Bulldogs defending her state championship and winning her second straight title in the 400-meter run with a time of 57.3.

"The performance of the day was Olivia DeTroyer in the 400-meter run," Clarke said: "Olivia ran the race of her life. Olivia has worked very hard at her running all year long and certainly deserves her state championship. She was feeling a lot of pressure to repeat her championship and she did just that. Repeating as champion is probably one of the toughest things to do in sports."

Sophomore Corinne Carpenter competed in the 200 meters reaching the state semifinals with a clocking of 26.9.

Sophomore Lauren Dark participated in the pole vault for the Bulldogs clearing 9-feet, 2 inches.

In the long jump, senior Victoria Kingsinger measured a 14-7, while junior teammate Christina Coffman had a mark of 13-7 for Chelsea.

In the 400-meter relay, the Bulldog team of senior Erin Benjamin, Coffman, DeTroyer and Carpenter crossed the line fourth in a school record 50.2.

In the 800-meter relay, the foursome of Benjamin, DeTroyer, Carpenter and Coffman finished second in the state with a school record time of 1:44.3.

In the 1,600-meter relay, the Bulldog group of freshman Megan Hall, DeTroyer, Carpenter and Benjamin placed second in 4:05.7:

Benjamin anchored the 1,600-meter relay, the meet's final race.

"Erin took the baton and with a great surge moved us up to a second-place finish," Clarke said. "Erin has had a brilliant four years on our team. We will miss her next season."

Clarke said Carpenter also came up big for the Bulldogs.

"Corinne had her finest day ever," he said. "She ran three PRs (personal records) in the relays and made All-State three times."

Coffman earned All-State recognition twice for Chelsea.

"She ran very well

Golf

By Don Richter Sports Editor

Chelsea's Mason Wagner competed in the Division 2 boys' golf state regional tournament at the Marshall Country Club last Friday.

A freshman, Wagner shot a 78 finishing 11th overall out of 72 players.

"That was a fabulous performance," said Chelsea coach Joe Ewald. "He had one heck of a showing for a freshman."

The top three teams and the remaining top three individuals advanced to the state tournament. Wagner ended up four shots shy of qualifying for the state match.

On May 21, Chelsea placed eighth at the Division 2 state district tournament at Binder Park in Battle Creek.

The Buildogs ended up with a team tally of 366/

Only the top six teams advanced to the regional competition.

Individually for Chelsea, Wagner led the way carding an 84. Dylan Laidlaw shot a 93, while Taylor Redmond had a 94 and Luke Heinen a 95 for the Bulldogs.

On May 19, Chelsea finished fourth in the Southeastern Conference White Division match hosted by Adrian at Wolf Creek Golf Course.

The Bulldogs recorded a team score of 331.

"That was our best score of the year for 18 holes," Ewald said. "It was a good performance. We showed a lot of improvement."

Wagner finished with a 78, while Laidlaw had an 82. Heinen an 84 and Jason Doyle an 87 for Chelsea.

Chelsea softball reached the Division 2 state district final before losing to Tecumseh 6-1 last Saturday.

The Bulldogs (21-17) led-1-0 after one inning of play as sophomore Ellie Stoffer and junior Kaley Dixon connected for back-to-back doubles.

The Indians (27-7) scored an unearned run in the fourth inning tying the contest at 1-1.

In the sixth inning, Tecumseh exploded for five runs. The Indians scored all five runs with two outs.

Stoffer led the offense going 2-for-4 with two doubles.

Dixon suffered the loss from the circle for Chelsea.

"It was a disappointment," said Chelsea coach Bob Moffett. "We played with a lot of intensity. We believed we could play with them (Tecumseh) this time."

In the first round of districts, the Bulldogs defeated Jackson Northwest 2-0.

Dixon was masteriul irom the circle tossing a one-hitter and striking out 12 for the victory.

Stoffer sparked the offensive attack finishing 2-for-3 with one RBI and two stolen bases.

Junior Alyssa Prokos added an RBI double for Chelsea.

Dixon was named team MVP, while junior Devyn Trester and Prokos received the Most Improved Award.

State's forests are healthy and sustainable

Michigan has more than 19 million acres of forest land that provide recreation, products such as paper and lumber and beautiful vistas. Our forests protect soil, air and water quality, support biological diversity, wildlife and aquatic populations, and maintain diverse plant communities.

In recent years, many citizens and stakeholders here and throughout the world have asked that forest managers demonstrate they are practicing sustainable forest management. Sustainable forest management means meeting the needs and values of today without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their needs and values.

Over the past decade. forest certification systems have developed to assess forest sustainability. Each system has a set of standards or principles that address legal compliance, forest productivity, reforestation, forest health, biodiversity, planning, and soil and water protection, as well as monitoring and

The ATFS program is geared toward private family forest landowners. three certification systems require an evaluation by qualified, independent, third party auditors, and a certification certificate is issued only if acceptable conformance with the standard is demonstrated.

In 2005, at the direction of Governor Jennifer Granholm and the Legislature, the Department of Natural Resources certified its 3.9-million acre state forest system under both the SFI and FSC programs, becoming the largest single dual-certified landowner in Michigan and one of the largest in the nation.

Fishing fun for young and old alike

What is it about fishing that brings both boys and men to their knees? I can't explain it, but every guy out there who fishes knows exactly what I mean.

Even though I've crossed the threshold of the big 4-0, I still enjoy fishing now as much as I did as a child. The only thing better than fishing, is teaching your own child how to do it, as well.

I cleaned out my basement last week and took a good look at my spinning and fly rods. My son Ricky can handle a fishing rod pretty well, put on his own worms and take the hook out of the mouth of a fish well most of the time, anyway. But he's never handled a fly rod before and today seemed like a good day to introduce him to the sport.

There's a lot more to fly fishing than a rod and reel. It requires a deep appreciation and knowledge base of the fish you're going after. Unfortunately, some people believe that fly fishing is only for the wealthy and arrogant. I can tell you that I've made life long friends who I've met by chance while sharing a river with them.

I've been asked by many people why I like fly fishing so much. My response is to request that people rent the movie "A River Runs Through It" to get the answer.

But for those of you who really want to know, my reasons are simple and to the point. I love wading through the water and shadow casting in the early morning hours. I love carefully selecting a fly, praying it's the one that a brown trout will take. I enjoy picking out an eddy where that fish might be hiding and yearning for that one perfect cast.

I love watching my dry fly make its way through the current as it floats downstream to that special spot. Taylor Made Adventures

RICK TAYLOR

And, if I'm really lucky, I'll watch my fly suddenly disappear below the surface. Fish On! I love that on most outings, there's no one else around, save for myself, and a beautiful river to call my own for a little while. It's the essence of fly fishing I enjoy the most, not necessarily the act of it.

I asked Ricky if he wanted to go fishing and his response was pure excitement. I loaded up our car and went to a good friend's farm that has a pond loaded with blue gills in it. Ricky was apprehensive about using the fly rod, but I assured him that he would have a ton of fun. We made it to the water's edge and I showed Ricky how to cast.

My first cast caught a blue gill within seconds of the fly hitting the water. I showed Ricky how strip the line back so that he didn't actually have to reel in the fish. I only had about 10 feet of line out, but that's all we needed. Ricky got used to casting within just a few minutes and he had a great time. Ricky and I caught a fish on every single cast and we never broke open the worms I bought "just in case."

If you're thinking of getting your child into fishing or yourself for that matter, try fly fishing. There are many inexpensive combinations out there and you'll be surprised how easy it is to catch fish without getting your hands dirty. The reality of fly fishing is much easier than the perception of it, I promise. Give it a try sometime, you might just learn to love it the way I do.

By the time you read this article, I'll be in the Cayman Islands fly fishing for Bone Fish and Tarpon. I'll also be using a traditional rod and reel for Marlin, Wahoo and Tuna. You might say I'm a bit excited about my trip. I'm looking forward to visiting my younger brother and enjoying some much needed rest and relaxation.

I hope you have the time to "get out there" wherever that may be. I know I will.

Rick Taylor's son Ricky went fly fishing for the first time last week. He caught a fish every time he cast a line.

Purple Rose The Purple Rose Theatre Company presents the world premiere comedy "Wake" by Carey Crim this summer. The production will enjoy an 11-week engagement from Thursday, June 18 through Saturday, Aug. 29. Seven low-price previews of 'Wake' will be performed from Thursday, June 18, through Thursday, June 25. Regular performances for the duration of the engagement are Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8 p.m. with Saturday matinees at 3 p.m. and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m.

Performances are held at The

Purple Rose Theatre Company,

River Gallery

137 Park Street, Chelsea.

The Chelsea River Gallery will host "Friends Behind the Lens" from May 16 through June 21. A reception to meet the artists will take place from 5 to 8 p.m. on Saturday. There will be an artist talk from 2 to 4 p.m. on Sunday, June 14. River Gallery has been hoping for an opportunity to feature a very special exhibit of photography for our collectors, visitors and friends. The Gallery is proud to announce an exhibition featuring new work and selected classics by world-famous photographer Howard Bond. He will be joined in this exciting show by world-traveler and photographer Nancy Hopwood.

Art Fair

The Chelsea Painters 36th Annual Art Fair will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday on the grounds of Chelsea Community Hospital. Twenty-five awardwinning artists will display and sell original fine art and cards in a variety of media: watercolor, acrylic, oil, pastel, gouache, encaustic, monotype and mixed media. The event is free and open to the public and will be held in a delightful, wooded outdoor setting. The Chelsea Center for the Arts (CCA) will offer hands-on art activities for children during the Art Fair This event is free of charge. A percentage of proceeds will be donated to the Chelsea Center for the Arts (CCA) and to the Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary Scholarship Fund.

Reflections: Norm & Lorena Wenk

By Cynthia Furlong Reynolds Special Writer

Born on Jan. 18, 1918, Norm Wenk was raised speaking German m his family's 80-acre farm south of town on Fletcher Road. Like the soft, Lorens, he couldn't speak a word of English when he began First grade at the nearby one-room schoolhouse. A 1935 graduate of Thelseg High School, he had graduated from Cleary College and was porteing for a Chrysler dealership when war was declared.

Men go to war to defend their country and to defend the people they love. I met Lorena at an ice cream social at the cities Church. My best friend, Ted Brueckner introduced us. We've been married 66 years now.

insed to love hunting. Lorena and I were rabbit hunting on swamp land on Dec. 7, 1941, the day Pearl Harbor was attacked. I had my gun and she had hers. When we saw a rabbit, the yelled, "There he goes!" instead of shooting it. She left the shooting to me. Maybe that was a sign of what was coming. When we went back into her house, we heard the news about Fearl Harbor on the radio. We didn't know how to feel or what o say when FDR came on the air.

By that time, I was in the coast artillery as member of the 319th Infantry, Serial number: 2028897. corena visited Fort Crockett with my father in July 1942 and when we had some time alone, we decided to get married when I went on furlough. My furlough came up on Aug. 29. My brother grabbed Norm off the train and took him directy to the church, to the wedding rehearsal. He didn't have time a hurricane, and then rebuilt. Ours was the first church wed-ding—and it was beautiful. It was early in the war years, so people were still having fancy weddings. I wore a long white gown. Norm's brother, my brother, and Ted, the friend who introduced us, stood up with Norm. I had three bridesmaids, a flower girl, and ring bearer. Ralph and Betty Cesterle came. So did Duane and Elsie Wiest.

We were married at 7:00, with 300 people watching. After we had a cake and ice cream reception at the church, we drove to Ann Arbor to have our pictures taken. Being German, you know what we had when we returned to my parents' home; pretzels and beer! Then the shindig—the horning—began. Many, many of our friends all gathered to make as much noise as they could, banging, twanging, blowing horns, hooting and hollering on the lawn at my parents' house. That lasted into the night—or until the pretzels were gone. This was a traditional German wedding. We spent one night at a hotel in Ypsilanti, and our friends had a wedding shower, or party, after the wedding. Norm and I visited friends and relatives until he had to return to Fort Crockett.

Lorena worked in a bank in Ann Arbor while I tried to find housing on the base. It wasn't until November that I found an

What about Karma?

By Mark Porinsky Guest Writer

I understand that the concept of karma as part of the eastern religions (mainly Hinduism and Buddhism) has many variations and can get quite complex. But basically, the teaching of karma is a belief that every action, word, and thought has consequences: consequences, not just for the person who performs it, but for those around the person, and extending to the entire universe. Also, most people who embrace karma believe in reincarnation, and therefore hold the view that every action, word, or thought also carries consequences for future lives. Such consequences can be favorable or unfavorable, depending on whether the original action is good or bad.

Some who believe in karma think of God or some deity being in control and dishing out the consequences for people. Many, however, hold that karma is entirely the result of natural principles: The universe is relentless and will not let you get away with anything. In either case, one's karma depends entirely on the person; it's completely up to us to determine whether we improve our lot in life by good, or worsen it through evil.

Can these views be reconciled. with the Christian faith? Yes, to a point. The Bible says, for example,

"God will give to each person" according to what he has done" (Romans 2:6, NIV translation.) God is 100% fair, and in the end He will see to it that no action, word, thought, or desire is left unaccounted for. That certainly is consistent with the teaching of karma. One could also argue that, according to the Christian faith, our actions, thoughts, and words affect all of God's creation.

There is a huge difference, however, in the Christian faith: The Christian faith teaches "grace." "Grace" means, literally, "free gift." The main message of the Bible is that we don't have to get the bad consequences we deserve. God chose to love the human race, and sent His Son to take all the bad consequences of our actions. words, thoughts, and desires on Himself-all of our "bad karma," you could say - and suffer the full price for all of them on the cross. Anyone who comes to believe in what God's Son Jesus did can look forward, not to future incarnations where life will be either better or worse, but to immediately entering eternal happiness once this life is over.

Grace is the only thing that could make things turn out in our favor. While the teaching of karma is based on the belief that human beings are moral agents who are free to make their own choices, the Bible teaches (and experience confirms) that people, as they are by nature, consistently fail to make choices that would lead to good karma. Regardless of our good intentions, actions and words, we are filled with selfish and self-seeking desires inside. We are thankful that our God has chosen not to give us what we deserve.

Anyone who rejects the free grace that Jesus came to bring and insists on getting the karma they deserve, will get it - and will regret it.

VETERAN

My next stop was Fort Jacksonville, where I was promoted to become an administrator for the field artillery.

We spent that year wondering what would happen and a spending every minute that we could together.

Then I was told to report to Fort Dix, New Jersey. My Dad came to say goodbye, and he brought Lorena home to Chelsea. Then I took a train out East. On New Year's Eve 1944. my friend Gibb (Gilbert Brown) and I went into New York City to see the doings at Times Square. We stayed at Fort Dix four or five days before we shipped out. I was ready to go. Everyone was patriotic, and we all wanted to serve our country.

The Ann Arbor Bank asked me to come back. Workers were in short supply. I worked until August 1, shortly before our daughter was born. It was good to have something to occupy my time. I felt awful and I cried a lot. I was so worried about what would happen to Norm. Everyone lived in fear, desperate to hear the war news, but afraid of what we'd hear.

The ship I boarded had been a German commercial boat that was commandeered in South America and revamped. It carried 300 or 400 soldiers. The trip took four days. We traveled in a convoy to LeHavre. From there we went to Camp Lucky Strike, an all-artillery camp, They sent us to a place in France that had, until recently, been occupied by the Germans. From France we went into northern Germany and we started seeing the damage from battles and bombs. Whole areas were flattened. But the fighting was over when we arrived.

Our unit, the 763rd Field Artillery, had four 155's. We'd fire our guns—they could hit targets a mile away-over French and Germans who were working to rebuild bridges. We went from place to place, following the German Army as they retreated back into Germany. It seemed to us that the German people we met were glad that the war was about to end. relieved.

you might say. We took many prisoners.

Eventually, we were assigned to a section of Bavaria. When I was in Nuremberg, I was promoted from staff sergeant to 2nd Lieutenant Battery Motor Officer with the Third Army. I dealt with many German civilians. Since I'd been raised speaking German, I could communicate well with them. It was strange to visit the land where my grandparents had been born as a member of the occupying army.

One day some Germans came to ask if they could hunt deer. "With what?" we asked. "We have hunting rifles," they told us. Colonel Ernie Studding, a captain, a driver, and I went with them to a hunting cabin and found seventeen guns. We brought them back—no Germans were allowed to have firearms of any kind in those days. I took a shine to one of those guns. I polished it and kept it clean, hoping that I'd be able to bring it home with me-but that didn't happen.

I remember Norm writing to tell me that it bothered him how some of our soldiers would go into the Germans' homes and take what they wanted. Then they'd go to the next home, see something better, smash what they'd stolen, and leave with other things. It bothered him terribly.

The Army tried to give us good meals for Christmas and holidays, but Army rations weren't always good. We were so hungry for fresh vegetables that we asked German farmers for corn. One told me, "Germans only feed corn to chickens." I still laugh at that. When I visited the area where my grandfather had been born, I looked up my relatives—but I never managed to track any down, and I never did find out what happened to them during the war. In the late 1930s, our Pastor Thieme had left Chelsea and returned to Germany when he was told to quit preaching German in church. He didn't want to preach in English, so he left us. I looked for him, too, but I didn't find him.

The war with Japan ended on August 15, 1945, two days before our daughter was born. It took the Army two weeks to tell Norm that he had a daughter. At that time, I'd been sent to the Riviera for R&R. When they could, the Army would fly officers down to the beaches for breaks. That was some eyeopening trip! GI's didn't mind seeing the French women sunbathing. But when I finally heard the news from Lorena . about our daughter, that's when I tried to get home.

Eventually, my unit was sent back to the States. We left Germany in February 1946. We boarded an aircraft carrier, and you can't imagine how happy we were to be heading home! The ship ran into a bad storm, and the crossing took us ten days. The storms drove us around the Azores and ruined our flight deck.

When I think of the war. I remember how much I wanted to get home alive. And I think of all the destruction. I heard Hitler speaking on German radios, and I heard Roosevelt speaking on German radios. I feel good that I did my service. I have no regrets at all. But the best moment of the war came when I heard that the war was over. And the second best was when I tiptoed into Lorena's bedroom and saw my daughter for the first time. She was sleeping. Peacefully.

Men go to war to defend their country and the people they love.

Jackson Road Cruise II already in the works

By Sean Dalton

Staff Writers

Work is already underway for next year's
Jackson Road Cruise after the event succeeded last month despite less than ideal weather and a short planning window.

The cruise had been in the planning phase for only four months prior to the event on May 16. Scio Township officials and members of the business community decided to build the cruise around a mini-car show that Varsity Ford has every spring.

"Varsity had the most cars, but this is the second show for them," Township Manager Darrel Fecho said. "They had been planning their event on (May 16) and we kind of piggy-backed on them in terms of organizing it."

Fecho said that affiliations between Varsity and the Michigan Hotrod Association and the Michigan Cruiser's Association were helpful for the Jackson Road Cruise Committee as well.

The committee met late last month to begin planning what to do differently and what needed more focus for next year's cruise.

"There was a lot of emphasis on getting the cars out there, but I think we need more public awareness," Fecho said. He said the committee had some difficulty judging how their efforts translated into results, due to the weather.

"It's very difficult to say because it did pick up nicely after the sun came out after the horrible situation in the morning," Fecho said. "But as soon as the sun came out everything picked up."

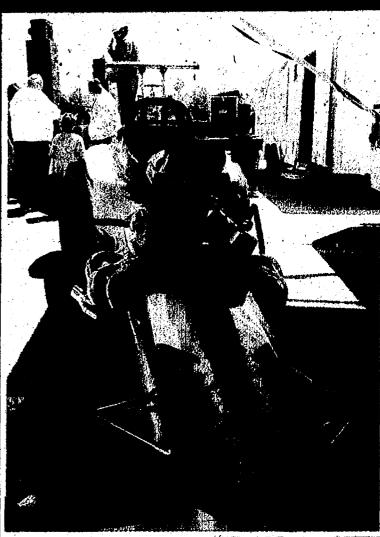

Estimates place the number of c at 1,000 or so despite many of the motorcyclists skipping the cruise for obvious

The biggest crowds built up at Varsity. and Meijer's. Crowds at the other dealerships and businesses could have been bigger, but everyone is still interested in sponsoring the event next year, including Ann Arbor Automotive owner Doug Fox.

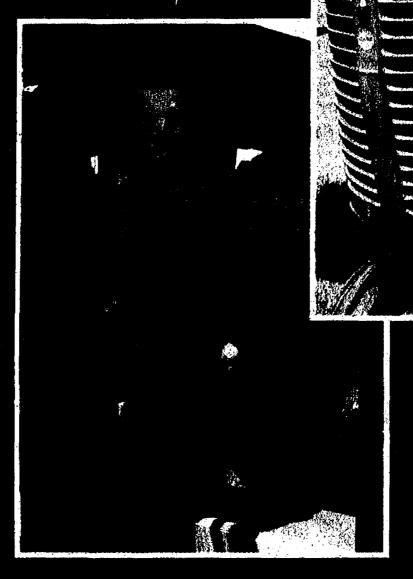

Fox said he took a wait and see approach to the cruise and was not disappointed.

"You always wonder when you try something new for the first time whether it's going to be a success or a flop, and I would say it certainly exceeded my expectations for year one," he said.
